

PROPOSED BILL AIMS AT FINDING NEW COAL USES

Rep. Fries of Illinois Asks
Research Laboratories
Be Established.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (U. P.).—Rep. Frank W. Fries (D., Ill.) revealed today he plans to introduce a bill for construction of research laboratories looking toward development of new uses of coal.

Rep. Fries said he hoped to develop new methods of obtaining power from coal and would seek to have the laboratories undertake work along other lines such as development of coal by-products for road building.

Rep. Fries said he hoped that if the bill was passed, the first such laboratories would be established in his own Congressional district, centering around Springfield, Ill. Thereafter, he said, the stations would be constructed in other coal mining areas throughout the Nation.

"Authoritative sources," Rep. Fries said, "advise that power can be produced from coal at a minimum cost. Such production would in turn rehabilitate the coal industry, and give employment to the hundreds of thousands of coal miners who have been denied work through the efficient mechanization of the coal industry."

"Research laboratories in conjunction with a power plant which will produce power from coal, will make it possible for us to employ millions of people who are now unemployed."

INSURANCE IS GIVEN TO ROOSEVELT FIRM

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (U. P.).—The insurance brokerage firm of Roosevelt & Sargent, Inc., of which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a director, has arranged the insurance on the Pan-American Airways planes being built for trans-Atlantic service.

John A. Sargent, president of the firm, said that each of the nine planes under construction had been insured for more than $500,000. Each will cost about $675,000.

The insurance coverage probably will be spread over several companies, with the Roosevelt firm writing about 50 per cent.

3 ARE EXECUTED DESPITE MERCY PLEA OF 30,000

Governor Lehman Spurns
Petitions for Boys Who Killed Policeman.

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 27 (U. P.).—Three youths from New York's lower East Side were executed last night.

They had killed a policeman. Thirty thousand persons had petitioned Governor Lehman to be merciful on grounds that they had grown up in the squalor of the slums and "never had a chance."

The Governor didn't agree. Twelve hours earlier he had commuted to life imprisonment the sentences of the trio's companions, Philip Chaleff, 27, and Isidore Zimmerman, 21, strictly on the facts of the case. He said there was reasonable doubt of the degree of their guilt.

Dominick Guariglia, 19, publicized 10 years ago by a settlement house as a typical child of the slums; Arthur Friedman, 22, and Joseph O'Loughlin, 24, died one after the other in Sing Sing Prison's electric chair.

Killed Detective in '37
They killed Detective Michael Foley during a holdup in New York City in 1937.

The mothers of all five attended a clemency hearing before Governor Lehman.

Friedman went first, entering the execution chamber quietly, eyes closed, accompanied by a rabbi. Guariglia, who was 17 when Foley was killed, carried a picture into the chamber. Smiling, he kissed the Crucifix and then turned to one of the guards and said, "I'm pretty young to have to die."

O'Loughlin walked into the room with the Rev. Fr. John McCaffrey, Catholic chaplain, who handed him a Crucifix. He kissed it and said, "With a smile, father." He faced the witnesses and said: "I'm glad the other boys got a break."

He sat down, was strapped in. His last words, to Executioner Robert Elliot, were, "Let her go, Bob."

The circuit was closed and he died. Chaleff, a diabetic, had been kept alive for months with insulin.

The mothers of those who died did not visit them in the death house for a last farewell.

HOOSIER WRITES NOTES AT TRIAL

Rex Bush, Mentone, Accused Of Slaying Ohio Marshal.

FREMONT, O., Jan. 27 (U. P.).—Twenty-year-old Rex Bush, of Mentone, Ind., whose brother and sister are Bible students in Chicago, took notes today at his trial for the slaying of Marshal Neal D. Fowler of Clyde and was comforted by his mother who sat near him in court.

A tentative jury of 12 men, all married but one, was seated. County Prosecutor A. L. Hyzer and W. J. Mead, defense counsel, began use of their peremptory challenges, and it was expected that most of the present jury panel might be dismissed.

Young Bush followed closely the proceedings yesterday as jurors were chosen. He wore the blue trousers and blue sweater which were in his suitcase when he was captured after Marshal Fowler was shot fatally in chasing him after a 73-cent garage holdup.

Mr. Hyzer said he was prepared to ask the death penalty. Mr. Mead was reported planning an insanity defense.

Bush at the time told authorities he killed Mr. Fowler by shooting him in the face and neck with a sawed-off shotgun.

The youth's father has been an invalid for years and his mother has worked to support the family.
