1 THIS reminds me of the man who was asked if he had been up in the Empire State and Rockefeller Center buildings and replied, "Why, I live in New York." As I look across Central Park, I see the Metropolitan Art Gallery and down the street two blocks is the American Museum—largest in the world, yet I have not been in them in five years. People come from all over the world to see these things and, some day I am going to see them, too, and see New York, where I have lived many years.

2 ESTELLE REILLY says in a leading magazine article—paraphrased—our daughters today no longer approve or disapprove of anything; what they are seeking is the approval of their own group. They appreciate the approval of their mothers as well, but, of the two sanctions, that of their own crowd far outweighs that of their mothers in importance. Isn't this a wholesome thing for mothers to know? I certainly think it is a good thing to know and a thing to cooperate with and not to fight.

3 CERTAINLY. In that amazing new book, "A Mind Mislaid," by Henry Collins Brown, in which he details how he cured himself of the nervous and mental breakdown which he suffered at age 65, he tells us that a lot of patients in the hospital for insane

Good Radio Music

By JAMES THRASHER

In answer to this column's recent hope that WIRE might carry the Alfred Wallenstein broadcasts from WOR, there comes the announcement that the local station has added the Sinfonietta program to its attractions for this evening. The half-hour program is to begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Whether or not the Sinfonietta concerts will continue to come through WIRE depends upon a local commercial program now hanging fire. Meanwhile, however, we may look forward to 30 minutes of music by Mozart, Goldmark and Schubert.

The Mozart work is the "Paris" Overture, which is listed as 311A in the Koehel catalog. It probably dates from the sojourn in the French capital when the composer was 22—a dark chapter in an unhappy life during which his mother died and his music went unrecognized by the smug Parisians. However, Goethe's Dictionary, that usually inexhaustible fountain of musical knowledge, makes no mention of the work.

Two movements from Goldmark's "Rustic Wedding" Symphony—the Serenade and "In the Garden," and Schubert's "Des Teufels Lustschloss"—will complete the program.

Mr. Wallenstein recently has come forth with a statement that he hates "the use of that much-abused term, 'good music.'" He believes further that such qualifying adjectives as modern, classic, significant and educational, should be put on a high shelf and kept there.

There's something to what the noted conductor-cellist says, but he seems to be lumping together some badly-worn terms with others which are quite necessary.

"Modern" and "classical" of course, have had to suffer the most. To many, "classical" music is anything from "The Art of the Fugue"

CAN YOU RECOGNIZE THIS PAIR?

Chances are you don't recognize these two boys broadcasting in the NBC studios, but they're old friends of yours. They are Lum (left) and Abner, and they're heard Mondays through Fridays at 6:30 p. m. over the NBC-WLW. Their Mena, Ark., neighbors knew them as Chester Lauck and Norris Goff.

Tunes in Comedy

By Oscar Levant

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7.—"Nothing Sacred," technicolor comedy co-starring Carole Lombard and Fredric March, will have several musical numbers by Oscar Levant, eminent young composer of modern classics.

Mr. Levant is a disciple of Arnold Schoenberg and is equally famous as a writer of popular songs and serious classics. Much of his music has been played by famous symphony orchestras with the musician himself as guest artist.

The "Nothing Sacred" score will also feature music executed by Raymond Scott's quintet, newest sensation among dance music enthusiasts. Mr. Scott and his band are making their film debut in this picture.

His wife testified Mr. Taylor "played hookey from home every night in the past two years."

David Taylor's 'Hookey' Costly

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 7 (U.P.)—David Taylor, radio playwright, must pay $5000 from the proceeds of his next play and one-third of his regular income as alimony to Mrs. Luta Taylor under a divorce decree she held today.

His wife testified Mr. Taylor "played hookey from home every night in the past two years."

Helen Hayes First Guest As 'We, the People' Comes Back.

Local theatergoers are to have an opportunity tonight to hear Ibsen's classic "A Doll's House," scheduled to play English's on Nov. 2 and 3. The same cast that is to appear here will present a cutting from the play on Kate Smith's hour this evening over CBS-WFBM at 7 o'clock.

Paul Lukas as Dr. Rank, Ruth Gordon as Nora, Dennis King as Helmer and Sam Jaffe as Nils Krogstad will play a scene from the second act. Although it is rare for a play scheduled for opening on the legitimate stage to have a preview on the air, Miss Smith promises this is only the first of such cuttings her program will present.

Another feature of the program will be the appearance of Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, New York Yankee pitcher, and Jim Crowley, Fordham University football coach. They will discuss the respective merits of their sports in a "Football vs. Baseball" debate.

Bing Crosby will receive a royal welcome upon his return to the Music Hall program this evening at 9 o'clock after a three months' vacation. Beatrice Lillie is to appear as a guest star with Crosby and Bob Burns, head man during the crooner's absence. The interview with Miss Lillie should be entertaining for those who like their radio ribbing. Other guests artists are William Gargan, movie actor, and Mischa Levitzki, concert pianist. Bing will sing some of the hit numbers from his most recent picture, "Double or Nothing."

With Helen Hayes as his guest, Gabriel Heatter will bring the "We, The People" series back to the air over the CBS this evening at 6:30. Miss Hayes will describe some interesting aspects of her theatrical career. Mark Warnow again will be the musical director of the series.

Rudy Vallee's Variety Hour from Hollywood this evening (7 over NBC-WIRE) should provide something unique in the way of guest star appearances. Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Frank Fay, Edward Arnold, Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou will be present. Three of them first achieved radio fame on Vallee's program. Frank Fay, Edgar Bergen and his irrepressible dummy, Charlie McCarthy, Tommy Riggs and his imaginary little girl, Betty Lou, were all finds of Rudy's. The broadcast, incidentally, will be the first in three years to originate on the West Coast.

Stamp collecting as a hobby will be Adolph Menjou's subject on an NBC broadcast this afternoon from 5:20 to 5:30. The broadcast will be one of several dedicated to the National Stamp Exhibition being held this week in the Museum of Science and Industry in Radio City, New York. The exhibition features collections of President Roosevelt, Lily Pons and Theodore Steinyaw.

A new angle on the old gag about the gullible New York visitor buying Brooklyn bridge cropped up the other day in Bridgeport, Conn. A man is said to have purchased a talking tree which the salesman told him was "Charlie McCarthy's father." Charlie even has the psychologists analyzing him trying to see what makes him tick. According to an article in a nationally known magazine, Charlie's great appeal is that he acts as a safety valve for Edgar Bergen. Through Charlie, Bergen is able to speak his own mind.
