(1) With the wisdom of 3½ years, Peter Keehn, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Keehn, explains the meaning of today's celebration to his baby sister, Gretchen, who is all eyes for the pretty colored firecrackers. (2) "Hurry and clear away the dishes, girls," says John Gorman Jr. to these youthful picknickers, as they eagerly await nightfall and their promised fireworks display. (3) But Jane Bailey (center) and Patricia Jane Hinkle are too interested in a red, white and blue Roman candle to pay attention to this typical masculine order. (4) Pinwheels are Joseph Lawson's first choice in fireworks. Charlene Geisel, at the age of 5 years, prefers to look on while the grownups take charge of the gay display. Hints on Child Management Told in New Government Book

By RUTH FINNEY Times Special Writer

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A Government best-seller, already vying in popularity with "Gone With the Wind," went on sale today in new and up-to-date form.

"Child Management," published by the Children's Bureau of the Labor Department for the guidance of parents. Since it was first issued 12 years ago more than a million copies have been distributed. But in those 12 years many changes have taken place in accepted theories of child training.

"It is only after a period of years that we are beginning to get the true perspective on the whole subject of child management," says Dr. D. A. Thom, director of the Habit Clinic for Child Guidance of Boston, Mich.

For today's parents and today's children the following precepts are among those offered in the 107-page book:

"Adults must beware of the danger of checking normal responses to fundamental impulses in order to gain obedience to some unimportant demand of their own."

"Give a few well-thought-out commands and see that they are fulfilled. Avoid overcorrection and an autocratic manner."

"The child who shows his resentment toward life by a temper tantrum that annoys, disrupts and humiliates the family is much better off emotionally than the child who resorts to fantasies in which revenge is obtained by the utmost limit in the land of unreality."

"There is no greater handicap with which a child has to contend than that of having parents who refuse to allow him the privilege of growing up and who deny him the opportunity of developing his personality."

"Avoid Excessive Warnings. Much of the fear that we find in adult life is brought about by incessant warnings to the child of danger in every situation."

"Always avoid bribing and do not make promises which you know you cannot or do not intend to keep."

"Threatening a child is a common method of setting out to obtain control. It is, however, useless and inexcusable."

"Parental ambitions are sometimes the shoal upon which many children are wrecked. Parents must keep in mind that the child has other functions in life than to satisfy parental hopes and ambitions."

"If for some reason the child cannot or will not eat the meal before him, do not force him or talk the matter over before him. One of the most common mistakes the mother makes is brought about by her preconceived notion that every child requires the same amount of food and that every child must necessarily eat every meal."

"Do not tell the child fanciful tales about the stork and the doctor's bag when the new baby arrives; this will soon become an insult to his intelligence."

"Inculcate Truth. There is no better, more logical, nor surer way of developing the habit of truth in the child than by permitting him to live in an environment where he may have truth as an example to imitate."

"The child must learn from actual experience that conduct which regards the right and property of others invariably works out to his disadvantage."

As to modern youth, determined to take the reins in its own hands at an early age, the book advises that "the child who has been allowed to develop in his preadolescent years, self-confidence, assurance and independence will be less likely to abuse the privileges and opportunities that come with adolescence when he suddenly awakens to the fact that much of his conduct, whether it be good or bad, is necessarily based on his own decisions."

The price of the book is 10 cents. It is sold by the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

Local People Spend Holiday in New York

By HELEN WORDEN Times Special Writer

NEW YORK, July 5.—Although some Indianapolis people take a trek to the country over the Fourth, others are lured by the metropolis.

Among New York visitors are Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Sayles, 4845 Kessler Blvd., who are spending a few days in New York at the Barbizon Plaza.

The trip, according to Mrs. Sayles, is a combination of business and pleasure. After their holiday, they are to drive to Boston, Toronto and Quebec before returning home. Mrs. Sayles' sister, Miss Eleanor Hemmick, Jeffersonville, is accompanying them.

Douglas Visits Capital. Mrs. Lewis E. Douglas and her daughter, Joan, 5608 N. Delaware St., who left Sunday for Washington before returning home, also spent the past week at the Barbizon Plaza. Mr. Douglas joined them Saturday.

Included on their trip was a shopping tour, the show "Babes in Arms" and a visit to Radio City. They drove east by way of Niagara Falls and Albany.

State Senator and Mrs. Jacob Weiss, 5818 Central Ave., arrived in New York June 27, accompanied by their two children, Barbara Ann and Richard. They have been staying at the Hotel Roosevelt.

After driving their son and daughter to Camp Cejwin at Port Jervis, N. Y., where they are to stay for July and August, the Senator and his wife are to spend the next 10 days in the Catskill Mountains.

Women Arrange Festivities for Columbia Club

Indianapolis women have been named to the committee in charge of ladies' entertainment for the Columbia Club annual mid-summer outing and golf tournament at the Ulen Country Club, Lebanon, Wednesday.

They are Mesdames Wallace O. Lee, A. J. Callaway, Joseph H. Lang, William F. Sandmann, C. E. White, Sam W. Simpson, B. B. Pettijohn, Thomas W. Jackson, John K. Ruckelshaus and C. L. Harrod.

Lebanon members include Mesdames Fred Donaldson, H. W. C. Foodick, Ray Lester Jones, Roy Metzger, E. C. Pulliam, Eliza O. Rogers and David W. Trier.

Members of the Ulen Club, many of whom are members of the Columbia Club, are to act as a reception committee, and the entire club facilities are to be turned over to the Columbia Club party for the day.

A buffet luncheon is to be served at noon and golf is to follow for men and bridge for women.

Woodstock Club Winner Named

Mrs. John B. Stokley recently was named winner of the annual spring handicap at the Woodstock Club after several weeks of play.

Mrs. Charles Greenhouse was runner-up and the second flight was won by Mrs. Noble Dean with Mrs. Orland Church runner-up.

The next two-ball foursome is to be played on July 18. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weiss and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Woolf are to give a tea at the Woolf home in Golden Hill following the foursome.

Bride in Church

Mrs. Donald F. Berry was Miss Mildred Helen Caylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Caylor, before her marriage June 27 in the East 10th Street Methodist Church.

Many Spend Holiday at Lake Homes

Indianapolis Persons Are Visitors for Fourth at Maxinkuckee.

By MARGARET B. JAMESON Times Special Writer

LAKE MAXINKUCKEE, July 5.—Everyone had company over the Fourth.

Miss Mary Burch Ingraham entertained with a house party at the Charles Coffin cottage. Her guests were Miss Irving Moxley, Miss Betsy Home and Ben Rubush, Barney Hollett, Robert Smith and George Home Jr.

Edward Mayer was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey Bradley. Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Johnson and Miss Mary Johnson visited at the Fred Holiday house.

Mr. and Mrs. George Home spent the Fourth at Maxinkuckee Inn. Mrs. Post Milliken was also a guest at the inn.

City Club Entertained

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walker Winslow and Miss Eleanor Winslow was Clyde Sandburg, Indianapolis. Mrs. Winslow entertained the Government Science Club from Indianapolis Wednesday with a luncheon at the Maxinkuckee Inn, followed by motor boating and tea at the Winslow cottage.

Mrs. Winslow is to entertain her chapter of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority the second week in July.

Lorenz O. Schmidt spent the week-end at the Peckham cottage. Miss Anne Peckham has returned to New York after a visit with her grandmother.

Summer School Dance Held

The first summer school dance was held on Wednesday night. Among Indianapolis girls present were Misses Mary Jo Albright, Harriet Patterson, Patricia Eaglesfield, Susanah Jameson, Margaret Jameson, Patty Jameson, Jeanette Tarkington, Jane Axtel, Nancy Campbell, Marjorie Jean Mueller, Rosalie Holman and Nancy Goodrich.

Gen. and Mrs. Gignilat received, assisted by officers of the first company and their partners.

Racers Listed

Among the "E" boat racers yesterday were Henry Ellis, who had Garvin Bastian on his crew, and Gideon Blain, Fred Halliday, and Stephen Hord.

Mr. Hord's boat "Vigo" is the last of a line of "Vigos" that have sailed on Maxinkuckee Lake for many years. Mrs. Hord is considered the best of the women sailors, and is always aboard when the "Vigo" sails.

Pierce Ward sailed an "E" boat with Pierce Ward Jr. as crew. John and Freddie Holliday sailed on the "E" boat, "Ruth H" with their father.

Harvey Bradley sailed with his father, C. Harvey Bradley, in the "Stymie," a Marconi rig.

Miss Eleanor Winslow was a contender in the Marconi class race. She and her father, Walker Winslow, sail every fair day. Miss Winslow has a winner's cup to prove her prowess.

Veteran sailors are Blythe and Tom Hendricks. Probably no one has sailed as many hours on the lake as these two brothers, who are popular choices for crew members in every race.

Mrs. Leland Rinker Heads Dorcas Club

Mrs. Leland Rinker was elected president of the Dorcas Club at a luncheon recently in the home of Mrs. Floyd Hassler, 121 Buckingham Dr.

Other officers are: Mrs. Lee McDermid, vice president, and Mrs. Floyd Hassler, secretary-treasurer.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. When a flag is displayed vertically against a wall, in which corner should the blue field of stars be?

2. When a flag is displayed on a speaker's platform, where should it be placed?

3. Should a flag be used to drape over a speaker's desk?

4. If a flag is to be displayed at half-mast, is it necessary to raise it first to the peak?

5. When a flag is too soiled or old for use, how should it be destroyed?

What would you do if—
You were in a theater where the Star Spangled Banner was played as a finale?
(a) Sit through it?
(b) Rise and quietly leave the theater if you are in a hurry?
(c) Stand until the last bar is played?

Answers
1. To the observer's left.
2. Flat above and behind the speaker, or flown from a staff at the speaker's right.
3. Yes, for an instant, and then lower it to half-mast.
4. Buy burning.
5. Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(c).
