Free Election in Germany Would Oust Nazis, Exile Says

"If the Germans were given the opportunity for a free election they would do away with Nazi rule," Dr. Hans Leonhardt, exiled foe said at the dinner meeting of the Indianapolis Business and Professional Women's Club last night.

Holder of the highest degree in Berlin for private public and international law and economy he was forced to flee because of his political views.

"The United States will have to play its role in the drama of world history," said Dr. Leonhardt. "The democracies must do something in them lies the salvation of the world. They have seen one disaster after another and will see more unless the intelligence and integrity of nations can be respected."

"Money is being poured into rearmament. Millions weekly. The great German puzzle is: Where is it coming from? The tragedy of Europe and the world is that they never can satisfy the dictators."

"Democracy is dead in Danzig," (where he lived for some time), he continued. "The problem of the 'free city' is a grave one. The post is opened and phone wires tapped as in all other areas under the swastika."

Also on last night's program was Emil A. Drach, interviewer for the Indiana State Employment Service, whose topic was "The Society for the Physically Handicapped."

Miss Julia Recker, finance chairman, announced that Miss Rosella Brewer and her Seeing Eye dog will appear at the Nov. 4 meeting. The annual Halloween dance has been set for Oct. 28.

Today's Pattern

Now isn't this something? In fact, it's three perfectly lovely things, for any way you take it—or make it—8326 gives you charming high-shouldered sleeves, soft shirring on the shoulders, and a tiny, tiny waist.

In satin, chiffon or silk crepe, the blouse (slide fastened or buttoned) will be the better half of an extremely smart afternoon costume, whether worn with your suit or a separate skirt.

The dress (slit fastened to the lower edge of the skirt) will be lovely for afternoon, in velvet, thin wool or crepe-satin.

The blouse (slide fastened from neckline to hem) should make you feel like a princess, in velvet, brocade, broadcloth or moire. Make all three.

Pattern 8326 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Size 14 requires for the blouse, 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch material; for the dress, 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material; for the housecoat, 5 1/2 yards of 39-inch material.

To obtain a pattern and step-by-step sewing instructions include 15 cents in coin together with the above pattern number and your size, your name and address and mail to Pattern Editor, The Indianapolis Times, 214 W. Maryland St., Indianapolis, Ind.
