

Fashions of Tomorrow Feature Dance Tonight Of Nursery Auxiliary

New York World Fair to Be Theme at Woodstock Club; Many Dinner Parties To Precede Event.

By VIRGINIA MOORHEAD MANNON

The New York World's Fair that gave the Time Capsule to posterity and "Democracy" (the city of tomorrow) will stamp its towering trylon-perisphere trademark on local social life tonight. To raise funds for the Indianapolis Day Nursery the Indianapolis Day Nursery Junior Auxiliary is to sponsor a "World of Tomorrow" dance at Woodstock Club.

The William H. Block Co. is to stage a spring fashion show at 10:30 p. m. with several Auxiliary members and their friends as models. A special added attraction will be the modeling of copies of the functional "Clothes of Tomorrow" created for Vogue Magazine by American industrial designers. Miss Nancy Sowell, an Auxiliary member, is the local "couteriere" who conducted the experiments in sartorial prophecy. The triangular obelisk and sphere will provide the theme for the dance decorations and large fair posters will ornament the ballroom walls.

Among the hostesses for dinner parties preceding the dance will be the Misses Josephine Mayer and Prudence Brown who will have as their guests at Woodstock the Misses Barbara Stafford, Mary Sheerin Kuhn and Betsy Home and Messrs. Robert Smith, Alfred Stokely, John C. Appel, Sylvester Johnson Jr. and William Diven of Anderson.

Dining with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Hanna will be Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hollett Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Shea and Dr. and Mrs. James Collins. Mr. and Mrs. H. Foster Clippinger and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Morrison Jr. will attend the dance after the Symphony.

Miss Messick to Entertain

Miss Elizabeth Messick will entertain informally at her home before giving a dinner at Woodstock for the Misses Rosalie Hall, Jane Shideler, Doris Wheeler, Virginia Mary Wheeler, Mary Ellen Voyles and Jane Allison and Messrs. Donald Duck, Herbert Hunt, Daniel Taylor, Hubert Dirks, Edward W. Harris Jr., John Messick Jr. and George Guckenberger of Cincinnati. Others joining them at dinner Dutch treat will be the Misses Betty Hammerstad, Agnes Caldwell, Betty Jane Sharp, Ann Holmes, Harriet Jane Holmes and Nora Schiltges and Messrs. Paul Scheuring, Thomas Billings, Maurice Boyd, George Smith, Richard Millard, David Baker and William Fink.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Booser will have as their dinner guests Messrs. and Mesdames Claud C. Jones Jr., Frank S. Dowling, Thornton Sterrett, Roy C. Rain, Donald Teelor of Hagerstown and Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Hamilton of Richmond. Miss Shirley Sarsfield, Butler Relays queen, will attend the dance with Robert Hoover.
