U. S. SPENDING REPORT ISSUED

Expenditures Since 1930
Twice Federal Income,
League Aid Says.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The National Economy League estimated today that the Federal Government must reduce expenditures by $1,600,000,000 to $3,200,000,000 per year before it can balance the budget and start reducing the national debt.

John C. Gebhart, league director, made public a survey of Federal finances covering what he described as the "seven lean years" of deficits. He said that if the contingent guaranteed debt of $4,718,000,000 were added to the direct public debt of $36,425,000,000 on June 30, the national indebtedness would be found to have reached the staggering total of $41,143,000,000.

The survey claimed that since Dec. 31, 1930, when the national debt stood at $16,026,000,000, Treasury receipts have totaled $23,602,000,000 while expenditures amounted to $45,254,000,000.

"During that period," Mr. Gebhart said, "we have spent about two dollars for every dollar taken in. We have increased the public debt until it is now two and a quarter times as large as it was in 1930; it is $10,000,000,000 higher than the peak of the war debt."

He estimated that if receipts are as high this year as Treasury officials predict they will still fail to cover expenditures by $1,600,000,000 and that if they prove to be no higher than last year's they will still lack $3,200,000,000 of expenditures.

SISSLE TO BE GUEST

Noble Sissle, former Indianapolis resident and well-known orchestra leader, is to be the guest of honor at a meeting of the Tilman H. Harpole post, American Legion, at 8 p. m. tonight at 2523 Northwestern Ave.

A giant and midget of the Municipal Airport are shown above. The large ship is a twin-motored, 21-passenger plane which the American Airlines, Inc., has put into regular service from Chicago to Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Washington.

The "little fellow," which has a 36-foot wing spread, is a low-wing Aeronca owned by W. H. Arthur, Indianapolis, who is beside it.

City and State officials and Indianapolis newspapermen were guests of American Airlines Saturday when the new giant airliner was flown over the city. Ralph Radcliff is city sales manager of the airline.

I. U. OFFICIALS AND STUDENTS TO CONFER

Discussions on Courses Are To Be Held Here.

Marion County students who contemplate entering Indiana University next month are to have opportunity to confer with university officials this week.

Beginning today, conferences are to be held in the I. U. Extension Center Building, 122 E. Michigan St., from 10 a. m. until noon and from 1:30 to 5 p. m.

The officials are to discuss courses, employment possibilities, co-operative living projects, two-year courses, and other university subjects. Prof. R. E. Cavanagh, extension division director, and assistants are to be present daily to explain the extension work.

YOUTH OFFICE HELPS 7000 YOUNG PEOPLE

Nearly 7000 young men and women were served by the junior placement division of the National Youth Administration in the Indiana State Employment Service office during the year ending May 31.

Of 6988 individuals served, 4641 were new applicants. Jobs were found for 1596 youths. Vocational guidance was given all applicants, and more than 11,000 interviews were conducted.

C. M. T. C. ENROLLS NEW CADET FORCES

Second Training Period Is To Open at Fort Tomorrow.

First arrivals for the summer's second Citizens Military Training Camp reported at Ft. Benjamin Harrison today.

Physical examinations were to be held this afternoon, and enrollment is to be completed tomorrow. The group is to be organized into eight rifle companies, one machine gun company and a band, according to Col. George V. Strong, camp commander.

TREATED FOR BURNS

Arthur O'Neil, 40, of 538 Vinton St., was recovering in his home today from burns received when a short at his home caught fire and he rushed into the flames to save a truck. He was treated at City Hospital.
