

SAM D. JACKSON ANNOUNCES FOR VANNUYS' SEAT

Supreme Court reorganization plan, has announced he will campaign for re-election.

The Jackson announcement was seen as definitely drawing the battle lines for the 1938 race and removing the possibility of peace between the state organization and the senior Senator.

Some Democrats also saw it as the second move in two days that narrowed the list of rumored possibilities for Paul V. McNutt, Philippine High Commissioner, as a stepping stone between his present job and his expected campaign for the 1940 Democratic Presidential nomination. Former Governor McNutt has been talked as a possible senatorial candidate against Senator Van Nuys. Val Nolan, Indiana University trustee, said in Washington that Mr. McNutt is not being considered as a "candidate" for the U. S. presidency, another possibility frequently mentioned for the former Governor.

Candidacy Announcement

Mr. Jackson's announcement statement follows:

"In the person of the President of the United States is at present our highest hope that democracy as a form of government can be made to succeed in America and endure in the world. Therefore, I am for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"The present and last previous Indiana State Administration, and the Democratic state organization have given him their complete support, and I wholeheartedly endorse them and their acknowledged spokesman, Governor M. Clifford Townsend.

"The nominee of the Democratic Party to head the ticket in the 1938 campaign should be one whose very selection will be an unmistakable ratification of, and a clear declaration of, allegiance to, our existing leadership.

"To this end I submit my name to the Democracy of Indiana for its consideration at the 1938 state convention of the Democratic Party as the nominee for United States Senator."

Jackson's most recent political activity was permanent chairman of the 1936 state convention which nominated Mr. Townsend for Governor—over the opposition of Mr. Van Nuys.

In 1934 he was head of the state organization's speakers bureau, which campaigned for Sherman Minton—who also was opposed by Mr. Van Nuys.

In 1928, Mr. Jackson was an unsuccessful candidate for Congress in the Fourth District, being defeated in the Republican landslide.

He served two terms as Allen County Prosecutor from 1922 to 1926.

Native of Allen County

Mr. Jackson is a native of Allen County, a graduate of Indiana Law School at Indianapolis in 1917. He enlisted in the Army and came out of the World War as a captain. He is a member of the American Legion and a former member of the Board of Governors of the Indiana Bar Association. He is married and the father of three sons, is a 33rd degree Mason and a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Jackson's chief opposition in the Democratic Party other than Senator Van Nuys comes from his fellow townsman, R. Earl Peters, present Federal Housing Administrator for Indiana and former state chairman, who reportedly wanted the senatorial nomination himself. Mr. Peters is close to Postmaster General Farley and is at odds with the state organization.

Mr. Farley is reported to be keeping hands off.

CUSTOMS MEN WEAR GLOVES

LONDON, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Five thousand British customs officers belonging to the "waterguard" section which examines ships arriving are to wear kid gloves on duty. An epidemic of dermatitis of the hands, spreading among them is ascribed to searching the insanitary belongings of foreign seamen and low-grade passengers.

GM Chief Testifies in Senate Job Quiz

A hope for a "business comeback in the spring," and doubt that President Roosevelt's suggestion for stabilization of production through industrial conferences would prove effective were highpoints of the testimony of William S. Knudsen, General Motors Unemployment Investigation Committee in Washington yesterday. Mr. Knudsen is shown at the right as Chairman James F. Biddle repeatedly asked the General Motors chief if it would not be better for his company to use surplus funds—which Knudsen said increased to $50,000,000 in 1937—than keep men working rather than to incur heavier taxes for relief. "That surplus won't last long if this recession keeps up," Knudsen said. "I believe that it is only a temporary recession," he added.

If Anybody's Seen Jim Watson, 75 Ladies Would Like to Know

By LEO DAUGHERTY

Former U. S. Senator James E. Watson was a bit of an explanation today to 75 members of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The reason is that last night he "stood them up"—plus yours truly. Back home from Washington, the Hoosier politician was scheduled for an address at the club at 1101 N. Delaware St., after the ladies had cleared away the tables following a 6:15 p. m. dinner and a little business meeting.

So at 7:50 I thought it safe to venture inside, expecting him to be right on the dot 10 minutes later. The ladies had been waiting for some time. So when a couple of members of the reception committee answered the door bell, the ladies inside gazed toward the darkened entrance and said: "That must be him now."

Imagine being mistaken for an ex-U. S. Senator even before you ever have been mistaken for a present U. S. Senator.

Anyhow, I moved right in, was introduced to some charming women and joined the waiting and the exchanging of: "Well, he ought to be here any minute now."

The women had a lot to tell me right at the start and the time went quickly. Then things got dull. Committee members called the Columbia Club and Woman's Department Club, thinking Mr. Watson had been mixed up about where he was supposed to orate.

I looked over the crowd and silently admired the evening gowns and those paper hats, like those you wear at a New Year's Eve party. I thought maybe the ladies were getting tired of being stared at, so I concentrated on the golden dangles. They're really beautiful every stitch—and I know every stitch of them.

About that time the president said they'd keep on waiting, but go on with the rest of the program.

A young lady sang three beautiful soprano solos. The best one was "Because"—a bit appropriate because Jim Watson up to then was getting very late.

An evening-gowned woman decided to contribute to the program and started off with that old "Did you ever hear the one about?"

It was a pretty good little story, too. Very appropriate. About a prospective bridegroom and his not showing up either.

P. S.—The president adjourned the meeting at 9:10 p. m.

Frank Asks Nonpartisan Support As He Accepts Republican Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Dr. Glenn Frank, former president of the University of Wisconsin, accepted the chairmanship of the newly formed program committee of the Republican Party today and appealed for nonpartisan co-operation to relieve the "gravity of a situation which cuts across all sections and all groups."

Dr. Frank's message of acceptance, made public by Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican National Committee, said he was accepting the new post without "any prior obligation," since no one had communicated with him at the time the committee was formed recently by the G. O. P.'s National Committee in St. Louis.

He acknowledged that the "business" of the program group is to communicate with him at the time the committee was formed recently by the G. O. P.'s National Committee in St. Louis.

His telegram of acceptance said: "I could not until today give you, as I now give you, my assured acceptance of the chairmanship of the special commission of political and economic inquiry created by the Republican National Committee.

"No one, either before the St. Louis meeting or during its sessions, communicated with me, regarding this chairmanship. I am glad this was so because it leaves me free now to accept this post without any prior obligation to any individual or to any group in the party. It meant, however, that, when notified of the committee's action, I was not in position to assume a major obligation of this sort until I had made the necessary readjustments in my other obligations. That alone accounts for this delayed acceptance."

tion to defer action, without the consent of its opponents."

"The members of Congress are directly elected by the people and subject to removal every two and six years," said Rep. O'Connor. "It is beyond imagination possibility that they could ever be so unacquainted with the attitude or the wishes of their constituents as to declare war against the will of the people."

Rep. Knutson followed Rep. O'Connor with a denunciation of the opposition.

Borah Leads Attack On Antilynching Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Senator Borah (R. Ida.) in a dramatic plea for defeat of the Antilynching Bill, today warned the Senate that state sovereignty was democracy's bulwark against encroachment of dictatorial rule. The bill is sponsored by Senators Wagner (D. N. Y.) and Van Nuys (D. Ind.).

Indemnifying the measure as an unwise and unconstitutional effort to "sit in judgment" on Southern states, the veteran constitutional expert said that the bill would do only harm.

He referred to recent utterances of Premier Mussolini of Italy in regard to the "bellying herds of democracy" and the confusion existing in democratic states.

"But Mr. President, there is no confusion about the precepts of democracy except when we depart from principle."

Calls Bill Compromise

"The people of the South—its generals, its statesmen, its soil and sunshine—are a part of our country. I shall cast no vote in this Chamber that reflects upon their ability and sincerity. When we condemn state sovereignty in the South we have no ground on which to maintain self-government in the North. This bill is another compromise—a vital principle of our dual system of government."

"It is another instance in which we are not strong enough in faith in our Government to say that however serious your problem you must work it out according to the long-established practice of democratic government."

A dozen Southern Senators crowded around Senator Borah to shake his hand as he concluded his speech on the second day of a filibuster against the antilynching bill.

Senator Reynolds (D. N. C.) who spoke most of yesterday afternoon on the beauties of his home state, and the economic and political conditions in other nations, will continue debate today, according to Senator Connally.

He said a few more countries to talk about," Senator Connally said. "He wants to make some remarks about Peru and Turkey among others."

Majority Leader Barkley (D. Ky.) showed the first signs of irritation when he warned members to stick close to business or face long day and probably night sessions.

'Pork Barrel' Cuts Face Opposition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Congress offered sporadic resistance today to President Roosevelt's budget message proposal for "pork barrel" economies, but Administration leaders predicted success in winning approval of reductions totaling $339,000,000.

Sharpest controversy in both House and Senate centered around the $200,000,000 that Mr. Roosevelt requested be cut from highways, reclamation and irrigation, rivers and harbors, flood control, and public buildings—appropriation items highly cherished by Congress.

NLRB Faces Further Attacks in House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The National Labor Relations Board has cleared its first hurdle in the new session of Congress, but faces further attacks in the next few days.

The House today has before it a $2,995,000 appropriation for the Board's operation in the fiscal year 1938-39. This is $385,000 more than the Board's current budget and only $80,000 under the Budget Bureau recommendation.

Passport Mystery Figure

Attempting to unravel the mystery surrounding the passports of the "Donald L. Robinson," now imprisoned in Moscow, State Department investigators promised "startling revelations" and "several arrests" after they had questioned Arthur Sharfin, office boy to the Royal Egyptian consul in New York. Unshaven after a night of questioning, Sharfin is pictured above, ducking behind a newspaper, as he emerged from State Department offices in New York. He denied any knowledge of the case and was released under a subpoena directing his reappearance. Sharfin was first described as "Louis Epstein," the "Mr. D." of the passport mystery.

HAGUE AND C. I. O. TRADE EPITHETS

Battle Lines Are Drawn for Continuation of Long Struggle.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Battle lines for continuation of the bitter struggle between Mayor Frank Hague and the C. I. O. were drawn clearly today, each having accused the other of being a "menace to the nation" and having pledged themselves to a "finish fight."

Climaxing a long fight, Mayor Hague spoke last night at a rally sponsored by the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce.

He said the C. I. O. represented the "forces of intimidation," said that its leaders were Communists who have "marked Jersey City for destruction" and declared that he would continue to prohibit the organization existing here.

At the conclusion of his speech, Morris Ernst and Dean Spaulding, both acting as special counsel for the C. I. O., spoke over the same radio hookup in rebuttal.

Addressing Mayor Hague directly, Mr. Ernst said:

"You are a danger to the American nation because you are the basic radical of our day, radical in the sense that you are going back on the founding fathers and our bill of rights. The fight is on. We are not going to stop until that town is open to the traditions and the folklore of the American people."

FAIR TO HAVE BEER, BUT WITHOUT MUSIC

The State Board of Agriculture today had reaffirmed its stand that concessions at the 1938 State Fair may sell beer but must not have music or other entertainment.

The carnival concession again was awarded to the Johnny Jones Shows. The Board also authorized the sale of 175,000 advance tickets at 25 cents each.

confidence that their lines would hold and coincidentally information from the Rebel side was that the present fighting did not constitute an attempt to storm the city.

It was also said that Gen. Francisco Franco was unwilling to sacrifice thousands of lives by frontal assaults.

Japanese Report Losses to Communists

PEIPING, China, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Japanese military authorities said today that Chinese Communists had inflicted "frequent losses" among Japanese detachments guarding the vital Shichichuang-Taiyuan Railroad in Shansi Province.

No trace has been found of three American missionaries who disappeared in Shansi Province more than a month ago, two United States military officers reported today.

Two British Police Attacked by Japanese

SHANGHAI, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—British authorities reported today that two British municipal policemen had been beaten by Japanese troops in the latest incident involving Japanese ever-increasing aggressiveness in the foreign-controlled International Settlement.

The attack took place last night on Brennan Road.

Dahl Reported in Prison for Life

SALAMANCA, Spain, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Harold E. Dahl, 28, former Butler University student, of Champaign, Ill., captured by the Rebels while flying for the Loyalists, is under an automatic sentence of life imprisonment, it was said today.

Lieut. Dahl was sentenced to death last fall but Francisco Franco commuted the sentence.

Italy to Build Two New Battleships

ROME, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—Italy intends to start immediately construction of two 35,000-ton battleships, 12 scout ships and "considerable numbers" of submarines, it was announced today.

Carol Supports Magda Lupescu

VIENNA, Jan. 7 (U. P.).—King Carol of Rumania has reaffirmed his love for Mme. Magda Lupescu, his red-haired half-Jewish sweetheart, despite the accession to office of his new Nationalistic, anti-Jewish Cabinet, it was claimed today in reliable sources.

Informants said that anti-Semitic parties had sought to force King Carol to renounce Mme. Lupescu and that they had definitely failed.

BOB BURNS

Says: HOLLYWOOD,

Jan. 7. — I don't know whether the Hollywood picture actors have improved in the last few years or if I'm just beginning to get acquainted with 'em, but anyhow my estimation of 'em sure has raised. I use 'ta think the picture actors were a pretty soft lot, but I want 'ta tell you, I never saw so many athletes in my life. Among 'em you find the best from every line of sport.

I don't believe sporting blood is admired anywhere in the world more than it is out here. One day Grandpa Snaazy was crossin' Hollywood Boulevard and one of them picture actors run over him with his car. Grandpa got up and told the fella that he wasn't hurt a bit and the fella says "well, now, you certainly are nice about it—it's a real pleasure to knock down a thorough sportsman like you."
