

Jeffrey Challenges Governor On '2 Per Cent' Fund Sources; Willis to Make West Side Talk

Royce Says Sullivan Is Imitating G. O. P.
Opponent.

George R. Jeffrey, Republican candidate for Judge of Superior Court, today challenged Governor Townsend to say whether the Two Per Cent Club profited from the sale of advertisements at $500 each to "The Official Pictorial and Historical Review of Indiana."

Stating in an address last night at 2841 Brookside Ave. that the Governor "was not entirely frank" in a statement of where Democratic campaign funds come from, Mr. Jeffrey read a list of 24 manufacturing firms which he said took advertisements in the publication.

Raymond E. Willis, Republican Senatorial nominee, will come to Indianapolis tomorrow to address West Side Republicans at a meeting at the Hawthorne Community House, 2440 W. Ohio St., at 8 p. m. The nominee has been campaigning in the Calumet district this week in an effort to whittle down reported Democratic strength in that area.

Mr. Willis may stay over in Indianapolis to address the Marion County G. O. P. "victory rally" Friday night in Cadie Tabernacle, where he tentatively is engaged to join the list of candidates and speakers, County leaders said.

The Republican State Committee, however, has scheduled Mr. Willis for a Ft. Wayne address Friday night.

The candidate will make his final campaign in his home town, Angola, Saturday.

Cites Townsend's Statement

Mr. Jeffrey was replying to a statement previously made by the Governor that he was glad the Republicans had brought up the Two Per Cent Club. The Governor had added that the contributions come "from the small donations from many, many people who are sincerely interested in the success of our program."

"The Governor," Mr. Jeffrey said, "has deliberately endeavored to deceive the voters by not making a full statement of the source of income of the Two Per Cent Club. He apparently endeavored to convey the impression that no one contributed to said fund except State employees getting a salary of $100 a month or more."

"I know that one concern, when negotiating for some contract, one of the departments of the State of Indiana, was informed of the advisability of taking advertising space in 'The Official Pictorial and Historical Review of Indiana' at the rate of $500 per page, but that this particular firm did take two pages of space in the book and paid the Two Per Cent Club $1000 therefor."

'Mention of Its Name'

"The only advertising which it, or any of the others received, was a prominent mention of its name in a brief statement of industries and points of interest in each particular county."

"This concern subscribed to and paid for this so-called advertising in the belief that by so doing it would get the contract from the state, which it did."

"I now challenge Governor Townsend to say whether or not the Hoosier Democratic Club (Two Per Cent Club) in collaboration with the Democratic State Committee exacted contributions, under the pretext of advertising."

"The Governor always claims to be a champion of the poor, and the laborer, and leads them to believe that he is only for the working man and is opposed to anyone of great wealth or who makes a large salary."

"He wants the would-be laborer to be satisfied with relief in the form of a WPA job."

Claims Land Purchase

"How does he reconcile this position with the fact that since he has been Governor, a period of less than two years, he has purchased 240 acres of land in Grant County at a purchase price of more than $21,000 and has become one of the substantial land owners in that county?"

"How can he explain the purchase of $21,000 worth of land, which the records show to be clear and without any mortgage thereon, on a salary of $8000 a year, when he has not even been in office two full years?"

Governor Townsend would not comment on the charges, saying he was not interested in "fighting political battles back and forth in newspapers."

A West Side rally is scheduled for tonight at the Lincoln Club, 523 N. Belle View Place. Herman C. Wolff, Mayorial candidate, and Charles W. Jewett, 12th District Congressional nominee, will be the principal speakers.

Five other meetings were scheduled for tonight and eight for tomorrow.

Wolff Encouraged, Sees
Swing to G. O. P.

The belief that Republican candidates rapidly are gaining strength as next Tuesday's election approaches, was expressed today by Herman C. Wolff, Republican Mayorial nominee.

Mr. Wolff, after conference with party leaders, reported in a campaign talk last night at 2408 English Ave. that the 16th Ward may swing to the Republican column.

He said his optimism was based on assurances from ward chairmen and precinct committeemen in all parts of the city.

"My reports are encouraging," he said. "If we don't actually carry the 16th Ward, which has been heavily Democratic, then we'll certainly make decided gains."

'People Want Change'

"This is the situation in nearly every part of the city and county. It's in the air. The trend is definitely to us in these last few days of the campaign. The people want a change."

Expressing the belief that the members of the Police and Fire Departments "are as good as any in the country," Mr. Wolff cited the need for strict law enforcement.

"It must be one of the fundamental duties of the City government at all times and not merely some of the time," he said.

He pledged that if he is elected "the laws and various City ordinances will be enforced upon all alike and there will be no favorites."

"The work of the department," he added, "must not be interfered with by any so-called 'inside or outside' influences. Gambling and vice must be stamped out if we are to protect the youth of our community."

Repeal of the McNutt Reorganization Law, changes in the present liquor control act, and tax reduction were advocated by Charles P. Ehlers, Republican nominee for State Representative at the meeting.

Sullivan Imitating
Wolff, Says Royce

The accusation that Reginald H. Sullivan, Democratic Mayorial nominee, has been imitating the program of his Republican opponent, Herman C. Wolff, was made last night by Wilbur A. Royce in a Republican campaign speech.

Mr. Royce, G. O. P. nominee for Judge of Superior Court, spoke at a Third Ward rally. He said Mr. Sullivan had "persistently espoused every plan or idea advocated by Herman C. Wolff," adding that during the five years Mr. Sullivan was Mayor, he "took no steps to bring about the city manager government for the City."

"Just as soon as Herman Wolff advocated the adoption of this plan," Mr. Royce said, "Mr. Sullivan promptly declared he was for the city manager form of government."

"When Herman Wolff told of his program for bringing new industry to Indianapolis, Mr. Sullivan immediately declared that he would endeavor to bring new plants here."

"And again when Mr. Wolff declared his intention to clean up this city," Mr. Sullivan said "me, too."

Asserting that the "Clauer forces recognize that the tide of public opinion is against them," Mr. Royce charged that "in desperation they are resorting to every trick and artifice to camouflage the real issue in this campaign."

Haerle Pledges to Work With Juvenile Court

The charge that "nothing has been done" to keep minors out of taverns and gambling dens was leveled at City and County authorities today by Edwin Haerle, Republican candidate for Prosecutor.

Mr. Haerle told a meeting at 2245 E. Riverside Drive last night that although no attempt was being made "to eliminate these evils, yet there is a great hue and cry from the opposition that they are promoting the welfare of all the people."

"Such a contention," he said, "is absurd in the face of the record of their administration. I intend to strike a blow directly at the source of this evil."

"I will co-operate with the Juvenile Court and other authorities in the investigation of every case of juvenile delinquency."

At a meeting held at a meeting here last night, the nominee said that the superintendent's office should be taken out of politics by appointing the official through the State Board of Education.

ELWOOD, Nov. 2.—William O. Nelson, 11th District Republican Congressional candidate, today viewed events in Europe and the proposed visit of the British King and Queen to Canada as "first moves in the great game of luring Uncle Sam and his pocketbook into the troubles of the Old World."

Speaking at a rally last night at 2245 E. Riverside Drive, Mr. Weddle said: "Republican candidates for the Legislature have outlined their opposition to the present liquor control racket, the repeal of the dictatorial-state reorganization act, reducing taxes, but their opponents have been entirely silent upon these and other issues. They are strait-jacketed controlled by this powerful political machine and they don't dare open their mouths."

HAMMOND, Nov. 2.—Four New Deal leaders speaking in Indiana this week could not "probably won't" tell Indiana farmers "how much Southern corn acreage has been increased recently," Raymond E. Willis, G. O. P. Senatorial nominee, said here last night.

Mr. Willis said he referred to Rep. William D. Bankhead (D. Ala.), speaker of the House; Rep. Luther Patrick (D. Ala.), Senator Connally (D. Tex.) and Governor Rivers of Georgia.

"Senator Connally, for instance, could give the Indiana farmers a vivid picture of the corn carnival that was held recently in his state in celebration of the tremendous increase in corn production in Texas."

"Mr. Bankhead and Rep. Patrick could tell Indiana farmers that corn acreage in Alabama was increased by nearly 700,000 acres in 1937 while Indiana farmers were being ordered to cut their own acreage approximately 1,000,000 acres."

Governor Rivers might be real frank with those who hear him. He could do a little boasting about how Georgia increased its corn acreage more than a million acres after its cotton production was killed and it was encouraged to go into competition with the corn belt farmers."

Urges Willis' Election To Increase Jobs

NORTH VERNON, Nov. 2 (U. P.).—The relief problem of the nation must be met by re-employing relief recipients in private industry at living wages, Homer E. Capehart, wealthy Buffalo, N. Y., industrialist, told a Republican rally last night.

Election of Raymond E. Willis, Republican Senatorial nominee, and Clifford H. Long, Ninth District Congressional candidate, would support such a program, he said.

NORTH VERNON, Nov. 2.—Norman J. Lasher, Republican candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, today had advocated that this office should be made appointive.

In an address at a meeting here last night, the nominee said that the superintendent's office should be taken out of politics by appointing the official through the State Board of Education.

G. O. P. IS AIDING ITS CANDIDATES, REPORTS SHOW

Hoosier Democrats Donate To Party Fund, Expense Statements Reveal.

Times Special

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—While Republican Congressional candidates in Indiana drew rather liberal sums from the G. O. P. coffers, Democrats were assessed by the party organization, their campaign reports revealed today.

The reports were to have been filed with the reported offices of the House and Senate 10 days before the election, but many are not yet in from the Congressional districts and nothing is ever done about the law, anyway, so far as anyone at the Capitol building knows.

Rep. Louis Ludlow got his report in on time but his Republican opponent in the Twelfth District, Charles Jewett, did not. Mr. Ludlow reported that he has received no contributions and expended $673.45, of which $500 went to the Marion County Democratic Committee.

Rep. William E. Larrabee of the Eleventh District had not yet filed, but his Republican opponent, William O. Nelson, reported contributions of $2351.75 and expenditures of $2297.66.

In the First District, Rep. William T. Schultz reported no contributions and expenditures of $482.75, of which $450 went to the Lake County Democratic Committee.

Halleck Makes Report

Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R.), Second District, reported $1200 in contributions and expenditures of $1266.25. Two $500 contributions came from the National Republican Congressional Campaign Committee and $150 from the Indiana State Republican Committee, the report shows.

Henry W. Marshall, Lafayette publisher and old-time power in G. O. P. politics, contributed $50. Mr. Halleck gave $200 to the Second District Republican Committee and a total of $650 to the 13 county committees in the district.

George N. Beamer, Third District Democratic candidate, received $1283.95 and spent $1391.63, his report shows.

Rep. James I. Farley (D.), Fourth District, reported $1100 in contributions and expenditures of $1710.40. William Kunkle, Bluffton, contributed $200 to the Farley campaign.

George W. Gilles, Fourth District Republican candidate, listed $1244.90 contributed and $1238.11 expended. On July 25 he received $500 from the National Republican Congressional Campaign Committee and another $500 on Aug. 12, he reported.

Griswold Spends $724

Rep. Glenn Griswold, (D.) Fifth District, reported $724.05 in expenditures and no contributions. His Republican opponent, Forrest A. Eames, listed $2651.87 contributions and $2182.97 expenditures. He received two $500 contributions from the National Congressional Campaign Committee and $50 from the State committee. Through the Grant County Republican Committee he donated $48.57 to Advertising Service, Inc., he stated.

Gerald W. Landis, Seventh District Republican candidate, reported $734 contributed of which $500 was from the National Campaign Committee. The veteran Seventh District Democratic congressman, Arthur Greenwood, (D.) had not yet filed.

In the Eighth District, Rep. John W. Boehne Jr., (D.), reported no contributions and expenditures of $537, of which $475 went to Democratic county committees in the district. The Vanderburgh County committee received $250, and $25 each went to the Posey, Warrick, Pike, Spencer, Perry, Dubois, Crawford, Harrison and Ploy County committees, the report shows.

Clifford H. Long, Ninth District Republican candidate, received $250 and spent $107.50, he reported.

Springer Gets $1000

Rep. Finly H. Gray (D.), 10th District, listed no contributions and $1614.27 expenditures. His Republican opponent, Raymond S. Springer, received $1000 and spent $1085.16, his report shows. The National Campaign Committee sent him $500 in July and another $500 in August, he reported.

Congressmen and candidates not mentioned have not yet filed their reports.

The Republicans received from their party organization while the Democrats donated also was shown in the reports of the two Senatorial candidates.

While Senator VanNuy gave the Democratic State Committee a total of $3000 of his own funds and received but $500 from the National Republican Congressional Committee, Raymond E. Willis, his Republican opponent, received $3000 from the Republican National Senatorial Campaign Committee and made no party donations at all, according to his report.
