on the European situation. It was not known when he would appear. The Committee was expected to conclude its investigation of French plane purchases with the appearance of Secretary Morgenthau and Wooding and then take up the $76 million dollar emergency national defense bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate yesterday.

The House bill, authorizing an increase of Army air strength from 2230 to 5500 planes, was passed by a vote of 387 to 15. Fourteen Republicans and one Democrat voted against it.

The Committee adopted a resolution by Senator Bridges (R. N. H.) asking for Ambassador Wilson's appearance. Senator Bridges said he had reason to doubt that Mr. Wilson's opinions would coincide with those of the ambassadors to Great Britain and France, Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, who told the committee last month that they anticipated a general European war this spring.

Republican Congressional leaders have demanded to know why Mr. Wilson was not summoned before the Committee at that time. He is in Florida now but he was in Washington then, having been recalled by Mr. Roosevelt last fall from Berlin for "report and discussion." Germany subsequently recalled its Ambassador.

Rep. Cox Warns Of 'Taking Sides'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (U. P.).—Rep. E. E. Cox (D. Ga.) in a speech prepared for delivery in the House today, condemned the Administration's "internationalistic" foreign policy and said that if the United States "take sides" in world affairs "we may be embarked upon a journey that will lead us directly into another world war."

Rep. Cox pleaded for Administration-Congressional co-operation on foreign policy and said that "there should be no more secrecy about the conduct of our foreign relations than is absolutely essential to the national welfare."

Morgenthau Aid's Resignation Accepted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (U. P.).—President Roosevelt today accepted the resignation of Wayne C. Taylor as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, effective Feb. 28.

Injunction Granted On Wage-Hour Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (U. P.).—The Wage-Hour Administration announced today it had obtained an injunction restraining an employer from alleged violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act which has been in effect since Oct. 24.

The decree, signed by Federal District Judge George C. Scott, enjoined the Powers Manufacturing Co., Waterloo, Iowa, from paying employees less than 25 cents an hour and from shipping its products in interstate commerce until the legal minimum wage is paid.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (U. P.).—Senator Lee (D. Okla.) introduced today a domestic allotment bill designed to guarantee farmers a "fair" price for cotton and wheat consumed in the United States.

The Sugar Water Is Running—It's Spring on Hoosier Farms

The sap is gathered . . . And hauled to the sirup house . . . Where it is boiled to sirup . . . ready for sale.

Maple Sirup Year's First Harvest—Hard Work, Too

By JOE COLLIER, Times Staff Writer

RUSSELLVILLE, Feb. 16.—Sugar water is running in the maple trees and that means spring has come to the Hoosier farm.

It may be spring in the city only when the weather warms up enough to make it pleasant to be outside and a park bench invites a person to take a comfortable nap.

But to the farmer, that season has arrived when the earth gets soft, and the meadow brook steals like a burglar through the winter ice and the maple sap runs.

It's time then to get out in the woods and tap the trees, collect and boil the sap into sirup. That's just what many Indiana farmers now are doing, including Ray McGaughey, who lives near here.

Ray says that a lot of persons, including his father, used to tap the maple trees by the signs of the moon. Although they seemed to get along all right, Ray and others like him have gone left far enough simply to tap the trees when the sap begins to run. They get along all right, too.

Other Signs of Spring

Among other signs of spring on Ray's farm is a noticeable preference on the part of sheep to eat their afternoon hay in the barnyard rather than in the barn and a disposition on the part of King, the collier, to chase exuberantly horses at pasture, without rhyme or reason.

Maple sirup is the first harvest of the year. This year it has been good so far. In Ray's case, as in the case of many Hoosier landowners, the woods and pasture lands are generously dotted with sugar-producing maples, not by chance, but by design.

The first owners of the land planted and encouraged the growth of maple trees because from them only, in most cases, came the family supply of sugar.

They used to make a barrel of sugar from these trees," Ray said. And today, Ray and hundreds like him make the sirup according to the methods of their fathers, who, like as not, acquired the farms on land granted by the Government.

"That's the way they went about it," Ray explains when he's asked why his particular camp is divided into five "runs," or collecting routes, and why the trails that lead over the hills and into the bare February winds were laid out as they are.

The five "runs" weave around over about 370 acres of wood and pasture lands. Each of them is about a mile long and sap is col-

PRESSURE FROM STATES DELAYS TAX ON BONDS

Senate Group Expected to Approve Levy on Salaries.

By LEE G. MILLER, Times Special Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A well-organized fight put up by state officials has endangered President Roosevelt's chances of ending tax exemption of public bonds at this session of Congress, it appeared today.

Senator Brown (D. Mich.), chairman of a Special Senate Committee which has been studying the subject, admitted that he had not yet decided for or against the President's proposal of a "short and simple statute" making income from future public bond issues taxable.

The Committee, which is concluding its hearings today with rebuttal testimony by Government officials in support of the President's plan, will then begin its private deliberations preliminary to drafting a report to the Senate. It must report by March 1.

Senator Brown said the Committee would make recommendation "right away" on the less controversial proposal to abolish tax exemptions of Federal, state and local salaries. The Senate Finance Committee is awaiting this recommendation before acting on the bill for this purpose which the House passed a week ago, 269-103.

Legal Status Disputed

But on the matter of abolishing tax exemption for securities, which numerous state officials attacked before the Committee last week as both uneconomic and unconstitutional, Senator Brown said: "This is one of the nicest legal questions I've ever encountered. I confess I have been unable to make up my mind."

The doctrine of tax immunity did not arise from any provision in the Constitution, but from a decision by Chief Justice Marshall based on the general plan of the Constitution.

"And then if you approach the question on the basis of the language of the 10th (income-tax) amendment, without considering how the courts have construed that amendment, the power to tax seems to be there. But the courts have ruled otherwise."

"It is very difficult to reach a conclusion."

Some Justice department officials conceded privately that they were dubious about the prospects for obtaining the statute sought by the President. But they expressed confidence that if such a law were obtained the Supreme Court would uphold it, overruling ancient precedents.

One factor against the proposed statute is the confidential report prepared by the staff of the Joint Congressional Committee on Taxation, which advised that it would be unconstitutional to abolish by statute the tax immunity of either public bonds or public salaries.

Besides Senator Brown, the committee members are Senators Byrd (D. Va.), Logan (D. Ky.), Miller (D. Ark.), Townsend (D. Del.) and Austin (R. Va.).

'Hundred Days' Widens Democratic Party Rift

8-Year Dominance Tested By Congress-White House Dispute.

By THOMAS L. STOKES, Times Special Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—One hundred days have elapsed since the November election. As far as the Democratic Party is concerned, this period might be described aptly as "The Hundred Days' War."

Fighting among Democrats is nothing new, but now it has reached a stage of bitterness where sideline observers are beginning to forecast that, if continued, it will drive them from power in 1940.

Vastly different was the dazzling "first hundred days," after the New Deal took over the Government on March 4, 1933. President Roosevelt, then at the head not only of a triumphant and unified party but a united nation, led Congress through a dizzy pace of legislation — to save the banking structure, to open up work opportunities for the jobless through NRA, to bolster up the agriculture structure through AAA.

The President eventually found himself at war with the conservatives in his own party. But he was able to whip them into line, and to hold the party together on major issues, as a result of the electoral mandates of 1934 and 1936 which showed Congress what the people at home thought of the President.

Election Emphasized Split

The November election saw the first Democratic backslide in eight years—for their march to power started in 1930 when they captured the House, greatly increased their strength in the Senate and helped to discredit Herbert Hoover and the Republican Party.

What has happened since, the straining between the White House and Congress, develops from that election and the interpretations of its meaning.

Conservative Democrats translated the Republican gains as indicating that the people wanted a slowing down of reforms. There was no better public expression on this than the desertion of numerous Eastern and Midwestern lawmakers on the first real issue between the President and Congress—the Emergency Relief Bill.

While Mr. Roosevelt in his annual message to Congress set as his objective the tightening up of the Administration of certain agencies and the revision of some measures, he stood pat on fundamentals.

His political objective, as he set forth in his Jackson Day speech, was to keep up the fight to liberalize the party. He went so far as to express his willingness to have conservatives leave the fold. He revealed that he had withdrawn not a whit from his "purge" program of the primary, which failed so miserably in its immediate objectives.

Appointments Uncompromising

This is the line he has followed since.

He revealed it in the nature of his important appointments, recognizing true and tried New Dealers such as Harry L. Hopkins, Frank Murphy, Felix Frankfurter, and reaching over to the left for Thomas Amle, and by the fight he sought to make on the anti-New Deal Glass-Byrd Virginia machine through another appointment.

Similarly, he is found fighting back at Congress on the relief issue.

INSURANCE LINK TO BANK BACKED

Mutual President Points to Safeguard of Dual Directorates.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER, Times Special Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (U. P.).—David F. Houston, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, told the Monopoly Investigating Committee today that interlocking directorates influenced deposits of the company in banks.

He defended the action and said that directors who also were connected with banks in which deposits were made would take an interest to safeguard the insurance company's funds.

He said that the interlocking directorates were not a deciding factor, and that the decision to make a deposit in a given bank was controlled "by the fact that we regard it (the bank) as safe."

Gerhard Gesell, Securities and Exchange Commission counsel, introduced testimony to show that several directors of the insurance company had solicited deposits for banks with which they were connected.

TVA and Memphis Buy New Utility

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 16 (U. P.).—Another competing private utility has been removed from the area served by the Tennessee Valley Authority today when Memphis Power & Light Co. agreed to sell its electric and gas properties to the city and TVA for $17,360,000.

The Memphis company is owned by National Power & Light, a subsidiary of Electric Bond & Share Co. The agreement, reached at 3:30 a. m., ended a four-year fight by the city to acquire properties of the company. It followed by only two weeks the $78,600,000 deal by which TVA will purchase all electric properties in Tennessee owned by Commonwealth & Southern Corp. The city will pay $15,250,000 and TVA $2,110,000 of the purchase price.

Bill to Revive PWA Rumored

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—An official of the Public Works Administration has discussed with members of Congress a plan for extending the PWA program with a $500 million dollar appropriation, it was learned today.

One account was that Rep. Fritz Lanham (D. Tex.), chairman of the Public Buildings and Grounds Committee, would introduce the bill.

Rep. Lanham admitted he had heard the suggestion and said he was going to talk with some PWA men today. He said he would have to know all the terms of the proposed measure before making his name to it.

Cinderella Stops Off for Pause That Refreshes Us

On duty, but bound for New York and what promises to be a glamorous adventure, Mae Leslie, American Airlines stewardess, stopped a moment at Municipal Airport here today.

She will make her debut to New York society under the sponsorship of Peter Arno, cartoonist, and other celebrities as the "Cinderella Girl" for the month of February.

She will make her bow at a formal party in Chez Firehouse that will be attended by scores of prominent New Yorkers. Since early last week she has been the center of a swirl of activities.

Miss Leslie is 26, a blue-eyed brunette, five feet, five inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. She was born in Antler, N. D., took her nurse's training at St. Andrews Hospital, Gt. Ouse, N. D. She joined American Airlines in 1935.

SENATOR KING CALLS M'NUTT 'ABLE MAN'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (U. P.).—Senator King (D. Utah) today described Paul V. McNutt, High Commissioner to the Philippines, as an "able man" and said he "would not be adverse" to his nomination as Democratic Presidential candidate.

"He is a fine and able man," Senator King said. "I wouldn't be adverse to seeing him nominated for the Presidency."

"Of course, there are others I would prefer, but I would prefer seeing him nominated than one of those rabid New Dealers."

Some of those "preferred" by King were Vice President Garner, the Secretary of State Hull and Senator Clark (D. Mo.).
