

August Days Foreshadow Holiday End

Vacationers at Lake Hurry to Do Things Planned Early in Season.

By MARGARET B. JAMESON

LAKE MAKINOUKEE, Aug. 10.—August days at a summer resort bring realization of a fleeting season and vacationists try to "get around" to doing things they planned in June.

Invitations to friends, casually made during the spring uplift, must be made good. Reading of books stored for summer leisure or completion of the knitting intended for early fall wear head many August vacationists try to "get around" to doing things they planned in June.

Culver has been gay for the tennis players in the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association met this week. Miss Jane Adams entertained at dinner Thursday night and the Misses Mary and Elizabeth Crawford had a dinner party on Wednesday night before the Culver Military Academy dance.

Swim at Night

Night swimming parties have kept the "oldsters" warm and will early hours along the lake's east side where groups of young people indulge in what they call "chocolate dips."

Mrs. Alex Vonnegut was here last week visiting Mrs. Clemens Vonnegut and Mrs. Ervin Vonnegut. Mrs. Carl Vonnegut and her two children are with Mrs. Ervin Vonnegut, and Messrs. Alex, Ervin and Carl Vonnegut arrived for the weekend.

Miss Laura Miller is continuing her visit at the Vonnegut cottage and Mr. and Mrs. John Ray Nunn spent Sunday there. Another guest of Mrs. Ervin Vonnegut was Mrs. William G. Sparks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Winslow and Miss Eleanor Winslow are in Leland, Mich., for a short visit. They are to return in time to go to Lake Geneva for the Inland Regatta next week.

Plan to See Races

Clayton Mogg, Jack Wood and John Brandon are also to go to the lake for the Inland Regatta.

Miss Emily Haele is visiting Mrs. Elsa Jensen. She attended the Culver Military dance Wednesday night. Miss Jane Cox, Indianapolis, also was a guest at the dance. She is visiting Mrs. Guy Wainwright.

Mr. and Mrs. George Home, Miss Betty Home, George Home Jr. and Miss Marjorie Home are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dunn.

Miss Florence Jones and Miss Beatrice Geddes are spending a week with Mr. Leo Baker. Miss Geddes is to remain for two weeks.

Mrs. Fletcher Entertainers Mrs. Jesse Fletcher entertained Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hitz and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wolff at dinner on Thursday night and accompanied them to Port Lake, Mich., on Friday to visit Mr. and Mrs. William Higgins. She is to return to Culver tomorrow to remain until the first of September. Miss Dorothy Wegs spent the week-end at the Lorenz Schmidt cottage.

Miss Eleanor Cross, New York, is to arrive tomorrow to visit Miss Patty Jameson.

Visiting Mrs. John J. Brandon are her father, George C. Hitt, and Miss Catharine Barnett, Indianapolis. Mrs. Brandon intends to stay in her cottage until Thanksgiving. John J. Brandon Jr. is to remain until he returns to DePaul for his senior year. Miss Barbara Brandon is to arrive soon from Chicago to spend the remainder of her vacation with her mother.

Olive Hoezel Directs Plans for Club Dance

Miss Olive Hoezel is chairman of the arrangements committee for the Peter Pan Saddle Club sport dance to be held Friday night in the Falls City Casino.

She is to be assisted by Miss LaVon Brown, Delbert Enright and Robert Jones. Dancing is to begin at 9 p. m. and last until 1 p. m. Hal Bailey and his orchestra are to play and Miss Betty Cook is to sing.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage on answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. What is the usual tip for the bell boy who brings a telegram or a package to one's hotel room?
2. May travelers in Mexico take pictures for pleasure without getting into difficulty with the Government?
3. Is it essential that one be vaccinated before traveling in Mexico?
4. On board ship, to whom should a passenger state his preference as to where he would like to sit in the dining room?
5. For a short European trip is it advisable to take a trunk?

What would you do if—
If you had been ill on a passenger plane and the stewardess had been helpful?
A. Give her a tip on reaching your destination?
B. Consider that her kindness was part of her job, and thank her for it?
C. Send her a small gift through the mail with a few words of appreciation for her kindness?

Answers

1. Ten cents.
 2. Yes, if they are developed before leaving the country.
 3. Yes. Vaccination is required by the Government.
 4. Dining room steward.
 5. No. Hand luggage is more practical.
- Best "What Would You Do?" solution: B or C. It is not customary to tip airplane hostesses.

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

Help to Arrange Club's Magic Show

Mrs. Lee Fox (left), Mrs. C. Norman Green (center) and Mrs. Buford Cadle are members of the arrangements committee of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club in charge of the appearance of George Purves, magician, at the William H. Block Co. Auditorium this morning. Proceeds are to go to the sorority's settlement school at Gatlinburg, Tenn. Mrs. Robert S. Wild is general chairman.

Four Couples in City Set Nuptial Rites on Sept. 3

Four Indianapolis couples whose engagements were announced recently have chosen Sept. 3 for their nuptials.

Mrs. Mollie Lanham has announced the engagement of her daughter, Grace, to Robert Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Powell. The ceremony is to be read in the East Park Methodist Church.

On the same day Miss Martha Louise Heller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Merwin Heller, is to become the bride of Robert A. Riggs in the Heller home, 1423 Pleasant St. Mr. Riggs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Riggs, 35 Whittier Place.

Another wedding set for the third is that of Miss Elva Stokes to C. Milton Traut. The wedding will take place in the Blaine Avenue Methodist church. Miss Stokes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Stokes, 1310 Reiser St., and Mr. Traut is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Traut, 5210 E. 10th St.

Vows are to be exchanged by Miss Minnie Kiess and Raymond Underwood on the same day. Miss Kiess is the daughter of Mrs. Olive Kiess and Mr. Underwood's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Underwood.

Bouldin-Johnson Ceremony Read

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Mrs. Bouldin was formerly Miss Edna Beeble Johnson. The ceremony was read in the presence of a few friends and the immediate families by the Rev. E. G. Boch at the North Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Bouldin are on a trip to Chicago, Texas and Mexico following their marriage Sunday in the North Methodist Church.

Home Life Too Serious? Try Some Nonsense and Laughter

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

In spite of all the things there are today, and the range of entertainment for children, I believe our young folk still are starved for laughter.

Even play has become a serious affair. Construction toys and competitive games have taken the edge off fun to a large extent. We have gone in for mental and muscular development in a large way and capitalized interest with a vengeance. The jolly little god of nonsense lies neglected in his corner.

The "play attitude" should be used more as an agent in rounding out children than it is, because it sweetens dispositions, reduces strain and colors discipline in a rosy light. Children and adults are alike in that they will accept suggestion and correction more profitably if the proposition is coated with the sugar of nonsense.

Lay Dignity Aside

The mother who feels that her household is lagging and going stale with the sameness of the days might find a great help if she can whip up her imagination a little. She will have to lay her dignity aside, of course, and enter into the spirit of the thing as wholeheartedly as the children themselves.

There was the mother, for instance, who astonished the children one glum day by tying a big red bow on Towser's tail. The screaming and giggling that followed last a trail of good humor that lasted for hours.

Another time she pinned two strips of paper across her dress. "What's that for, Mom?" asked Roger. "I'm cross," said she. "Cross?" they weren't satisfied. "Yes, I'm cross. I burnt the beans."

Another yell of delight. Mother could joke about herself. When things go wrong, try the little shock of fun. There is no law against the family coming in and seeing lunch set on the mantelpiece, for instance.

"What's the big idea?" demands one of them.

"Well, I thought everybody was looking down his nose at breakfast today," answered the oracle, "so I thought I'd fix it so you'd all have to look up."

Practical joking is out. While a child should learn to take it, still it leaves a little hurt, and besides the habit may grow. Then it ceases to be funny. A joke on oneself, or a general joke for everybody, is better.

Give me that house that rings with laughter, with little snatches of songs and good humor.

Fun does not create moroses; it has exactly the opposite effect. The greater the man, the greater his capacity for humor. It is capital for entertainers because people are so hungry for it.

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

Mr. Charles B. Clark is to entertain from 3 to 5 p. m. tomorrow for her house guest, Mrs. O. O. Corvin, La Feria, Tex.

Mrs. Eleanor Kalb Golay, 43 W. Fall Creek Blvd., has gone to Grand Rapids, Mich., to spend the month with her son, Armand L. Golay.

Mrs. Walter I. Hess, 3025 N. Meridian St., is staying at the St. Regis Hotel, New York.

Miss Ada Peirce, 3530 Beechwood Ave., is at the Barbizon Plaza, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Lemons are vacationing at Lake Wawasee. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kimber have left for Miami, Fla., and Havana, Cuba.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Wood and their daughter, Mrs. Howard M. Gay, and Mr. Gay have left on a motor trip to California. They expect to return sometime in September.

Mrs. William Z. Burns, Dallas, Tex., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burke G. Slaymaker.

Miss Kathryn E. Neat, Miss Edith L. Howard and Mrs. George Howard have left for a two weeks' trip to the Great Lakes and Canada.

Edward James, 6445 Pleasant Run Blvd., who sailed recently from New York on the S. S. Volendam, arrived yesterday in Plymouth, England. He is to return Oct. 1 after a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Frank F. Fitch, 2341 N. Talbot St., is visiting in Toledo, O.

Local Youth Home From Trip Abroad

Robert F. Daggett Jr. Spent 13 Months On 'Cycle Tour.

By MARJORIE BINFORD WOODS

Unpacking the accumulation of a year's foreign travel is harder work than bicycling over Europe. So says Robert Frost Daggett Jr., who just returned from 13 months spent abroad.

"Each post card, timetable or bit of wearing apparel I pull out of my traveling bag reminds of some incident I want to relate to the family," he said. And the unpacking project stops for long intervals while his mother, Mrs. Robert Frost Daggett, and his brother, James, gather around and listen.

"Dad will come in for his share of the architectural highlights next week when I come down to earth and go to work in his office," explained Mr. Daggett, who reached Indianapolis yesterday with his mother and brother who met him when he landed in New York last week-end.

Mr. Daggett and a college chum, Adrian Daniel, Wilson, N. C., sailed for Europe on a cargo boat immediately after they were graduated from Yale University last year. The study of old world architecture was the principal aim of the trip and the pair came back with several sketch books crammed full of working material.

Trip Took 12 Days

The S. S. Queen Mary passed the boat three times on their 12 day trip over, but the boys made up for lost time when they finally landed on the continent, Mr. Daggett said.

Most of their traveling through the countryside was done on three-wheeled English bicycles which they purchased upon their arrival there. They averaged a distance of about 35 miles a day on their "bikes" and sometimes were so tired pedaling they had to stop and sleep in the fields along the road.

"We visited about 15 countries," he said, as he traced the itinerary on a European map. "And each was so colorful that it is difficult to do them justice with word pictures."

Lauds Swedish Buildings

"Architecturally speaking, Sweden is superb," he said. The scrupulously clean buildings and streets impressed the travelers with their picturesque quality. The co-operative housing plan which is in process there has encouraged apartment house construction to a great degree.

"Rents are ridiculously low," he said. And he explained that the Swedish landlord's govern rents by the number of children a renter has in the family. The larger the number the lower the rent, he said.

"Cairo, Egypt, is one city which has no labor disturbance," Mr. Daggett went on to say. Arabs do all the manual labor on construction and they look very amusing as they go about their work wearing native costumes of flowing robes and turbans on their heads. They appear to be very proficient, he said, even though they use only the crudest of tools. A yardstick bewilders the Arabs completely, however, according to Mr. Daggett, and building supervisors are forced to draw pictures of exactly what they want accomplished, with measurements indicated in actuality.

Women Are Barbers

Women barbers were an oddity they encountered in Finland.

"In fact there is such a shortage of men in this country that women have taken over the hair cutting, ditch digging and much of the manual labor," Mr. Daggett said. "We saw women wearing diamond earrings running street cars and acting as traffic officers."

The young men spent last Thanksgiving in Munich; Christmas in Budapest; New Year's in Venice and Easter in Florence. Most of the holidays they spent abroad, according to report, with only a flicker of hotel lights to indicate the passing of the old year and no festivities which occasioned the wearing of formal dinner clothes, which the young men dragged throughout Europe with them.

Mr. Daggett said, with gest-

tures which he confessed had become a habit. "You see, we were forced to resort to signs to make ourselves understood."

Sometimes it was a bit inconvenient, he admitted. When the travelers wanted to engage a sleeper on a night train they had to snore to get it . . . and when it came to ordering American ham and eggs in a Scandinavian restaurant they finally gave up and took "smorgasbord" instead.

It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land.

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with gestures which he confessed had become a habit. "You see, we were forced to resort to signs to make ourselves understood."

Sometimes it was a bit inconvenient, he admitted. When the travelers wanted to engage a sleeper on a night train they had to snore to get it . . . and when it came to ordering American ham and eggs in a Scandinavian restaurant they finally gave up and took "smorgasbord" instead.

It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land.

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with gestures which he confessed had become a habit. "You see, we were forced to resort to signs to make ourselves understood."

Sometimes it was a bit inconvenient, he admitted. When the travelers wanted to engage a sleeper on a night train they had to snore to get it . . . and when it came to ordering American ham and eggs in a Scandinavian restaurant they finally gave up and took "smorgasbord" instead.

It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land.

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with gestures which he confessed had become a habit. "You see, we were forced to resort to signs to make ourselves understood."

Sometimes it was a bit inconvenient, he admitted. When the travelers wanted to engage a sleeper on a night train they had to snore to get it . . . and when it came to ordering American ham and eggs in a Scandinavian restaurant they finally gave up and took "smorgasbord" instead.

It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land.

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with ges-

Julia Casserly Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Casserly announce the engagement of their daughter, Julia, to Vincent Fox, son of Mrs. Christina Fox. The wedding is to take place Aug. 21 in the St. Philip Neri Catholic Church.

EVENTS

SORORITIES

Beta, Delta Phi Beta. Wed. night. Mrs. Lavonne Stokes, 873 W. 32d St., hostess.

Alpha, Kappa Kappa Sigma. Wed. night. Antlers Hotel.

Alpha, Alpha Beta Phi. Wed. night. Mrs. Albert Hermann, hostess.

Indiana Gamma, Pi Beta Phi Alumnae. 8 p. m. Wed. Butler University Chapter house.

PROGRAMS

Indianapolis Zouave Drill Team. 8 p. m. today. Mrs. Ethel Rossinger, 828 Dawson St., hostess.

George R. Chapman, W. R. C. 1:30 p. m. today. Ft. Friendly.

Zerelda Wallace W. C. T. U. 1:30 p. m. today. Mrs. Amanda Spreen, 294 Garfield Dr., hostess.

and were only on three occasions when they were with American friends.

Easter in Florence was a memorable occasion, however, Mr. Daggett recalled. Religious ceremonies which lasted four days were spectacular in their pageantry. He described a superstitious rite which is performed annually in Italy. A pyramid card, strung with fireworks was placed in front of one of the cathedrals. A mechanical dove was then released from the interior of the building and it was so arranged that it should fly to the east and light the pin wheels and torches. Much cheering accompanied the ceremony on this occasion, because, Mr. Daggett explained, it was accomplished successfully and signified to the Italians that it would be a good year for crops.

The modern architecture of Palestine and Bethlehem was a surprise to Mr. Daggett, he said.

"It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land."

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with gestures which he confessed had become a habit. "You see, we were forced to resort to signs to make ourselves understood."

Sometimes it was a bit inconvenient, he admitted. When the travelers wanted to engage a sleeper on a night train they had to snore to get it . . . and when it came to ordering American ham and eggs in a Scandinavian restaurant they finally gave up and took "smorgasbord" instead.

It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land.

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with gestures which he confessed had become a habit. "You see, we were forced to resort to signs to make ourselves understood."

Sometimes it was a bit inconvenient, he admitted. When the travelers wanted to engage a sleeper on a night train they had to snore to get it . . . and when it came to ordering American ham and eggs in a Scandinavian restaurant they finally gave up and took "smorgasbord" instead.

It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land.

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with gestures which he confessed had become a habit. "You see, we were forced to resort to signs to make ourselves understood."

Sometimes it was a bit inconvenient, he admitted. When the travelers wanted to engage a sleeper on a night train they had to snore to get it . . . and when it came to ordering American ham and eggs in a Scandinavian restaurant they finally gave up and took "smorgasbord" instead.

It seemed a bit incongruous to see truly modernistic buildings situated in the Holy Land.

"We spoke no language except our own," Mr. Daggett said, with ges-

R. D. Simon, June Kempf Wed Today

Pair to Honeymoon in Mountains and at Virginia Beach.

Miss June Kempf and Robert D. Simon are to leave on a wedding trip to the Great Smoky Mountains and Virginia Beach, Va., following their marriage at 8 p. m. today in the Zion Evangelical Church.

Miss Kempf is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casper R. Kempf and Mr. Simon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Simon. The Rev. F. C. Wacknitz is to read the service before an altar banked with palms and ferns.

The bride, who is to enter on the arm of her father, is to wear white net over tulle cut on princess lines with a slight train. Her veil is to descend from a halo of flowers and she will carry bridal roses and swainsons in a full shower bouquet.

Carries Roses and Asters

Mrs. Jack Rosebrough, matron of honor, is to wear an apricot tulle gown and carry talisman roses and orchid asters. Miss Irma Anderson and Miss Margaret Bartholomew, bridesmaids, are to be attired in rose and aqua tulle gowns. Miss Anderson's bouquet is to be of Briarcliff roses and delphinium and Miss Bartholomew's of Premier roses and asters. Betty Rose Shoemaker is to be flower girl.

Jack Rosebrough is to be best man and Robert Freudenberg and Omer Miller are to usher.

Miss Phyllis Matern, organist, is to play bridal airs throughout the ceremony.

A reception at the home of the bride-to-be's parents is to follow the ceremony. After the wedding trip the couple is to be at home in Indianapolis.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding are to include Mr. and Mrs. Buren Shoemaker and sons, Billy and Bobby, and Mrs. Rosa Laugher, Zionsville; Mrs. Roger Hoover, Mishawaka; Mrs. Wilford Stevens, Cincinnati; and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Anderson, Ft. Wayne.

Guest Day and Picnic Planned By Archery Club

Mrs. Willis B. Lincoln is the arrangements chairman for the Indianapolis Archery Club guest day and picnic supper to be held Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Markun are to entertain at their country home, Markun Lodge, near Morristown. Field archery and fishing are on the afternoon program.

Herman Shields is club president, Harold Novross and Mr. Lincoln are the two vice presidents. More than 40 members and guests are expected to attend the outing.

H. P. WASSON & CO.

Shop Pleasantly in Our Air-Cooled Store

A. Seven eyelet tie in black, green, grey, and burgundy suede, 7.95.

B. Black suede, black patent trim, cutout vamp and clever bow, 6.95.

Lovely to Look at... Delightful to Wear!

Rosalind Aristocrats

6.95—7.95

For lovely styles that please your purse, slip into a pair of "Rosalind Aristocrat" new fall shoes. Every new fall trend in shoes interpreted in fine sueded, fabrics and combinations, with crisp detail—defiant handling of design, built to flatter your feet. Every size and width.

Wasson's for America's Smartest Footwear—Third Floor.

OPTIMISM PREVENTS LOSS

Contract Problem

(Solution in next issue)

South's contract is seven hearts. After the opening trump lead, can he safely ruff out clubs and discard his losing spades on the high diamonds in dummy?

♠ Q864
♥ 103
♦ AKQ86
♣ AK

(Blind) ♠ N E (Blind)
♠ S