THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE strawberry, under man's development, probably will be made to give up its seeds entirely. But in the wild state, it needed them for propagation, and they were placed on the outside, where they would be carried by any bird or animal that tasted the fruit.

"WAND, AS WE WERE TRYING TO OPEN A WINDOW, AN OFFICER—THE STUPID KNAVE—NABBED US, AND WHISKED US AWAY TO THE BASTILLE UNDER THE VERY NOSES OF THE NEIGHBORS, WHO NEVER RAISED A WHISPER TO SAVE US SUCH HUMILIATION—SPUTT—SPUTT—A PLAGUE TAKE THEM! 2. NOT BY A VERY LARGE JUGFUL. 3. I CERTAINLY supposed so, and many private airplane today are planning their lives for pilots have told me so, but James

marriage and not merely waiting for “the right man”—which to grandmother meant usually the first man—to come along. They are going out gunning for him, studying all the available young men and keeping their eyes peeled for other availabilities. They are, in effect, too straight out ones—about himself, his wife, his family, his plans, ambitions and preparation for his life work. Young women as never before believe that it takes the right man together with working like the very deuce by his side to make marriage a success.
