Voters League Will Tour City Hall Tomorrow

The Indianapolis League of Women Voters will tour City Hall tomorrow for a "look-in" on municipal government.

The tour follows a class on the theory and practice of government conducted last week by Mrs. Frank H. Cox.

Subsequent tours are to be made through the Police Department, City Hospital, Lockfield Gardens, City Garage, sewage disposal plant and parks. County, township, state and Federal Government are to be studied and trips conducted for the observation of their operation.

Trade Agreements Given Support

Attacks upon the United States Reciprocal Trade Agreements program are being opposed by the Indiana League of Women Voters, according to Mrs. Leonard Smith, chairman of the organization's foreign policy department. Mrs. Smith gives as the most important reason for support of the program: "It is of great advantage to the consumer and it improves our relations with other nations at a time when international relations are strained and economic nationalism appears to be on the increase."

The League of Women Voters believes that the scientific adjustment of tariffs under the Reciprocal Trade Program, which minimizes the log rolling in behalf of special protection, makes possible the elimination of unnecessary tariff protection of tariff schedules. Under the present trade program, Congress has defined the broad basis of our foreign trade policy and has rightly left to experts the negotiations of trade agreements designed to promote and protect American trade interests."

Girl Pupils Eager to Display Colorful Skating Costumes at Mrs. Gates' Dancing Party

By VIRGINIA MOORHEAD MANNON

Twenty young feminine members of Mrs. William Byram Gates' Saturday morning dancing class are awaiting with great eagerness the evening of April 3 when they actually may wear their lime green duvetyne skating costumes.

Last week they stood patiently for measurements and interminable fittings of the dresses to be worn in the single ballet number at Mrs. Gates' ninth annual spring party at the Murat Temple ballroom. Reminiscent of the gaslit era (circa 1900) are the fitted basque waists, leg-omnium sleeves and full skirts with enormous crinoline bustles (made to bulge with paper stuffing). The slashed lower edges of the basques are trimmed with bands of brown caracul which matches the dainty muffs and stoles. Jaunty green caps adorned with flowers complete the costumes to be worn by the Misses Carl Arnholter, Rosann Borinstein, Caroline Crom, Suzanne Frenzel, Mary Harrell, Martha Heath, Jewel Jean Lain, Frances Lurvey, Sally McBride, Rosalie McKee, Ann Parry, Sally Page, Rulda Pfaff, Helen Rogers, Maryanne Scheidehelm, Ann Spalding, Marilyn Wiegand, Kay Stevenson, Ellen and Virginia Hill.

Nancy Briggs as a boy skater will appear in toast-colored duvetyne slacks topped with a brown Eton jacket with Buster Brown collar and scarlet bow tie. Emily Flickinger will be the comic "awkward" skater.

Girls to Do Hungarian Dance

Following the grand march at 8 o'clock the Misses Flickinger and Alice Greer will appear in an Hungarian dance and Miss Elizabeth Weiss will do a solo to the strains of "The Blue Danube." Demonstrating the ballroom foxtrot will be the Misses Sally Stokely, Caroline Houser and Joan Pile and Messrs. Vincent Allg, Neal Randolph and Stewart Tompkins. Next on the program will be a march by the Misses Briggs, Weiss, Flickinger, Greene, Leora Wood, Helen Rudessill and Ann Browning. Miss Barbara Brown is to dance the cardas.

Executing the lissome ballroom conga and rumba will be the Misses Marjorie Home, Betty Lee Washburn, Maryanne Zinn, Joan Welch, Alice Gates and Anne Atkins and Messrs. Bruce Hilkene, George Finney, Burton Randolph, Edward Porter, John Jameson and Philip Brown. Miss Wood will appear in Romance and Miss Briggs will do a solo tap routine. Miss Florence Mouch and Jack Jelliffe will demonstrate the ballroom waltz and Miss Rudessill will dance the Aragonaise. Following the ice skaters' ballet Miss Sally Ballard and Sheldon Sayles are to dance the tango. The Misses Brown, Wood, Rudessill, Flickinger, Weiss, Greene and Browning are to appear in the Dance of the Leaves and Valie Garrett will do a solo doll dance.

Boys to Take Camping Trip

Exciting preparations are under way to satisfy the spring wanderlust of six young men. No city clothes will crowd their duffel bags for it's to be 10 days of fields, sea and the open road.

With Herbert A. Sweet, Orchard School faculty member who conducts the Little Acorn summer camp, Perry Lesh Jr., Victor Jose, Arthur Gipe, Kurt Vonnegut Jr., Phil Huxton and Benjamin N. Hitz Jr., are to leave Saturday morning for a camping trip in the South. They will travel in Mr. Sweet's station wagon, cook their own meals and (best of all) sleep out at night.

As fruits of a successful charitable project the Indianapolis Day Nursery Junior Auxiliary will contribute $400 to the nursery from proceeds of the "World of Tomorrow" dance sponsored by the auxiliary March 18 at Woodstock Club.

Mrs. Robert Kerr Black is here from Virginia for a visit with her mother, Mrs. A. R. Holliday, at her home in Golden Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Gerry M. Sanborn are back after spending the winter at Miami Beach.

Evans Woollens And Mrs. Bennet Remain in South

By HELEN WORDEN
Times Special Writer

NEW YORK, March 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lord of Englewood, N. J., are still wearing the tan they acquired in South Carolina early this month. They spent two weeks in Georgetown, about 80 miles up the coast from Charleston.

Mrs. Lord's mother, Mrs. Harry Bennet, formerly of Indianapolis, won't return North until April 10. She and the Evans Woollens of Indianapolis have been staying at the Three Toms Inn at Thomasville, Ga.

Mr. Fletcher Recovering

Mathews Fletcher, formerly of Indianapolis, is recovering after his recent operation at the New York Hospital, reports Mrs. Norman Cook of Englewood. She and Mrs. Fletcher, who is registered at the Hotel Fairfax, have been seeing each other frequently since Mr. Fletcher's illness. The Fletchers hope to return to their home in Memphis next month.

Mrs. Cook received a postcard yesterday from the Walter Witts, formerly of Indianapolis. "They sailed from Vancouver last October and are now in Rome. Before returning late in April to New York, where they make their home, they will visit Paris and London."

Hopes for Fair Visitors

For the last year Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. Alfred F. Foltz, has been living with her in Englewood. She formerly resided in Indianapolis.

"I'm hoping a lot of Indianapolis people will come on for the Fair," said Mrs. Orren Ragsdale the other day. Since moving away from Indianapolis she and her husband have been living in the Beechwood Apartments in Summit, N. J.
