

Soviet Purge Will End By Nov. 7, Rumors Say; 817 Executions Listed

Only Eight Trials Now Remain on Court Calendar; Elections Dec. 12 to Proceed Without Fear of Party 'Traitors.'

MOSCOW, Oct. 14 (U. P.).—Stalin's purge of his enemies is expected to be ended by Nov. 7, 20th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, it was understood today.

A United Press survey listed 817 known victims, but the total is believed to be somewhat larger. It is found possible to end the campaign by the revolution anniversary, the country would be free of men suspected of deviating from the strict Communist Party line, and the campaign for the first election under the new Constitution could proceed without thought of "traitors." The election is to be held Dec. 12.

There was every indication that reports that the purge was ending were true.

On the calendar as publicly announced, there remain but eight political trials, involving 62 defendants. It was possible that there might be more. But it was believed there would be few, if any, new cases. One may involve A. S. Bubnov, He was dismissed last night from his post as Commissar of Education of the Russian Republic—not the Soviet Union as a whole. D. A.

Turkin, former Leningrad Executive Committee president, succeeds him. Of the eight trials on the court calendar, four are in Eastern Siberia, and there is one each in the Kubishev, Tadzhikistan, Uzbekistan and Western Siberia region.

Executions Tabulated

The United Press survey of known executions breaks down, as to charges, as follows:
National significance, counter-revolution, terrorism, espionage—52. This includes the figures of international repute.

Railroad wrecking and Japanese espionage in the Far East—414.

General sabotage—4.

Destroying or infecting grain—135.

General agricultural sabotage—68.

Industrial wrecking—28.

Railroad wrecking—9.

Poisoning workers' children—23.

Separatist movements to restore capitalism—21.

Sabotage in army plants—35.

Sabotage in power plants—10.

Arson—18.

Newspapers announced today details of the election campaign under the new "democratic" Constitution. There is no platform. Candidates will be nominated by trade unions, co-operatives, cultural and other organizations. There is only one party, the Communist Party. Hence the campaign will be devoted to instructing voters as to their powers, organizing electoral districts and preparing polling places.

The election will be similar to those in the United States. Citizens of 18 years or more may vote. Voters will establish their identity by showing a passport or trade union card at a polling place.

A. P. Whitney, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen president, and J. J. Pelley, Association of American Railroads president, jointly announced that a complaint filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the trainmen had been settled.

The railroad association agreed to install in the locomotive cabs, or in a sheltered cab of the tender, a seat as requested by the brakemen. The agreement applies only to locomotives used in hauling freight trains.

Gets New Post

Harry R. Wilson, American United Life of Indianapolis vice-president, today assumed his duties as president of the American Life convention. He was elected at the closing session in Chicago last night.

STAMP COLLECTORS TO RECEIVE CACHET

Stamp collectors may receive an unusual cachet from the Indiana Northwest Territory Celebration Commission, Buford Cadie, Commission secretary, announced today.

On Dec. 3, when an ox team caravan is to leave Ipswich, Mass., and retrace pioneers' trail, the cachets will be sent through the mail. They are to be picked up by the caravan and carried by ox team to Marietta, O., where the recent U. S. Constitution stamp is to be added and the cachets remailed to applicants.
