Spring Knits

1. This three-piece cable crepe costume captures an air of sophistication through its smart simplicity. The striped front of the "zipped" blouse is knitted in the opposite direction from the back section. Narrow gores on the skirt and cape are decreased to provide a moderate flare. The cape facings, which form slits for the arms, are striped to match the blouse. A leather hook and eye fastens the cape.

2. Equally suitable for town or country is this classic two-piece dress. It is nipped in at the waistline and has a high V-neckline. Angel crepe in a seed stitch pattern outlines the jacket and gives it a finished look.

3. The wide ribs of the skirt in this dress decrease gradually to a slim corset waistline. Extra fullness is introduced under the bust and ribs turn at an angle to form the diagonal cable stitch pattern of the blouse. The collar and cuffs are ribbed to match the skirt.

4. Something new in knits—note the squared shoulders. The rib trimming on the blouse complements the ribbed skirt and the tiny row of buttons down the front of the blouse relieve the monotony of the knit.

MORE GARDEN FOR LESS

(Eleventh of a Series)
By DONALD GRAY
Landscape Consultant

DAHLIAS and gladioli are plants that produce the most flowers for the money.

These two varieties of plants are most popular with men gardeners and they are grown easily if certain rules are followed.

New varieties of both these plants may cost a lot of money, but both produce so many offspring each year that it only takes a few years until they can be bought at a very low cost. So if you are working your garden on a budget do not be lured into buying the most expensive tubers or corms, but rather choose an older variety which will give you beautiful flowers at a low cost.

After you have grown a dahlia plant for a season you will have five or more tubers to plant the next year and if you have a friend who has been growing dahlia plants for a few years you may get a tuber for nothing. All gardeners are generous and nothing hurts as much as to have to throw away a plant because there isn't room to plant it.

If you are starting your first year's dahlia, growing buy tubers of good varieties at 20 to 25 cents each.

When it comes to gladioli, buy when of good varieties at 3 to 5 cents apiece.

Here are suggestions as to how to grow these interesting plants:

Dahlia—Choose a location with poor growing soil with plenty of drainage and all day sun. Dig a hole two feet in diameter one foot deep. Mix the lower six inches of soil with rotted manure or a 10-6-4 fertilizer. Place a three-foot stake in the hole before planting the tuber. Lay the tuber on its side, cover over with six inches of soil and as the plant grows fill in more soil. Pinch off all side branches so as to send the energy of the plant into making large-sized blooms. Never water the foliage. Lay the hose on the ground to water the roots.

Gladioli—Soak the corms in a solution of one ounce of corrosive sublimate in seven and one-half gallons of water for 12 hours to eliminate thrip, the plant's worst enemy. Plant the corm in any kind of garden soil where there is plenty of sun. Cultivate the ground as the plant grows. If the plant fails to produce healthy leaves of flowers, pull it up and burn it so as not to infest other nearby plants.
