

SCHOOL GROUPS APPEAR BEFORE MIDWEST MEET

Pupils Demonstrate Activities for Physical Education Delegates.

Convention headquarters of the Midwest Physical Education Association moved temporarily from the Claypool Hotel to the Athenaeum today as Indianapolis school children assisted in practical demonstrations of teaching programs.

These demonstrations were of folk and modern dancing, polyrhythms, mat stunts, apparatus activities, squad work and games. They were arranged by Mrs. Irma Richards, Broad Ripple High School; Alvin Roemer, Manual High School; Mabel Loehr, Washington High School; Reuben Behlner, Technical High School; Mrs. Clara L. Hartney, Normal College; A. G. U. Chumney, Marshall Abraham Lincoln Junior High School, and Louise Schulmer, Butler University.

Afternoon sessions held at the Claypool will feature a series of round table discussions on camping, city directors, curriculum, dance, health education, men's and women's athletics, public schools, recreation, safety, research, teacher training and therapeutics.

Ohio Professor on Program

Dr. Gustav Eckstein, University of Cincinnati professor, will speak at a banquet tomorrow night on "In the Athenaeum Stadium."

Yesterday, parents were advised to let a baby wiggle and squirm as much as he pleases and to handle the child as little as possible.

"The factor of greatest importance in infancy is that the little body be allowed to move itself and not be continually handled by adults," Josephine L. Rathbone, Teachers College, Columbia University, said.

Let 'Em Skate, Parents Told

During the primary school period, a child needs a great deal of skipping for elevation, a great deal of hanging for trunk development and a great deal of balancing, she said.

For proper development of grace and poise, children should be allowed to skate as much as possible, parents were advised.

Joseph A. Freiberg, director of orthopedic service in the College of Medicine, University of Cincinnati, said the familiar "charley-horse" a tearing of muscle fibers, should be treated by applying ice bags until the bleeding into the muscle has been controlled. The muscle should then be taped in a position of relaxation and rested 10 days.

FUGITIVE'S 14 YEARS OF FREEDOM ENDED

DETROIT, March 31 (U. P.)—Lee Stephens, 35, who lived as a respected citizen for 14 years, was to be back today in an Ohio State reformatory from which he escaped in 1925. An extradition order was approved March 3 by the late Gov. Frank Fitzgerald.

Stephens had only two months to serve when he walked away from an honor camp at Sandusky, O. He came to Detroit and married, living quietly without detection for 14 years. More than 100 persons in his neighborhood appealed to Governor Fitzgerald to permit Stephens to remain in Detroit. Police said Stephens' identity was disclosed by a friend.

BORSALINO, HATMAKER, DEAD
ALESSANDRIA, March 31 (U. P.)—Senator Teresio Borsalino, world-famous hatmaker, was dead today. During his career he donated more than three million dollars to charity.

Death Trap

Elk Caught Between Icy River and Canyon Wall Starves.

MONTROSE, Col., March 31 (U. P.)—A big Rocky Mountain cow elk died of starvation on a ledge in Black Canyon where it had been trapped by spring floods.

The elk perished while a rescue party was en route to the scene yesterday.

The animal presumably had gained the rocky shelf before the spring breakup of the Gunnison River. A precipitous mountain wall on one side and the ice-choked Gunnison River on the other left it stranded.

A train crew on a narrow gauge railroad that runs up the canyon saw the elk and the rescue party was organized. But a track inspector for the railroad reported that it was too late.

HITLER'S 'PENNILESS' DAYS ARE DESCRIBED

NEW YORK, March 31 (U. P.)—The New Republic published today the first of three articles entitled "I Was Hitler's Buddy," by Reinhold Hanisch, who described himself as Herr Hitler's closest friend in 1909 when he said both were penniless residents of Vienna's Asylum for the Homeless, an institution founded on Jewish charity.

When it became known in 1936 that Mr. Hanisch was seeking a publisher, the magazine said, he was arrested in New York and charged in Berlin that he had tampered with Herr Hitler's water colors. Some time later it was announced that he had died of pleurisy.

The article describes Herr Hitler as unkempt but ascetic, a physical weakling who could not do manual labor and failed to hold up his end when the two formed an art partnership with Herr Hitler doing the painting. Mr. Hanisch did the peddling.
