MOTHER TAKES DAY TO FIND LOST HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7 (U. P.).—Mrs. Carol Dickinson forgot where she lived and for a whole day the city had one frantic mother, three scared and hungry little children and some bewildered police.

In the excitement of moving to a new town and taking over a new job, Mrs. Dickinson lost her way after visiting her new employer.

At home, meanwhile, her three little children grew more hungry and afraid. A full day's searching with police helping, finally brought Mrs. Dickinson to a building she recognized as home.
