

FOOD

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

PEACHES and cream give a lovely complexion to life. And they add smiles to the menu in pies, cakes, dumplings and shimmering salads.

Fresh Peach Pie Glaze

Eight fresh peaches sliced, or 4 cups sliced peaches, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, 1 package orange flavored gelatin, $\frac{1}{2}$ cups hot water, dash of salt, 1 baked 9-inch pie shell.

Combine peaches and sugar and let stand 10 minutes. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add salt and pour over peaches. Chill. When slightly thickened, turn into cold pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Fresh Peach Upside Down Cake

One and a quarter cups sifted cake flour, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon baking powder, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup granulated sugar, 4 tablespoons softened butter or other shortening, 1 egg well beaten, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 tablespoons butter, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup brown sugar firmly packed, 6 peaches pared and sliced.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift together three times. Add butter. Combine egg, milk and vanilla. Add to flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened. Then beat vigorously 1 minute.

Melt 4 tablespoons butter in 8x8x2-inch pan or 8-inch skillet over low flame. Add brown sugar and cook and stir until thoroughly mixed. On this arrange peach slices. Turn batter out on contents of pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula. Serve upside down on dish with peaches on top. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Lemon Cheese Tarts

One cup cottage cheese, 3 tablespoons cream, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup currants, 2 eggs, 1 lemon, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon nutmeg, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt.

Press cottage cheese through ricer, add well-beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten whipped cream. Beat egg whites until they stand in a peak, add sugar gradually and beat until glossy. Fold this meringue, currants, lemon juice, grated lemon rind, nutmeg and salt in the cheese mixture.

Fill unbaked pastry-lined tart pan three-quarters full. Bake until delicately brown in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

CHILDREN

By OLIVE BARTON

DEAR MRS. WISE:

If Lucy feels too keenly about her straight locks and is simply miserable about being the only girl on the block without a halo of curls, why, yes, go ahead and let her have a permanent.

I agree with you that children should be simply dressed and simply coiffured. There is nothing lovelier than a little girl with clean, shining hair, no matter what color or how straight, just as God made her. The face of a child is what counts. Not features, but expression.

However, children are as susceptible to customs as you and I. If you went to a party where everyone wore white gloves, for instance, and you had none, you would feel odd and unhappy, even though you might be the only one who was actually correct.

Children are a lot that way, too. To me, the effect on feelings is more important than effect on looks. Anyway, if you don't like it, and Lucy doesn't like it, her hair will soon grow in, straight.

Maybe your beauty parlor will advise giving Lucy just a soft curl at the tip ends of her hair, and by treatment or massage, thicken the growth. That is essential above all other things, as you know. When a healthy scalp condition is brought about by stimulating the hair cells, it gives a soft shine to the hair, and that soft "sheen" is priceless in either girl or woman.

About washing it, I think I'd ask professional advice on that. I've given up guessing. The usual rule is once a week. It depends on the person, I think. But one thing is sure—dirty hair is not lovely hair.

I hope Lucy will be happy. She simply wants to do as the Romans do, and that is natural. It may get her over a complex about her looks and add some confidence to her stride. I am sure it wouldn't hurt to try.

Yours sincerely,

OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON.

JANE JORDAN

DEAR JANE JORDAN—I am a young married woman of 19 and have one child. My husband and I have quarreled over another man. Since then my husband says he doesn't love me any more but the other man says he does. My husband is very jealous of me and everyone else.

I am not to speak to this man any more or it will cause a separation. And I can't keep from speaking to him. I am not to go anywhere unless my husband takes me. I think lots of my baby and I like my husband, but he doesn't want me to have a good time at all of any kind. I am not jealous of him. I can't stand to give up my baby and I can't stop seeing this other man.

If my husband knew it would be very bad for us both. How can I overcome this? I have tried but it seems like I can't. I will accept your advice.

Answer—The trouble with you is that you do not act as if you were much older than your own baby. Your baby doesn't know the difference between right and wrong yet, and apparently you don't either. You say you cannot stop seeing another man, but all that means is that you will not and you will not because you do not want to. This is very juvenile behavior. You should have learned control over your own conduct many years ago. Now it is going to be harder to give up your own way than ever.

You say, "I can't stand to give up my baby, and I can't stop seeing this man." Your husband isn't going to let you have both of them; so you'll have to make up your mind between the two. Although I don't know the other man I haven't any faith in his intention to take care of you in case he is your choice. He may enjoy making love to another man's wife, but supporting her after she has been kicked out of her home is quite another matter.

You aren't old enough to be married. Your husband should have known this beforehand. But since he voluntarily married a girl still in her teens he had no right to cut her off from all diversions and pleasures. If he had even a little wisdom he could have foreseen the very thing that happened. Now he is reaping the results of his own folly.

You need some third person whom you both respect to point out your mistakes and help you start out again on a new basis. Your husband simply must not prevent your having legitimate good times. On the contrary he should encourage you in socially acceptable diversions. For your part you have no business flirting with another man to get even with your husband for tying you down. You're rapidly making a bad matter worse.

JANE JORDAN.

Claire Tilden

A PANELLED FROCK FOR A SMALL GIRL

She'll look fresh and pretty as the bouquet she's sniffing in this adorable little frock designed by Claire Tilden. It's such an ideal style for active young bodies that wise mothers will use Pattern 892 to sew up several frocks in various gay fabrics. The whole dress is made of decorative panels—rows of them all around. If you have chosen a striped material make the center and side panels on a smart cross grain. See how the rounded tops of the panels form a scalloped edge to the all-around shoulder yoke. The short sleeves are also scalloped, though you might rather use long sleeves with tight wristbands. Leave the neck simple and childlike round—or make a trim little collar of fresh white on a dark frock. And don't fail to use the Sewing Guide to help you stitch up this dress in record time.

Pattern 892 is cut in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 8, short sleeves, requires 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric; long sleeves, 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and 1/4 yard contrast.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this pattern. Write clearly size, name, address and style number. Send orders to Indianapolis Times, 214 W. Maryland St.

Labor Day Float Depicts Slum Evils

"Housing Our Shame" one of several floats in the C. I. O. parade celebrating the 57th Labor Day in Indianapolis, pointed out to parade watchers that "slums take 27 per cent of your taxes." The parade ended in a meeting at Columbia Park where a broadcast speech by John L. Lewis, C. I. O. head, was heard. The Central Labor Union sponsored a mass meeting at the Indiana Fair Grounds at which A. F. of L. unions participated. Henry Tier of Washington, director of the organization of American Federation of Government Employees' International Union, was principal speaker at the meeting. Picnics, church gatherings and family reunions were held in the City parks.

CIRCLING THE CITY

Warrior 'Reunion' Sunday — The Warrior County Club of Indianapolis will have a fish fry at its fourth annual picnic Sunday at Brookside Park, it was announced by Juvenile Court Judge Wilfred Bradshaw, club president.

All former Warrior County citizens living here are invited. The committee includes Frank Wegener, chairman; Paul Stephens, Ed Pace, Mrs. Audie Wegener, Mrs. Cora Stephens, Clem Doan, Mrs. Mamie Pace, Russell Sigler and Mrs. Edith Middleton. Judge Bradshaw and Mrs. Ella Jarrett are general chairmen of the program committee, assisted by Mrs. Pace, Mrs. Lora Lashbrook, Mrs. Clem Doan and Ernest W. Owen.

Loan Fund in New Quarters — The Fletcher Avenue Savings and Loan Association opened business today in its newly-constructed quarters at 150 E. Market St., on the site of the old Farmers Trust Building.

The new building is two stories, of steel and Bedford stone construction. The site was purchased by the association last January. The second floor of the building has been leased to the L. M. Brown Abstract Co., now located at 321 Lemcke Building.

The association moved its offices to the new building Saturday from its old quarters at 10 E. Market St., where it has been housed 18 years.

Scout Meeting Thursday — The Indianapolis and Central Indiana Council, Boy Scouts of America's executive board, will meet at noon Thursday in the Board of Trade Building. Principal business to be discussed will be a report of the silver jubilee committee. The meeting is being held a week early so that it will not conflict with the National Training Conference for Professional Scouters that will take many of the staff from the city.

2000 at German Picnic — Approximately 2000 persons attended the annual Labor Day picnic of 23 German groups at German park, Hans Haberl, arrangements committee chairman, announced today. The chief attraction at the picnic of the Federation of German Societies was "brautrust." Almost 500 pounds of the sausage was prepared for the outing, Mr. Haberl said.

Rotary Entertains — P. L. White, of Oxford, State Board of Agriculture vice president, and other Board members, attended today's annual State Fair meeting of the Indianapolis Rotary Club at the Claypool Hotel. The state champion livestock judging team from New Castle and other 4-H Club winners also attended.

Lie detector tests will be given two women held on vagrancy charges in connection with the recent death of Mrs. Lena Miller, 39, of 207 S. Davidson St., whose body was found at the Sanitation Plant.

Meanwhile, two men seen with Mrs. Miller in a blue sedan are being sought. Police still are waiting a report of Dr. R. N. Harger, toxicologist, on the cause of her death.

Ben Morgan, 25, Y. M. C. A.; Porter Lee Byers, 27, of 416 E. Ohio St., and William White, 56, of 459 1/2 E. Washington St., all reported they had been slugged by men unknown to them in robbery attempts.
