

NYA MAPS AID TO SECONDARY SCHOOL PUPILS

Leaders Discuss Indiana Program in Session Here Today.

Plans for operation of an NYA program in Indiana secondary schools this year were discussed today by an NYA student aid advisory council.

The council, appointed by various Indiana teachers' associations, was to confer with Quentin D. Wert, State director of the student aid program, at a luncheon meeting at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

State Allotted Fund

A sum of $341,946 has been allotted Indiana for the secondary school aid program in 1939-40. Students are chosen by school authorities on the basis of need, and must carry at least three-quarters of a normal study course. Authorities also will plan and supervise their work.

Today's discussion was to center around details of operation in the program for students between the ages of 16 and 24 in 800 secondary schools. Last year there were 7000 persons on NYA projects in the state's secondary schools.

Students do work which does not replace any of the school's regular employees. They assist professors, perform clerical and office duties, assist in libraries and laboratories, and provide recreational assistance.

Committee Listed

Members of today's committee are Adrian Little, Huntington County school superintendent; Ralph W. Sheek, superintendent of schools, Franklin; P. D. Pointer, principal South Bend Central Junior-Senior High School; O. R. Smiley, Columbia City High School principal; E. J. Hunsicker, principal Gary Emerson High School; H. Burton Stephan, Huntington High School principal; Elmer Loehr, Dale High School principal; Paul Alexander, Greensburg High School principal; and Ralph Watson, assistant State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

STATE TO CHECK ON BURIAL LOTS

Tucker Condemns Actions Of Unlicensed Agents In Securities Field.

Sale of cemetery lots by unlicensed salesmen who promise buyers profits was condemned as illegal today by Secretary of State James M. Tucker.

"These salesmen take as pay for the lots depreciated securities and this brings the transaction within the jurisdiction of the State Securities Commission," he said.

"The Commission is not concerned with the legitimate sale of cemetery lots. It is only when the lots are sold as an investment with representations as to profits that the securities act becomes applicable."

Two salesmen of cemetery lots were arrested last week and pleaded guilty to charges of violating the Indiana Securities Law in Peru.

Mr. Tucker said investigations of all such sales will be made by Commission agents in every county in the state.
