

Indiana's Fifth Annual Saddle Horse Roundup Draws 16,000 Spectators to Gregg Farms

Marionette School Here Opens Today

Syracuse, N. Y., Expert to Hold Junior League Institute.

The Indianapolis Junior League is sponsoring a Marionette Institute opening today and continuing through Oct. 20 at Mrs. Maxwell Coppock's "Little Theater," it was announced today.

With the arrival of Miss Constance Van Duyn, a Syracuse, N. Y., member of the Junior League, to conduct the institute here, league members here are realizing a long cherished hope.

The Children's Theater Department has been interested in marionette performances for some time and a study of that work has engaged many of its members.

Therefore when a theater institute was planned, it was marionettes on which most wanted to concentrate, Mrs. Frank Hoke, president, said today.

Recent marionette productions, built and presented by the Junior League at the Art Museum, have been among the league's most successful undertakings. Additional free programs are projected.

Has Broad Experience Through the co-operation of the Children's Theater Department of the Association of Junior Leagues of America arrangements have been made for this special institute.

A broad experience which dates back to her study under Ralph Chase in San Francisco in 1933, gives Miss Van Duyn an unusual background to conduct a training course in marionettes, it is said.

She has conducted her own marionette theater and has given marionette performances at country clubs, before welfare groups and in certain department stores. During the summer of 1936, with Miss Kay Zinke, she conducted a marionette workshop at Lake Mahopac where in addition to giving shows, these young women conducted training courses.

In discussing the type of marionette performances she has given, Miss Van Duyn said that they had varied from productions of Dr. Faustus to one designed for political propaganda in the last election.

Worked in San Francisco Miss Van Duyn graduated from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and has produced plays in public schools. She has had some experience as state manager of a San Francisco little theater. At the association's Technical Conference on Children's Theater, held in February, 1936, Miss Van Duyn conducted a meeting on marionettes with children.

For several years the League has presented Sunday afternoon marionette shows at the John Herron Art Institute to accommodate enthusiastic juvenile audiences. Last year the productions were presented without professional assistance but this year the group desired to improve its work.

Members attending the Institute are to be Mesdames Irving W. Faure, George Fotheringham, John D. Gould, Paul Lee Hargett, Rosamond Van Camp Hill, William Jung, Carl Mote, William E. Munk, George T. Parry, Wayne Ritter, James Rose, John K. Ruckelshaus, A. Ewing Sinclair, Harold Taylor, Carl Vonnegut, R. Kirby White, J. T. Witherspoon, Noble Dean, Garvin Brown, Charles A. More Than 500 Riders Join in Competition for Varied Prizes

The largest gathering of pleasure horses and riders and one of the largest charity shows in the Middle West was attended by an estimated 16,000 people yesterday as the Indiana Saddle Horse Association held its fifth annual roundup at Gregg Farms.

The event with all its color and pageantry attracted more than 500 horses and riders to participate in the contests and exhibitions. The crowd from all over the state began to arrive long before the 10 o'clock starting event and stayed until the last event ended after 5 p. m.

The event was sponsored jointly by the Association and the Sunnyside Guild. The latter is to use the proceeds in carrying on its charitable activities.

The curtain raiser for the roundup was the grand entrance open to every rider. The first competitive event, a jumping contest for amateur riders, was won by Joseph Carson, riding Pedie. William Wemmer was second.

Officer Wins Jumping

The Indianapolis Athletic Club trophy in the professional jumping class went to Sgt. James Bray, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, riding Blossom.

In the potato race, in which contestants stabbed potatoes, carried to the far end of the ring and deposited them and then returned for more, a team of John McCabe, Crawfordville, and Don Keller won. Jimmy McNitt won a trophy for first place in the horsemanship contest for boys and girls between 13 and 18 years old. Miss Ann Sayles placed second. Harry Clark placed first in the three-gaited saddle horse competition.

Boy Wins Saddle

Among other winners were Marlow Hyatt, an English saddle in the horsemanship contest for boys and girls under 12 years old; Miss Margaret Caldwell, five-gaited class; Emory Sharp and Robert Wallace, five-gaited pairs class for amateur riders; Earl A. Crane and John W. Cull, three-gaited pair class for amateur riders, and Storey J. Larkin, trot race for saddle horses.

Preceding the lunch hour, the Fredric M. Ayres trophy was awarded to Cornelius O. Allig for an exhibition of the Traders Point Hunt Club, Carl Dean, showing King Dodo, won the 2-year-old saddle seat class with Emory Sharp placing second. Mr. McCabe took first, second and third places in the weaving coil competition.

In the fancy turnout division judged on fancy equipment and original costumes, Miss Jane

Today's Pattern

As a frock for teatime and dinner, this gay little girlish silhouette is tops. Young things at college and fashion-wise young business executives will both adore the flattery of its bow-trimmed lines.

The dress (Pattern 8071) is as easily worn to a don't-dress dinner as to a sorority luncheon at 12. Make it in a lovely sheer wool, in velvet or in a rich silk crepe. The color you choose depends upon your mood.

Pattern 8071 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch fabric and 2 yards of ribbon for collar and bows.

The new Fall and Winter Pattern Book is ready for you now. It has 32 pages of attractive designs for every size and every occasion. One pattern and the new Fall and Winter Pattern Book—25 cents. Fall and Winter Book alone—15 cents.

To obtain pattern and Step-by-Step Sewing Instructions include 15 cents in coin together with the above pattern number and your size, your name and address and mail to: Pattern Editor, The Indianapolis Times, 214 W. Maryland St., Indianapolis.
