HOUSE DRIVE TO BUY RESERVE BANKS GAINS

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 12.—More than 160 of the 327 Democratic House members, it was announced today, have signed in support of a far-reaching bill providing for Government ownership and operation of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks.

The drive to revise the Federal Reserve System, led by Rep. Patman (D. Tex.), currency expansionist, was admittedly developing such proportions that House action on the legislation may be forced this session if adjournment is delayed.

Members from more than 30 states have organized a steering committee to push the bill. The measure provides for Government purchase of the $132,000,000 worth of stock of the 637 member banks of the Federal Reserve Bank system of the Federal Reserve Bank deposit privileges to all 14,000 banks now members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

'NEW DEAL' FOR PEACE IS URGED

Welles Outlines 4 Steps by Which Europe Might Escape War.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles today called upon European statesmen to give the Old World a new deal politically and economically and thus avert the impending desolation of war.

In one of the most forthright American diplomatic statements since the signing of the Versailles Treaty Mr. Welles laid most of the blame for present conditions in Europe upon the vengeful provisions of that treaty, and called for a change in both policies and practice in order that the present generation in Europe and the rest of the world may live in peace.

Mr. Welles laid down a four-point program which he said the nations of the world must agree upon if they desire to live at peace with each other. These points are:

1. Revitalization of international morality; restoration of the sanctity of the pledged word given between nations; reaffirmation of the principles of international law, "now regarded more in the breach than in the observance."
2. Abolition or reduction of artificial trade barriers.
3. Limitation and eventual reduction of armaments.
4. Frequent conferences between representatives of governments, free intercourse between their peoples and free exchange of views and ideas.

Hits Intervention
Without naming names he condemned by inference Germany, Italy, Soviet Russia and France for intervention, directly or indirectly, in the Spanish civil war. He praised the efforts of the British Government to make effective the international Nonintervention Pact. The desire of other nations to take a hand in Spain's civil war, Mr. Welles declared, constitutes today the greatest danger to the peace of the world.

But others, refusing to view themselves as pioneers, are simply disillusioned. Once they hoped for immediate granting of $200-a-month pensions. Now they believe failure has come. They listened to Dr. Townsend more as curiosity seekers than as believers.

RESERVE OFFICERS END FORT TRAINING

A tank driving demonstration today was to complete a 14-day training period for nearly 100 Reserve officers at the Citizens Military Training Camp at Ft. Harrison.

Physical examinations for the incoming reserve officers from northern Indiana also were to be conducted today.

James W. Frankford, Clay, W. Va., won the pistol firing contest Saturday. Elmer F. Evans of Lexington, Ky., was second high. Both men are members of H. Company, Col. Allen R. Eliot, of Culver Military Academy, and 58 reserve officers are to relieve Col. W. C. Smith and the present regiment of officers at Ft. Harrison Wednesday. The majority of the new officers are from Indiana.

Dwindled Band of Faithful Rally to Pension Plan Leader

Racket of Youngsters and Downpour of Rain at Picnic Handicap Exhortations.

A YEAR ago, 25,000 eager Townsend Old-Age Pension plan followers packed the State Fair Grounds here and cheered to a hysterical echo their leader, then a nightmare to politicians facing a general election.

Yesterday, Dr. Francis E. Townsend returned to Indianapolis election, and exhorted a crowd one-tenth that size to have faith in the plan.

Struggling to hold together his following that is torn by factional strife, Dr. Townsend forecast passage of his plan by the next Congress.

He spoke at an all-day picnic in Broad Ripple Park. From early morning, about 7 a. m., his followers began to gather. They came from all parts of Indiana.

To hundreds who gathered yesterday, the plan is far from dead. Some said they still have faith in the plan and its immediate passage. Some said it was as strong as ever.

But many of the old folks who saw their dreams of $200-a-month pensions vanish in the smoke of Congressional investigations and political maneuvering they could not understand, said yesterday they were disillusioned.

SOME of them have come to regard themselves as pioneers, laying a foundation for a new social justice. These believe there is no hope for passage within their lifetimes. But "the youngsters will take it up," said one elderly man who came all the way from Vincennes to hear his leader speak. "They'll have to. And some day it will pass."

He said he had five sons, and although now only two of them believed in the plan, the others would ultimately see its worth. An elderly woman, who rode the traction from Kokomo, said, "It must pass. It cannot be destroyed."

But others, refusing to view themselves as pioneers, are simply disillusioned. Once they hoped for immediate granting of $200-a-month pensions. Now they believe failure has come. They listened to Dr. Townsend more as curiosity seekers than as believers.

ONE old man, who said Dr. Townsend had more followers than any political leader he had seen in more than 75 years, declared that the "money interests" had killed the plan.

"The poor folks never can lick Wall Street," he said. "It didn't bother him much, though; he said he had saved when he was young and didn't need a pension."

Dr. Townsend's speech was scheduled for 2:30 p. m. At 2:10, he began to speak. Across the midway, the roller coaster clattered along, and close by children rode the scenic railway and young people roller skated on the rink. High above the old folks' camp meeting, an acrobat gyrated.

Dr. Townsend began to speak. His audience, leaned forward, listened intently.

CROP OUTLOOK 'GOOD' DESPITE RUST IN WHEAT

Most Yields Above Normal, But Season Is Late, Abbott Reports.

situation made by Mr. Abbott include: New seedlings of alfalfa, red clover and sweet clover are doing exceptionally well.

Yield of oats is expected to be "good." A normal yield of the light seedlings of oats made as an earth crop with alfalfa and clover, also is predicted.

Barring an early frost the corn crop will be good. Weather conditions have been favorable.

Apples and small fruit prospects are the best in several years.

Tomatoes Above Normal

Weight loss in wheat due to rust has amounted to between 15 and 20 per cent, Mr. Abbott said, and if the rust had not developed, the wheat crop would have been far above normal.

Although tomatoes are above normal, he said the market price of commercial vegetables fluctuates so much faster than price of farm crops that even the favorable weather, responsible for the good crop, will not necessarily mean a marked increase in the income from commercial vegetable growers.

An unusually good crop tends to decrease the general wholesale price level, Mr. Abbott said. Cabbage is wholesaling for as little as 35 cents a bushel, while last year at this time growers were receiving as much as $1.25, it was pointed out.

Income from bean sales barely will cover harvest costs, Mr. Abbott added.

Peaches Encouraging

Considering that the setbacks to peach trees during the cold winter kills of 1935 and 1936, the yield this year will be remarkably good, he said.

The tomato and vegetable harvest is expected to get under way in the next few days. The crop has such a favorable outlook that Mr. Abbott said he would not be surprised to see canning factories begin production two weeks earlier than usual this summer. He said that some of the local canneries probably would begin operations the last of this month.

Enlarging on the oats crop forecast, Mr. Abbott said that the yield from this grain would be as high as 50 bushels an acre.

The wheat rust, described as of two kinds, red and black, Mr. Abbott said, rust appears in small amounts every year, but the present attack from the black stem variety is the first in five years. He held weather conditions responsible.

Mr. Abbott said he had been informed by Purdue University experts that the black rust has been carried here from great distances by the wind. Some has come from as far as Texas, he said.

Evidence of black rust has been noted in all sections of the country. The rust saps the life of the wheat plant, shriveling the grain, Mr. Abbott explained.

The rust began developing in the middle of June.

30 Million Dollar State Wheat Crop Predicted

Despite a 10,000,000-bushel loss due to red rust, the Indiana wheat crop is expected to be 30,000,000 bushels this year.

An approximate value of $30,000,000 is forecast for Hoosier farmers by Everett E. Allison, Indianapolis Board of Trade president.

Original estimates of 40,000,000 bushels were reduced after red rust hit the northern part of the state, he said.

Mr. Allison pointed out that the five-year average crop is 28,000,000 bushels.

By United Press
NEW YORK, July 12.—Announcement was made today of the appointment of Joseph L. Jones as United Press general foreign manager.

TAX OFFICIALS FIND PFISTER CONFUSING

Paul A. Pfister, assistant U. S. District Attorney, is considering changing his handwriting before he begins paying taxes twice this year. The dilemma began last year when the Marion County Treasurer's office, unable to decipher his spelling of a last name, placed him in the "Y" list which would make him "Mr. Yister."

"I paid taxes as 'Pfister' but I was 'Yister' to them and all because in writing I ran the 'p' and 't' together, which maybe to some would look like a 'y,'" he added.

Times Special
BEDFORD, Ind., July 12.—A $50,000 damage suit, growing out of the traffic crash in which Miles Standish, well-known golfer, was killed recently, was on file in Circuit Court here today.

The action was brought by Claude Green against Lee Allen, Bedford, and the Indiana Public Service Co. Mr. Green was riding on a truck driven by Mr. Allen when it crashed into the car of Mr. Standish, who was an employee of the Public Service Co. The suit charged that both drivers were negligent. The plaintiff charged he was permanently injured in the accident.

U. S. AID REQUESTED FOR JEWS IN POLAND

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 12.—A delegation representing Jewish organizations in the United States, headed by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, called upon Secretary of State Hull today with a request that the United States use its good offices to assist Jewish minorities in Europe and Palestine. Rabbi Wise indicated the delegation discussed Jewish problems in Poland more than they did the proposed Secession of Palestine into three parts by the British Government.

He said he had asked Mr. Hull to have the United States intercede by the use of its good offices "to bring about the restoration to Jews in Poland of their full and equal rights as citizens, guarantee them under the minorities treaties and the Polish Constitution."
