

Double Blast Fired Against Wolff by Local Democrats

New Deal Triumph Is Forecast by Barkley In Gary Talk.

Campaign oratory assumed a Halloween tinge today as Democrats fired a double-barreled attack on Herman C. Wolff, Republican candidate for Mayor.

Circuit Court Judge Earl R. Cox, speaking at a Democratic rally last night at the Sports Arena, asserted that Mr. Wolff began getting "spooks before the eyes" long before the Halloween season opened.

Meanwhile, Mr. Wolff's qualifications to "handle efficiently the second largest corporation in Indiana" were challenged in a statement issued at Democratic headquarters today.

'Rushing Season'

"Mr. Wolff really rushed the season," Judge Cox said at the rally last night. "As soon as the Republican campaign got under way some weeks ago he began seeing ghosts and cobwebs stalking our streets and alleys."

"As the weeks went by the horrors increased for Mr. Wolff. He has been haunted by political bosses, by gangsters, by vice, by corruption, and I don't know what all. Maybe he has been going to too many movies."

"I really am surprised that any of our fellow Hoosiers outstate will come to Indianapolis these days. They probably expect to step over dead and bleeding bodies in the streets and by-ways."

Mr. Cox said he had lived in Indianapolis a long time, adding that "the only complaint I ever had against the place was that at times it was a little dull."

Inexperience Charged

"I must be getting old," he said. "Here the old town fairly is reeking with sin and I am not getting around to gaze upon the orgy. As a judge of one of our courts, I ought to see what is going on."

The statement issued at Democratic headquarters today asserted "the Republican Party is asking the voters to hire a man who has demonstrated that he lacks the necessary qualifications to run the City corporation, which is 10 times larger than any other business in the City."

"No private corporation," the statement continued, "would hire a manager who had no experience in that line of work."

Continuing, the statement said that Reginald H. Sullivan, Democratic nominee for Mayor, had "qualified himself during five years as Mayor to run the City government efficiently."

The State government is the only Indiana corporation larger than the City, according to the statement.

New Deal Aid to Masses Praised by Minton

DECATUR, Oct. 28.—Growth of alien and terrorist doctrines in America has been prevented because the New Deal took an interest in the welfare of the masses, U. S. Senator Minton declared at a Democratic rally here last night.

"If we kept out of people out of work, allowed them to lose their skill and their morale, and maintained them on a dole, so that they ate or starved at a governmental nod, that would be a dangerous policy, threatening the downfall of American institutions," he said.

Declaring that the New Deal had pursued a policy beneficial to the welfare of the large majority, he added:

"Nations that have not achieved any lasting democracy failed in the time of need to care for the idle and the hungry and the homeless. But in America, the land with the best government on earth, we have remained a great democracy because the Government did not fail the people."

Barkley Defends Social Legislation

GARY, Oct. 28.—Democrats of the Calumet District today gained hope from the prediction of Senator Alben Barkley (D. Ky.) that "logic would dictate a Democratic ballot at the polls Nov. 8."

The U. S. Senate majority leader addressed a rally here last night which party leaders estimated was attended by more than 5000.

Defending the Administration's social legislation, the Kentucky Senator said:

"We are endeavoring to safeguard the right of all our people who believe in the theory of Democracy to enjoy as much liberty as is consistent with the general welfare."

"It is because of this we have endeavored to improve the conditions of agriculture and labor, to broaden the markets for the products of American industry and to protect legitimate business from greed and lust."

Shake to Speak At I. U. Convocation

BLOOMINGTON, Oct. 29.—Supreme Court Judge Curtis G. Shake, Vincennes, will present the issues of the present political campaign from the Democratic viewpoint at an Indiana University convocation Wednesday.

Judge Shake, a candidate for reelection, is to speak in accordance with the university's custom of inviting each of the major parties to have one of their spokesmen address a convocation.

Raymond E. Willis, Republican senatorial nominee, recently spoke at the university for his party. President Herman B. Wells will entertain at a luncheon in honor of Judge Shake, as he did for Mr. Willis.

Sullivan Pledges Economical Regime

An economical administration was pledged by Reginald H. Sullivan, Democratic mayoralty nominee, in a campaign address last night at 10th St. and Centennial Ave.

The former Mayor also promised that if he is elected, Indianapolis will be "one of the cleanest cities in the nation."

"Indianapolis is my birthplace, was the birthplace of my father, and my family has resided here more than 100 years," he said.

"It is my home and I take the pride in it that every one takes in it. During our administration of 1937 to 1934 inclusively we devoted ourselves strenuously to a program that would bring credit on ourselves throughout the nation."

"Most members of my administration, like myself, had backgrounds deeply rooted in the history of the City and we put pride of our city above personal consideration."

Must 'Encourage Expansion'

"The way in which our City has bloomed from a physical standpoint in the last eight years has been a source of great satisfaction to me. Boulevards have sprung up where eyesores existed. New traffic thoroughfares have been opened to provide expansion of the City."

"Hundreds of new homes ranging from attractive bungalows for the modest wage earners to palatial residences have been built. Our City is growing rapidly and it must continue to have a City government that will encourage this expansion."

"Economy must and will be the watchword, to the end that we may keep down the taxes for the benefit of property owners and new industries. In recent years we have seen new industries and established industries spend more than 15 million dollars in our City because we had a fine administration to support our other natural advantages."

"We will continue to attract industries which will provide employment and help thousands of those now unemployed to regain their economic independence."

Townsend Asks for Democrat Assembly

Election of a Democratic Legislature today had been asked for by Governor Townsend to assure the continuation of his "security program and the improvement of measures now on the statute books."

The Governor spoke at a rally last night at the Sports Arena, North and Pennsylvania Sts.

"We want to continue our job of making life more secure for the common people, and we cannot do it if the Republicans gain control of the Legislature," he said.

"We know from past experience that the opposition to liberal measures, such as old-age pensions, has come from the Republican membership."

The Governor declared that some of his administration's programs were enacted to meet emergencies and to keep people from starving.

"Now," he added, "the task is to adjust these programs so that those who are receiving their benefits may have greater protection against insecurity and dependency."

September Gain Largest in 3 Years, Townsend Says

WARSAW, Oct. 29.—Gains in employment and payrolls for Indiana last month were the largest for any month in more than three years, Governor Townsend said at a Democratic rally here this afternoon.

He said that increased payrolls means more money in the channels of retail trade. Indiana, as a large producer of food supplies, will be benefited greatly, he said, by the increase in mass purchasing power.

Charges State Costs Are 'Almost Double'

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 29.—Governor Townsend's statement that Indiana is giving more government for the money now than it was in 1932 was denied by James M. Tucker, Republican candidate for Secretary of State, in a talk here last night.

Mr. Tucker said Department of Commerce figures revealed that the per capita cost of the general departments of the State Government had been "almost doubled" during the McNutt and Townsend administrations, adding:

"And yet Governor Townsend, in an address at Bedford the other night, said that the cost of government was being reduced in Indiana."

VICE SQUAD CHARGE DENIED BY CHIEF

Replies to Allegation by Sheriff Ray.

Chief Morrissey denied today that his police vice squad was being used as "a political whip," as charged by Sheriff Ray.

The Sheriff made his charges following the trial of Joe Lynch, poolroom operator and former Democratic ward leader, on a charge of keeping a gaming house. The Sheriff said he was an "interested observer at the trial."

Lynch had been arrested in a raid by Roy Pope Jr., vice squad member.

"Lynch was a ward chairman for the Machine Busters, Inc.," Sheriff Ray said. "He formerly was active as a Democratic worker in his ward, but this fall he is not doing anything politically. It looks to me like someone has been trying to hurt him."

Chief Morrissey said:

"The vice squad is not and never has been used politically since I have been Chief. I didn't even know Lynch was a politician. I do know he ran a poolroom and has been arrested several times before."

Municipal Judge Pro-Tem, Edwin K. Stiers discharged Lynch, declaring, "It's very peculiar that this man should have been brought in without any evidence."

Sergt. Ashley said "the players were using a slip of paper to keep track of bets, and we were not able to get hold of the paper before it disappeared."

Polish Jews in No-Man's Land; King Carol Sets Up Fascism; France Drops League Policy

U. S. Probes Loyalist Plot; Moderate Given Jap Cabinet Post.

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 29 (U. P.).—Premier Daladier's policy of temporarily ignoring the League of Nations and working in accord with Germany and Italy was fully approved today by the annual Radical Socialist Party congress.

A resolution approving the policy was voted after Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet made a speech outlining the Government's aims.

M. Bonnet defended the Government's policy in the Czechoslovak crisis, and its participation in the four-power Munich agreement on Czechoslovakia's dismemberment.

Redefining the Government's policy in light of the crisis, he said that France without abandoning the League of Nations could not continue to base its whole policy on Geneva. On the contrary, he said, the collapse of the collective security system and the League's inability to prevent the Czechoslovak crisis obliged France to seek to reorganize peace among the four Munich powers.

Hope for Co-operation

"The keystone of our policy remains the French-British entente," M. Bonnet said. "But to avoid war for our children we hope that the Munich accord will permit improvement of relations of France with her neighbors."

"We hope that sincere co-operation will be possible with Germany. Normal relations have been re-established with Italy."

Italy and Germany Accept Czech Plea

PRAHA, Oct. 29 (U. P.).—Hungary delivered its reply to Czechoslovakia today, agreeing that Italy and Germany shall arbitrate their minorities dispute.

It means Czechoslovakia and Hungary will await the answer of the axis powers before resuming negotiations. An official statement said the Italian-German reply will form the basis for such negotiations.

Word from Rome was that Italy and Germany already have agreed to the Hungarian-Czechoslovak appeal for arbitration.

U. S. Probes Loyalist Plot to Get Planes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (U. P.).—Secretary of State Hull revealed today that Spanish agents had made two attempts within a year to circumvent the provisions of the Neutrality Act and obtain airplane parts for use in the Spanish Civil War.

One attempt, he said, is being investigated by the Justice Department. It involves a plot by a Spanish Loyalist agent, posing as a representative of the Turkish Government.

Secretary Hull disclosed the details of the two incidents in a denial of a story contained in the Washington Merry-Go-Round, a newspaper column, charging that Joseph Green of the War Munitions Board had refused to issue export licenses in the two instances because the planes "might be going to the Spanish Loyalists."

In a formal statement Secretary Hull said that 50 Grumman pursuit planes were ordered from a Canadian company by an agent of the Spanish Government in Paris who furnished documents "purporting to show that the planes had been purchased by the Turkish Government."

When it was discovered that the parts had been used to fill the Spanish agent's order, the export licenses were revoked, he said, but not before approximately 40 planes had been transhipped from Canada to Spain. Secretary Hull added that the documents presented to the Canadian Government by the purchaser were declared to be forgeries by Turkish officials.

In the second case cited in the newspaper column, Secretary Hull said that several efforts were made to obtain export licenses for 22 Belanca planes ostensibly to Greece. He said that the Greek Government, however, refused to authorize the importation of the planes on grounds that they were destined to Spain. As a result, he added, no export licenses were issued by the Department.

At the same time, Yoshiaki Hata was named Overseas Minister, to succeed Sanyu Otani.

The appointment of Minister Arita was considered a victory for the more moderate elements in the Cabinet as opposed to those who demanded complete domination of China. He served as foreign minister from April, 1936, to February, 1937.

It was a strange coincidence that the new Rumania was proclaimed on the same day that King Carol's proposed visit to Great Britain, the "mother of world democracies," was announced. It was understood that King Carol would go to London about the middle of November, visit three days in his official capacity, and remain another week as a private person.

Rumania's new course was connected intimately with the recent Central European developments. By these events, Czechoslovakia and the democratic western powers lost prestige in Rumania.

Present Government leaders were convinced that Britain and France were unwilling to support Rumania against the so-called "German march to the East," as well as Hungary's revisionist ideas on the partly Hungarian-populated Transylvania territories.

As a result, it was decided, they decided to support Germany's Eastern plans, hoping to obtain German support for the preservation of Rumania's territorial status quo.
