BUFFALO EXTOLS LEO MILLER
SHREWD LEADER, WRITER SAYS

FOLLOWING the signing of the experienced Ray Schalk as manager of the Indianapolis Indians, President Norman A. Perry evidently has come up with a second smart business move by appointing Leo T. Miller as Tribe general manager. . . . At any rate, Francis Dunn of the Buffalo Times sizes up the former business director of the Redskins in glowing terms and congratulates the Redskins for swinging the deal. . . . Scrivener Dunn says: "In eight years, two at Erie, Pa., and six at Buffalo, Miller's clubs never failed to make at least operating expenses. The only loser was the 1931 Buffalo club, a team he did not see or learn much about until he reached spring training."

"He was accepted as astute, as deals and trades for Buffalo attest, and had started rebuilding the Bisons for 1938 by buying First Baseman Jim Oglesby and Outfielder Woody Abernathy."

SUPPLYING additional facts on Leo Miller's prestige in the International League, Sportswriter Dunn delves into the subject as follows: "He was one of the best-liked officials in the league and did considerable missionary work in advertising the Bisons. He makes friends easily, is a superb mixer and has never had a holdout. Players respect and admire him. There was never much money available in the Buffalo club for Miller to make cash purchases due to the fact the directors always wanted to whack up the profits."

"Personally I think the Indianapolis club, players and fans get an extraordinary 'break' in Leo. He is a progressive leader and has turned down several opportunities in the big leagues."

It isn't true what they say about the football season being over with today's games. . . . Undeclared and untied Santa Clara plays Gonzaga at Sacramento tomorrow and in another Sunday grid game on the Coast undefeated Villanova battles Loyola of Los Angeles. . . . Villanova won seven and played a scoreless deadlock with Auburn, Santa Clara captured seven straight. . . . Next Saturday's grid menu contains a sprinkling of contests between major eleven but none involves an undefeated team.

The Dec. 4 leading lights: Kentucky at Florida, Duquesne at Mississippi State, Texas A.M. at San Francisco, Southern California vs. U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles, Rice at Southern Methodist, Mississippi vs. Tennessee at Memphis, Manhattan at Tulsa, Oregon at Tucson.

COMMANDER JONAS INGRAM refereed a Princeton-Dartmouth game some years back. . . . At the start of the second half he tucked a highly prized sweater under the Dartmouth bench, only to find it gone when the last gun had been fired. . . . A few nights later, the commander and his wife took in a movie. . . . There were newsreel shots of the Princeton-Dartmouth engagement. . . . "What a beautiful run!" exclaimed Mrs. Ingram.

But what the erstwhile Navy coach saw was a spectator run out to the Dartmouth bench, seize his sweater, and race to the nearest exit.

BILL DE CORREYONT, Chicago Austin High School grid flash, will graduate with the January class. . . . He is a touchdown machine of the Red Grange type and in baseball the lad has displayed the qualities of a powerful hitter. . . . De Correiyont also is a keen student and maintains an average of 88. . . . Ole Nelson, Michigan State end, has tallied six touchdowns this season on passes, all tossed by John Fingel. . . . Six of them were regulars this year.

Michigan State has defeated Michigan four straight times, but in each instance lost the next week's game. . . . Maybe the Spartans will leave that date open next year.

MEADOW, a possible Kentucky Derby winter book favorite, is to have a winter campaign. . . . Hal Price Headley has announced that his Belmont Futurity winner will be shipped from Kentucky to Florida. . . . If the son of Pharamond II competes in the stakes at Hialeah or elsewhere in Florida it is almost a foregone conclusion that he won't finish down front in the Blue Grass classic.

The record books reveal that no horse since Black Gold has participated in a winter campaign and won the Derby. . . . Following spring. . . . Black Gold annexed the coveted race in 1924 after a winter of racing in New Orleans.

Big Boy Davis on Tuesday's Card

Although Matchmaker Lloyd Carter is not yet certain about his main go, he has lined up the balance of his wrestling card for next Tuesday night at the Armory. Big Boy Davis will be one of the headline attractions and Orville Brown is being sought as the opponent. . . . Pete Peterson, 23, aggressive Minneapolis husky, will tangle with Irish Tommy O'Toole, 23, Arizona, in the semiwindup. The tussle brings together two young stalwarts. Young Gotsch, 21, Iowa, who has won the favor of Armory fans, will test a newcomer, Gorilla Macias, 22, bearded Mexican who is known as the "Ape Man" of the game. It is said that Macias has a "new" grip, the "hatchet hold."

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (U. P.).—Nathan Mann, New Haven, Conn., heavyweight, and Tommy Farr, British challenger who stayed 15 rounds against Joe Louis, will fight a 10-round match in Madison Square Garden, Jan. 21, Promoter Mike Jacobs announced today.

Mann earned the shot by beating Bob Pastor, the former New York University football player, in an uninteresting 10-round affair boxed by 6600 fans in the Garden last night.

The Connecticut cloutier tried to make a fight of it all the way, but he was handicapped by Pastor's continuous holding and backpeddling, the same tactics he used in staying 10 rounds with Louis early this year.

The United Press score sheet gave Mann five rounds, Pastor two and called three even. Referee Artie Donovan took the fourth and fifth from Pastor for low punches, but Mann had a wide margin in both sessions.

A more experienced fighter might have knocked Pastor out. Mann's awkwardness in following up some tremendous wallop enabled Pastor to stay the route.

A hard right hook to the jaw sent Bob spinning to the canvas in the first round, but he got up before the count started and hung on until the bell. In the fourth, fifth and sixth, Mann rocked Pastor to his heels, but could not put him away.

Mann weighed 185½; Pastor, 183. Ruggiello Stopped By John Henry Lewis

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 27 (U. P.).—Light-heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis scored a technical knockout over Salvatore Ruggiello, Los Angeles, in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round, non-title bout last night.

The champion, who weighed 183½ pounds, Ruggiello, 207. Lewis was the aggressor throughout the three and one-half rounds the fight lasted. He downed the Italian four times with stunning rights and lefts in the fourth round before the referee stopped the fight.

Ten games are scheduled for tomorrow at the Dearborn gym, with a grudge battle between Nu Grape Bottling Co. and the Little Neck Beer team, as the feature attraction. The schedule:

Non-Masonic Home All-Stars vs. Evers Roller Club. P. M. 1:00—Postoffice vs. Mt. Jackson Tire and Rubber. 1:30—P. M. 1:30—Malloy Girls vs. First Presby. 2:45—L. E. Bell-Ewart vs. Lawrence Trot. 3:30—Nu Grape Bottling vs. Little Neck Beer. 4:20—W. E. Cummins vs. Inland Continental. 5:10—Ohio Cleaners vs. P. R. Malloy Co. 6:00—Real Silk vs. Kramer Mfg. Co. 7:40—W. E. Woodcock A. C. vs. East Side Red Devils. 7:40—Riverside Olympics vs. Chain Gang.

Harry Thomas makes hay while the sun shines on a golden opportunity—a 15-round match with Max Schmeling at Madison Square Garden, Dec. 13. Thomas takes time off from piling logs to spar with his brother, Joe Pontius, on their parents' farm near Eagle Bend, Minn., where the blond engineer did his preliminary training.

An unruly calf also gives Schmeling's opponent a highly satisfactory workout. The Minnesota heavy hopped from a locomotive cabin to the ring.

K. O.'d Louis in Workout, Schmeling's Foo Claims

Earns Match by Taking Decision Over Pastor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Because he is a swinging puncher like Max Baer, some of the boys have an idea that Harry Thomas may stir up some trouble for Max Schmeling in what generally is expected to be nothing more than a warm-up for the ex-champion at the Garden Dec. 13. It will be recalled that Baer, bringing roaring roundhouse blows via the Holland Tunnel, smacked Schmeling all over the place and stopped him in 10 rounds one scorching June night in 1933.

The man warning Schmeling in stevedores is Jack Hurley, who managed Thomas for a spell. Hurley is the chap who brought out Billy Petrolle, the old Fargo Express, and is a pugilistic prognosticator of some repute.

While Schmeling's staunchest admirers were feeling sorry for the Black Union, Hurley was telling the cockeyed world that the Pretzel Pounder would belt Joe Louis all the way back to the Buckleaws.

Hurley also predicted that Jim Braddock would treat Louis similarly. The Dakota cauliflower dealer was wrong on that occasion, but the error can be traced to the fact that he'd make Freddie Bartholomew a favorite over Louis, so little does he think of the Brown Bomber.

Blocks With Hard Head Hurley isn't exactly picking Thomas, but insists that Schmeling selecting the Minnesota from a list submitted by Mike Jacobs once more illustrates just how little Joe Jacobs has to say about his matches.

"Joe Jacobs wouldn't make this mistake," asserts Hurley. "Thomas is in New York for the first time, after preliminary work on his parents' farm near Eagle Bend, Minn., and in a Chicago gymnasium. He professes not to consider the distance—15 rounds—to his disadvantage."

Thomas—real name Pontius—talks a good fight without meaning to be boastful. Yanked from the cabin of a Southern Pacific locomotive in 1932 by his uncle, Dan Thomas of Los Angeles, Thomas is said to have been the first to demonstrate that Louis couldn't shake off a solid sock around the head.

Hired by the Bomber When Louis traveled to Los Angeles to drop Lee Ramage like a broken airplane for the second time, Thomas was engaged as a sparring partner.

"I hit Louis on top of the head in our first and only round and he went into a tailspin and stayed there," explains Thomas. "I fired me, and I've wondered ever since just what would happen if I nailed Louis on top of the head with my hand in a small glove. I wouldn't bother to aim for his temple. I'd just hit him on top of the head."

If Thomas were as versatile inside the ropes as he has been outside of them, he'd be a whiz. Raised on the Eagle Bend farm, he played considerable end and wrestled at Trinity College of Morning-side, Ia. He was in turn a mornie league catcher, cowboy, and locomotive fireman and engineer.

A rough and ready sort who looks the part, Thomas stands six feet one, and weighs 195 pounds. He has bowled over or halted 60 of 71 opponents and lost only five decisions. He knocked out Dynamite Jackson and Pal Silvers in 1936, took 10-round awards from Art Sykes and Charley Belanger, lost to Unknown Winston in six, and was outstaggered by the stringbean Negro, Jack Trammell, in 10. He knocked out Billy Jones in St. Louis this year, dropped a disputed decision to Roscoe Toles in Detroit, and recently repelled Max Marek in Chicago.

The Perseus Frankfurter acted for a warm-up. He'll get one.

Colorado U. Studies Bid

Game With Villanova in New York Likely.

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 27 (U. P.).—Colorado University's athletic board has approved an offer from Villanova for a charity game in Yankee Stadium Dec. 11, it was learned today.

The offer, received yesterday, was one of four invitations extended to the undefeated, untied Buffaloes who ended the season Thanksgiving by defeating Denver University 34-7.

The faculty's approval and the agreement of the football men themselves would complete negotiations for the game.

In the event the faculty and the players approve the offer, which is almost certain, the team will resume training immediately. Coach Bernard (Bunny) Oakes said.

The other offers which were rejected by the school's athletic board came from Dallas, Tex., for a Christmas day game, El Paso, Tex., for a Sun Bowl game, and a Los Angeles game seeking the Rocky Mountain Conference champions for another Christmas day contest.
