KEEP EMBARGO TO KEEP PEACE -VANDENBERG

Senator Fears U. S. May Become One Belligerent's Arsenal, Other's Target.

falling economy" by reaching for war profits "behind a shield of technical but highly transparent and fictitious neutrality."

Senator Vandenberg said that if the country entered the present war, it could expect two results:

"1. We would get such a regimentation of our own lives and livelihoods, 20 minutes after we entered the war, that the Bill of Rights would need a gas mask and individual liberty of action would swiftly become a mocking memory."

"2. We would come out of the victory with an infinitely pyramided debt that might stagger toward $100,000,000,000 and never could be carried or repaid."

"Please God that we shall not be led astray!" he cried.

Sees History Repeated

In his appeal for elimination of the arms embargo, Senator Vandenberg charged that the present law, prohibiting shipment of war materials but allowing U. S. vessels to transport other materials to belligerents, would involve the United States directly in European hostilities. He said U. S. ships would be sunk and history of the World War repeated.

The Texan declared that men such as Senator William E. Borah (R. Idaho), who contend that repeal of the arms embargo would involve the country in war have built their argument upon a false premise.

He said that they "seek to frighten the people into accepting their bold and baseless statement."

"They make a blunt claim without any proof," he said. "I challenge it and deny it. I refuse and the country will refuse to accept their claim as a fact."

The only answer this country can make to aggressors, Senator Vandenberg said, is:

"We want no war with you. But if you do provoke us into a quarrel, if you do assail us, if you attack our territory, if you force our ships into following a foreign allegiance, worship a foreign flag, we shall say: 'If you assail us, if you attack us, we are going to protect ourselves with all the means of which we have command.'"

Administration leaders now claim 56 votes pledged for Mr. Roosevelt's program. They were cheered by a radio speech last night by Senator George W. Norris (Ind. Neb.), only remaining member of a group of six Senators who voted against this country's entry into the World War in 1917. Senator Norris said he "fervently believed that the Administration's plan 'will keep us out of war.'"

Holt Sees Involvement

Rush D. Holt (D. W. Va.), youngest member of the Senate, whose father, Dr. Matthew Holt, was physically attacked in 1917 because of his stand against American participation in the World War, told the radio audience that repeal of the embargo would "scuttle" the Neutrality Act and lead the United States eventually into war.

In Chicago, former Governor Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin told the radio audience that repeal of the embargo would "scuttle" the Neutrality Act and lead the United States eventually into war.

amaze after missing the third one. NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Fourth Inning

REDS—Werber, hitting the first pitch for the second time, flied out, Crosetti to Dahlgren. Frey flied to Keller in the right field corner about six feet from the stands. Goodman walked on four straight pitches. Goodman stole second, getting a long lead on Ruffing, which made Dickey hurry his throw so badly it was low, and Gordon could barely head it off. McCormick singled past Rolfe, scoring Goodman. Lombardi bounced out, Ruffing to Dahlgren.

ONE RUN, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

YANKS—Rolfe flied to Goodman in short right, hitting the ball on the handle of his bat. Keller was called out on strikes. Di Maggio, hitting the second pitch, got an infield hit when Werber let his slow grounder roll, hoping it would go foul. The ball rolled almost parallel with the foul line, but the fair. Lombardi called for a pitchout and tried to catch Di Maggio off first but the Yankee outfielder got back safely with a great slide. Dickey lined sharply to McCormick, who trapped the ball with a great pickup and stepped on first to retire the batter. NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

Fifth Inning

REDS—Craft beat out a 'slow roller' to Rolfe, who raced in front of Crosetti to make the play. Berger fanned swinging. Myers hit into a fast double play, Gordon to Crosetti to Dahlgren. NO RUNS, ONE HIT, NO ERRORS.

YANKS—Selkirk rolled out to McCormick, unassisted. Gordon singled past Werber. Dahlgren doubled down the left field line, scoring Gordon. After retrieving the ball in the left field corner, Berger, who has a weak throwing arm, tried to cut down Dahlgren at second and Gordon by a great piece of base-running beat the relay from the Red infield to the plate. Ruffing fouled to McCormick near the first base boxes, Dahlgren holding second. Crosetti flied to Craft.

ONE RUN, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Sixth Inning

REDS—Derringer rolled out on a soft tap, Crosetti to Dahlgren. Werber, with the count one and one, flied to Selkirk. Frey flied to Di Maggio. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

YANKS—Rolfe, hitting the second pitch, flied to Crosetti in deep center. Keller was out on a close play, McCormick to Derringer. Di Maggio rolled out, Myers to McCormick. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Seventh Inning

REDS—Goodman bounced out, Rolfe to Dahlgren. McCormick flied out, Crosetti to Dahlgren. Lombardi fouled to Dahlgren, who came in to make the catch midway down the line. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

YANKS—Dickey popped to Frey, who made the catch in short right. Selkirk flied to Goodman, who came in fast to make the catch. Gordon fanned swinging, missing a fast ball inside for the third one. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Eighth Inning

REDS—Craft popped to Rolfe on the edge of the grass behind the pitcher's box. Gordon raced behind second to make a brilliant stop of Berger's hard-hit grounder and threw him out to Dahlgren. Myers grounded out, Crosetti, who made a nice stop, to Dahlgren.

NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

YANKS—Dahlgren fanned, swinging. It was Derringer's sixth strikeout. Ruffing was called out on strikes, the third one a beautiful curve which broke sharply over the center of the plate. Crosetti rolled in, Werber to McCormick.

NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Ninth Inning

REDS—Derringer was out, Ruffing to Dahlgren. Crosetti threw out Werber. Frey flied to Keller. NO RUNS, NO HITS, NO ERRORS.

YANKS—Rolfe was out to McCormick unassisted. Keller tripped to right center, Di Maggio was given an intentional pass. Dickey singled scoring Keller. ONE RUN, TWO HITS, NO ERRORS.

Tax Board May Suggest One Unit to Include City And Schools.

At present, the Board is composed of four taxpayer representatives, together with one representative each of the City, School Board and the County.

The recommendation for strict control by the Accounts Board over relief expenditures is based on the board members' belief that the existing poor relief laws are both inadequate and ambiguous.

Present laws, it was pointed out, virtually mandate that township trustees to spend as much as they consider necessary, regardless of their budgets, in providing relief to indigents.

Laws Held Inadequate

Tax reviewing bodies may cut the trustees' relief budgets, but laws are inadequate to prevent the issuance of relief bonds to make up the difference between their budgets and expenditures.

Board members said, however, that the law provides that when petitions opposing the issuance of relief bonds contain more signatures than petitions asking issuance of the bonds, the County Council is prevented from issuing the bonds within one year.

The board is to ask the Accounts Board to promulgate certain rules and regulations on township relief expenditures, in the absence of adequate laws.

The proposed requirement that trustees advertise for bids on relief commodities was based on the Board's complaint that varying prices for identical food articles are paid by trustees in the different townships of Marion County.

Relief Warning Expected

It is expected that the report will contain a warning that unless increasing poor relief expenditures are cut materially, the three townships on strikes—the third one a beautiful curve which broke sharply over the center of the plate. Crosetti rolled in, Werber to McCormick.

TOBIN SUPPORTS F. D. R. APPEAL

anti-trust prosecutions, was a college professor and asked that "God deliver us from college professors and Army generals in administrative positions."

"I believe that this Department is on the wrong path," Mr. Padway said.

Mr. Roosevelt's message, read to the convention last night by William Green, president, commended the progress of the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. committees which met last March to attempt negotiation of peace.

The negotiations were adjourned indefinitely April 5 when John L. Lewis, president of the C. I. O. and chairman of its peace committee, began contract negotiations with coal operators in New York City.

That progress, the President said, "must be continued." He asked the A. F. of L. to continue the negotiations in patriotic spirit for unity during the European war.

Asks Unity in Ranks

Mr. Tobin said he believed it the duty of unionists to use every effort to put the President's message into effect.

"We owe it to labor, to our country and to humanity to try to close the breach in our ranks," he said.

The A. F. of L. Credentials Committee, which reports recommendations on objections to seating of delegates, was expected to reveal today the status of the International Typographical Union, one of the founders of the Federation.

The Executive Council has ordered the I. T. U.'s charter suspended because the union refused to pay an assessment of one cent per month per member to fight the C. I. O.

Claude M. Baker, San Francisco, I. T. U. president, and members of his delegation conferred with the Credentials Committee last night. They were in session for more than an hour and adjourned without announcing any result.
