

SMOKE LEAGUE TO ENLIST CIVIC GROUPS IN FIGHT

Starts Campaign to Elect City Officers Pledged To Its Program.

The Smoke Abatement League executive committee is to meet tomorrow to map plans for enlistment of civic groups in a campaign to "elect a Mayor and City Council that will support its program," Roy O. Johnson, league attorney, declared today.

Rebuffed by Council in its attempts to obtain enactment of smoke abatement ordinances Monday, Mr. Johnson asserted the league could see no solution to the nuisance problem but the selection of a mayoralty and councilmanic slate pledged to its program.

"We shall canvass every candidate for municipal office to determine his stand on smoke abatement," Mr. Johnson said. "It will make no difference whether he be Republican or Democrat, if he pledges to support the program we shall campaign for him."

The attorney said representatives of the Indianapolis League of Women Voters, supporting the smoke abatement program, had expressed indignation over Council's refusal to enact amendments intended to reduce the smoke nuisance.

Will Rally Civic Groups

"We believe civic groups will rally behind the league in its attempt to get an administration that will support our program. The women, especially, realize the seriousness of the damage caused by this unrestricted nuisance," Mr. Johnson said.

He said the executive board, meeting in the Washington Hotel, would be asked to approve an educational campaign that will send speakers to meetings of civic groups throughout the city to enlist aid in the fight for smoke legislation.

Meanwhile, the league announced it would make a last attempt to force enactment of smoke abatement legislation by redrafting the amendments turned down at the last Council meeting.

Mr. Johnson said a modified proposal, seeking only to legalize use of a smoke density chart, would be submitted for councilmanic approval. He asserted he believed the modification would eliminate objections that he said might have been responsible for the defeat of the last proposed measures.

DEPOSITS AVAILABLE FROM DEFUNCT BANK

Depositors in the defunct State Savings and Trust Co. may obtain a 5% per cent dividend on their money by calling at the County Clerk's office.

The dividend is derived from funds left after larger depositors had collected their money, according to Samuel R. Garrison, fund trustee. The funds have been awaiting the call of $700 depositors for three years, it was said.
