

Report Hearing 'Revolt' Broadcast to Germans

LONDON, Sept. 22 (U. P.).—British sources said today that they had picked up the German "Freedom" radio station from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. last night broadcasting "Ten Commandments" to the German people.

The "Freedom" station reportedly operates with equipment set up in a truck which moves from place to place within the interior of Germany.

The "Ten Commandments," as reported, were:

1. Workers should sabotage. Soldiers should not shoot. Peasants should conceal their crops. People should not deposit money in savings banks but spend it, as inflation is rapidly approaching.
2. Workers should all be united as union is indispensable to winning a general war against Hitlerism.
3. Illegal (foreign) broadcasts should be spread everywhere and should be written down on small slips of paper and left in open public places.
4. People should not believe "the lies of Hitler's German newspapers."
5. Taxes should not be paid.
6. Make no race discriminations against the Jews, as they are human beings.
7. Help the victims of "Hitler terrorism."
8. Fight systematically and methodically.
9. Look for spies, particularly blackguards.
10. A reiteration of the First Commandment and a final reminder to everyone to fight Hitlerism with every means.

The broadcast, it was asserted, was concluded with the announcement that Austrian pilots had been forbidden to take up planes but had been assigned to ground work.

Army Recruiters Busy Here

The Army Recruiting office here is receiving more applications for enlistments since President Roosevelt's recent "limited emergency proclamation" created 2200 vacancies in the Fifth Corps Area, comprising Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. Lieut. Col. Enrique Urrutia Jr., the recruiting officer here, explained to applicants the various defense posts of the U. S. Among those in the recruiting office when this picture was taken were (left to right) Ira Ford, Nebo, Ky.; Raymond Martin, Perryville, Ind.; Euclid Dearing, Drake, Ky.; Col. Urrutia; James Couis, Newcomerstown, O.; and Robert Brantley, Repton, Ky.

Americas' Job Is to Save Civilization, Hull Asserts

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (U. P.).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull dedicated Western Hemisphere nations today to the task of preserving civilization which, he said, the European war threatens to obliterate.

Speaking at Pan American Day ceremonies at the World's Fair, Mr. Hull deplored the "state of affairs in which callous disregard of law and morality, with resort to brute force and unbridled violence, are the methods deliberately chosen for the attainment of national aims."

Mr. Hull referred to recent wars of aggression which "have retarded our material progress and filled us with anxiety and apprehension." The European hostilities in three weeks, he said, "have laid a heavy hand upon many phases of the lives of our nations."

System of Justice Urged

Because of "the disastrous deterioration of international morality," he said, the Western Hemisphere nations are charged with the task of preserving civilization somewhere on earth, of co-operating to insure

TELLS OF FIGHT BY DISGUISED U-BOAT

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (U. P.).—A battle between a British destroyer and a German submarine disguised as a fishing craft was reported today by the master of the American freighter Steel Mariner.

Capt. Frederick Pickering, whose ship docked with 44 passengers, the first carried in its 20-years of sail, said that on Sept. 11 he sighted a "strange looking craft going across the bow" not far from Avernmouth, England.

"I said 'my God, what's that?'" he related. "One of my officers said it looked like a submarine in disguise."

"Shortly afterward we saw smoke on the horizon. It appeared to be from a British destroyer. Then for 10 minutes there was heavy firing and the submarine finally sank. It was about four or five miles away and we saw the battle through glasses."

"I believe that the submarine had been unable to submerge and, therefore, had attempted to disguise itself."

U. S. FRIEND TALKED FOR JAPAN CABINET

TOKYO, Sept. 22 (U. P.).—Newspapers reported today that Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, regarded as friendly to the United States, was likely to accept an invitation to be foreign minister in the new cabinet. Gen. Nobuyuki Abe, the premier, holds the post ad interim.

Admiral Nomura, now retired, is one of Japan's most distinguished naval officers. He served years ago as an Embassy attaché at Washington.

WIDOW IS CONVICTED OF ARSENIC SLAYING

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22 (U. P.).—Swarthy, Brazil-born Mrs. Josephine Romauldo, 41, today was the seventh member or client of Philadelphia's sinister murder syndicate facing the electric chair after conviction of the arsenic poisoning of her husband with a jury recommendation of death.

COUPLE TELLS OF KILLING KIDNAPER

PORT CREDIT, Ontario, Sept. 22 (U. P.).—A young Ontario couple told authorities today that they had killed an unidentified and alleged kidnaper about 30 years old, who had threatened their lives with a shotgun.

Bruce Krivell of Port Credit said he and Glenn Stout, 17, of Erindale were in his parked car, along a road near Streetville when an assailant trained the gun on them. In a lonely section the abductor ordered the car stopped an hour later. Miss Stoutley was ordered to tie her companion's hands with his necktie.

Mr. Krivell said he later freed himself and set upon the stranger, aided by Miss Stoutley. Police said they had not determined whether death was due to the beating or gunshot wounds.
