Hoosiers' 1910 Squad Wants Revenge for Loss to Illini

Old-Timers Invited to Join Tomorrow's Home-coming; Captain Berndt Sounds the Call.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 15.—Members of the 1910 Indiana University football team who will attend the squad reunion and dinner here tonight as a part of Indiana's home-coming celebration, remember bitterly Illinois' last visit to Bloomington, when the Illini sank Indiana's Western Conference title hopes with a last quarter field goal that gave them a 3-0 victory.

Mayor A. H. Berndt of Bloomington, captain and end of the 1910 Hoosier eleven, has issued a special invitation to 1910 players to be present at tonight's dinner. "I don't want the Illini to wait another 27 years before returning," the Mayor says.

"The last defeat still rankles and I want something done about it. Selzer, Illini quarter, succeeded in kicking a field goal from a difficult angle on the 45-yard line with only a few minutes of play remaining after Indiana had been unsuccessful on two similar attempts."

The loss which the Hoosiers' only defeat that year, and gave Illinois a tie with Minnesota for the Big Ten championship.

All Indiana players before 1912 and those of 1912, 1917, 1922, 1927 and 1932 will hold reunions tonight and tomorrow. Ex-members of the Indiana band will hold their first reunion, with a special dinner following the game.

Wildcats and Gophers Face Crucial Tests Tomorrow

By STEVE SNIDER

United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Northwestern and Minnesota—two slim favorites in the new Big Ten football campaign—will have to prove their greatness tomorrow or make way for teams who can.

Both Purdue, Northwestern's foe, and Michigan, which meets the Golden Gophers in a battle for the little brown jug, have dropped close conference games but each is on the way up. Michigan, especially, is due for a boom and may get it tomorrow unless Bernie Bierman at last has fired up Minnesota.

Two home-coming games round out the conference schedule. Illinois plays at Indiana and Iowa goes to Wisconsin. Chicago meets Princeton in an inter-sectional game at home. The tenth team, Ohio State, is idle.

Bierman has shifted his backs so often this week not even the players know who will work against Michigan. His cry from the start of the season was for a quarterback and it still hasn't been answered. Rudy Gmitro, a right halfback and leading ground gainer last year, likely will handle the quarterback assignment since the Gophers looked like their old-time powerhouse against Indiana only when Gmitro was in action.

Michigan will be slightly stronger with Fred Janke back in the line after a whirl at fullback. Janke will understudy Don Siegel, one of the best tacklers in the league, on the left side of the line while Norm Nickerson and Cramon Stanton handle fullback.

Northwestern's problem is to throttle Purdue's versatile attack. The Wildcats never have been strong against enemy passes and Cecil Isbell of Purdue still is a passing threat although he lost his best receivers, Tom Zackary and Don Powell.

Unless Bob Zupke has devised a scoring play, Illinois may wind up with another scoreless tie. Indiana outgained Minnesota by two yards, but the Illini proved themselves a fine defensive team by holding Notre Dame to only one serious drive. The Hoosiers lost one threat in Bill Anderson, a halfback, who helps Frank Filchock do the passing.

Wisconsin will have a slight edge over Iowa. The Badgers came out of the Chicago game in fair condition. The Hawks have been weak offensively all year and Wisconsin formations repeatedly pined them up in scrimmage during the week.

Purdue on Way To Tackle Cats

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 15.—

Purdue University's squad of 35 players, Acting Coach Mal Elward and his assistants left here for Evanston at 10 o'clock this morning for their game with Northwestern's Wildcats tomorrow. The team will go direct to Dwyer Stadium for a light workout.

The Boiler-makers had a polishing-off drill yesterday during which particular attention was paid to the aerial attack with which they hope to halt Lynn Waldorf's versatile crew.

Coach Elward said he probably would start the same eleven which began the Carnegie Tech battle last week, although Cody Isbell may get the call at quarterback over Hennis.

COLUMBIA CAPTAIN HIRED NEW WINDSOR, Md., Oct. 15.—Steve Grenda, former Columbia University captain, is head coach of the Blue Ridge College football team.
