Times Special
CRAWFORDSVILLE, Oct. 7.—Miss Rosemary O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hugh O'Neill, and Norman A. Perry Jr., son of Mrs. Mae N. Perry, Los Angeles, and Norman Adams Perry, Indianapolis, will be married at 8:30 o'clock this evening in the Wabash College Chapel.

Dr. Rudolph Reiman, pastor of the Wabash Avenue Presbyterian Church, will perform the single ring service. The altar will be banked with plumosa fern and a lover's knot of pink carnations will form the background. Garlands of ferns will be festooned along the balcony rail and fern ropes will decorate the pews. The family pews will be marked by pink carnations in flower boxes with baby ivy trailing to the floor. Stands of 13-branch candelabra will flank the altar. Robert Stoffer, organist, will play wedding music and Miss Margaret Hopkins will sing.

The bride, who will enter the church on her father's arm, will wear a gown of duchess satin in heaven pink made with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, long, fitted sleeves and a long train, long veil of pink illusion will fall the length of the train from a cap of pink antique lace. She will carry a prayer book covered in matching satin with pink satin streamers and pink-tinted lilies of the valley. Her only jewelry will be a pearl necklace.

Miss Martha Pudge will be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will include Miss Charlotte Twitty, Indianapolis; Miss Jane Edelen, Mexico City; Mrs. Broome Wythe, Bloomington; and Miss Jane Macintosh, Kennelworth, Ill. All the attendants will be gowned alike in foliage green velvet made with long basques, full skirts and slight trains. They will wear heavy pink suede gloves and carry fans of ivory leaves with insets of pink carnations and baby ivy trailing to the floor. Wreaths of baby ivy will adorn their hair.

Mr. Perry's father, Norman A. Perry Sr., will be best man. Ushers will include Richard Blackledge, Kokomo; Charles Rogers, Griffith; Matheny, William C. Griffith and William Wiggins, Indianapolis, and William O'Neill, brother of the bride.

Mr. O'Neill has chosen a gown of Madonna blue crepe and she will wear orchids. Mrs. Perry will wear silver brocade and orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be held in the Crawfordville Country Club. The bride and groom will leave on a wedding trip to California and will live in Traders Point, Indianapolis, after their return. The bride will travel in a Leslie hunter's plaid suit with green alligator accessories.

JANE JORDAN—

DEAR JANE JORDAN—I am very much in love with a young man of my own age. We both are old enough to know our own minds, but he lets his folks tell him what to do. In my own mind I know there can't be anyone else but him, but whenever we talk of marriage, it always has to wait until his father and mother are settled some place.

His father works, but his mother is so extravagant that his father is so far in debt he won't ever get out. Why do people that are married and supposed to be happy spoil the lives of others that are doing? Another thing is that we have been together for three years and although he goes out on parties with others, I am not supposed even to talk to any of the girls where I work.

Do you think he is selfish or what is wrong? I won't love anyone else, but I can't see why I must go on playing second fiddle to his father and mother.

Answer—If you marry this young man the chances are that you always will have trouble with his mother. You won't be the first young couple to inherit such a problem. Where the mother is blind to the problem, blind to the necessity of giving up the son to a life apart from her, the situation is exceptionally difficult. Your dance needs help.

If you haven't the patience to stand by the man and help him resist the demands of his mother, if you haven't the skill to reveal to him the force that is working against him, if you haven't the kindness to deal with his mother as gently as possible while you break her hold on her son, you would do well to break your engagement. Years of fighting against such an income situation will result in an estrangement in the end. The problem only can be solved if the two of you learn to co-operate in meeting each issue as it arises.

The father is no problem at all, but only another man caught in the toils of a selfish woman. I do not regard your young man's jealousy of the girls you work with as serious. Learn not to talk about your women friends. Make friends with your co-workers, of course, but the less said the better. Many perfectly fine husbands do not like to hear about a woman's chat with her girl friends. Wives do not like to hear a lot about their husband's men friends either.

JANE JORDAN.

Put your problems in a letter to Jane Jordan, who will answer your questions in this column.

Prayers Ask World Peace

High Mass to Open Annual 40 Hours Devotion.

Prayers for world peace are a part of the 40 Hours Devotions which will begin with a solemn high mass at 8:30 p.m. at St. Peter and Paul Cathedral tomorrow at 11 a.m.

The Rev. Fr. Leo Rousseau of the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament will come from Notre Dame Church in Chicago to deliver the sermons at the services.

The Most Rev. Joseph E. Ritter, bishop of the Diocese of Indianapolis, will carry the sacrament in the procession and be the celebrant for the solemn closing Tuesday at 8 p.m. Bishop Ritter will be assisted by the monsignori of the city and about 40 priests. The altar will be banked with flowers and palms, the Blessed Sacrament exposed, and candles burning during the three days.

It has been a four centuries custom for Catholic churches to hold the 40 Hours Devotions each year. The services, described as an act of reparation, were formerly held for 40 continuous hours. Later the all-night prayers were discontinued.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Raymond R. Noll, cathedral vicar, will be present in the sanctuary at the solemn high mass celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Bernard Schneider at 11 a.m. tomorrow. Others assisting are the Rev. Fr. Richard Langen, deacon; the Rev. Fr. Charles Ross, subdeacon, and the Rev. Fr. James A. Hickey, master of ceremonies.

St. Rita and St. Catherine Churches are to have 40 hours of praying Oct. 15. Holy Cross, St. Mary's and St. Christopher's Churches will hold their devotions later in the month.

Seymour Waits State Baptists

Times Special
SEYMOUR, Ind., Oct. 7.—City officials, schools, civic groups and churches of all denominations are completing arrangements to entertain Indianapolis delegates among the 1000 attending the Indiana Baptist Convention here Tuesday through Sunday.

A public address system has been installed in the Baptist Church where sessions except the banquet will be held.

Dr. J. Parsons of Indianapolis, executive secretary of the Indiana Baptist Convention, predicts that the convention will stimulate interest in world problems. The theme of addresses is "World Fellowship through Christ." The convention hymn is "We're a Story to Tell to the Nations."

NEW PASTOR NAMED

The Rev. David S. McNelly, formerly of Ft. Wayne, will be installed as minister of Centenary Christian Church Sunday morning, Oct. 15.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Text: Matthew 3:1-17
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

THE FORERUNNER of the King and the Kingdom was John the Baptist, who came from the wilderness into the crowded cities and villages of Judea, proclaiming that the Kingdom of Heaven was at hand and calling upon men to repent.

We must not forget that, in addition to being associated as forerunner and Messiah, John the Baptist, and Jesus were related by family ties and by a long course of preparation—nearly 30 years, in fact—during which time each must have been known to the other through their family contacts.

There is no reference to these things in Matthew, from which our lesson is taken, but the story is related with great exactness in the first chapter of Luke.

These details give a more adequate picture to a scene that is somewhat barren if we think of John the Baptist suddenly coming from the wilderness to proclaim the coming of a King with whom he had had no prior contact and of whom he had had no prior knowledge.

ONE DOES not know just at what stage during these 30 years of preparation John withdrew into the wilderness. His life was probably always to some extent a life apart. His parents were old, and his father was engaged in the service of the temple. The sense of holiness and destiny attaching to the announcement of his birth would tend also to strictness in preparation. Even before he entered the wilderness, John was probably something of a recluse and ascetic, not taking very

Shaw Memorial To Be Dedicated

Wallace St. Shows Work

Times Special
BIG PLAT ROCK, Ind., Oct. 7.—Dean Frederick D. Kershner and Dr. G. I. Hoover of Indianapolis will speak at the Knowles Shaw Memorial observance in the Christian Church here Friday.

The program beginning Tuesday and ending Friday is more elaborate than the usual annual celebration because a bronze memorial tablet to the Rev. Knowles Shaw is to be dedicated.

The Rev. Mr. Shaw was a native of this community, a singing evangelist and author of more than 100 hymns including "Bringing in the Sheaves." He died in 1879.

The Rev. Frank C. Huston of Indianapolis, will lead the singing at the services Friday.

Inter-Faith Forum Set

Catholic, Protestant and Jews to Speak.

Mrs. Leon Watters of New York, member of the Board of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, will be heard in an inter-faith round table discussion during the convention of the Indiana Federation of Temple Sisterhoods Tuesday and Wednesday.

With Mrs. Watters in the round table on "Better Understanding" will be the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael W. Lyons, Dean Frederick D. Kershner and Rabbi Morris M. Feuerlicht Tuesday evening at the Columbia Club.

Mrs. Watters is president of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, a member of the national committee on Youth Aliyah, and the first woman to serve on the Hebrew Union College board of governors.

Msgr. Lyons is pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church and Dr. Kershner is a Disciple of Christ minister and dean of the Butler College of Religion. Dr. Feuerlicht is rabbi of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation and round table chairman.

Mrs. Watters will address the convention at the Columbia Club luncheon Tuesday and discuss practical sisterhood problems at the open forum and luncheon at the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation Temple Wednesday. Others participating Wednesday are Rabbi Maurice Goldblatt, assistant to Dr. Feuerlicht, St. H. Markowitz, Ft. Wayne; Meyer Simmons, Lafayette and Milton Greenwald, Evansville.

SPEAKS AT DOWNEY

Dr. D. S. Robinson, Butler University president, will speak at the home-coming observance at the Downey Avenue Christian Church tomorrow.

Wallace St. Shows Work

Largest Campfire Group in U. S. Included.

Equipment used by the Wakiki Campfire Girls, largest Campfire group in the United States, will be on display at the Open House celebration in the Wallace Street Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon and evening.

"Our Open House will follow the plan used by the public schools and attempt to show parents what and how their children are taught in all organizations of the church," the Rev. Roy E. Mueller, pastor, said today.

The pastor expressed pride over "138 trained, hand-picked leaders" who are in charge of the various youth groups in his church. Many of the leaders will be on hand Friday to meet parents and answer their questions concerning Boy, Girl and Cub Scouts, Bluebirds and church school classes.

14 in Class

"You can't do much with a 2-year-old," the Rev. Mr. Mueller admitted, stressing the difference between the church school's youngest class and the usual play group. "We try to teach the 2-year-olds one thing, that is, to share. For our class of about 14 of these little shavers we provide the most attractive toys we can get—a windup auto, dolls, a rocking horse and such. Then, for example, we try to instill the idea that you mustn't drag a classmate from the saddle however great your urge to ride the rocking horse yourself. You must hide your time until he is willing to share it with you."

Brief, original little prayers sometimes come from the 2-year-olds, the pastor pointed out. They also learn to be law abiding members of the church group when at 4 they are graduated into it. Parents say that the church school influence makes for less of childish tyranny in the home nursery, too, the Rev. Mr. Mueller said.

Work with All Faiths

"For the Scouts and other non-church organizations, programs outlined by their national headquarters are used with no religious teaching added," the Rev. Mr. Mueller made clear. "We are content to let the church's influence and with the leadership and meeting place it provides, so that those of all faiths will feel free to come," he said.

Posters illustrating Presbyterian missions in this country and abroad will be hung in the church corridors Friday. Children of all ages will assist at the tea served in mid-afternoon. About 300 attended last year.

Episcopal Men Meet Oct. 14-15

The first laymen's week-end gathering of the Indianapolis Episcopal Diocese since the Rt. Rev. Richard A. Kirchhoffer became bishop will be at McCormick's Creek State Park Oct. 14 and 15.

Fifty men from Indianapolis and the southern two-thirds of the state will meet "to get to know each other better and not simply to discuss budgets, business or problems," Bishop Kirchhoffer says.

Holy Communion will be celebrated by the bishop Sunday at 8 a.m. preceding a Bible class, morning worship and the closing luncheon.

BETH-EL WOMEN TO HEAR REVIEW

Cantor Myro Glass will chant the grace at the opening luncheon of the Sisterhood in the Beth-El Zedek Temple Monday at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Aaron Glick, co-president, will outline plans for the year and introduce Rabbi Elias Charry, temple spiritual director, who will review Golding's "Mr. Emanuel."

Yiddish selections will be sung by Miss Libby Maurer accompanied by Miss Esther Cohn. It is expected that a group of new members will be enrolled. Mrs. David Sablosky arranged the program and Mesdames Max Selig and Sidney Weinstein, the luncheon.

MISSION TO BE HOST

Wheeler Mission will observe Open House all day tomorrow. Guides will show visitors over the building and there will be a special service at 4:30 p.m. followed by a reception.

Evangelical-Reformed Youth Launch Forums; New Wing Dedicated

Baptist Evangelistic Leader to Teach by Radio; Christian Pastors to Discuss Convention; Methodists of District to Meet.

By EMMA RIVERS MILNER

Harvest Home Day in all United Lutheran Churches, Oct. 15, will mark the beginning of an Every Parish Evangelism Program outlined by Dr. Homer E. Turney, Indiana Synod president, today.

Dr. Turney made clear that the evangelism program will not be a series of revival services, but a concerted effort to reach people spiritually through individual contact.

The program will go forward in nine denominational churches in Marion County and 4000 in the nation, culminating at Christmas.

The Bethany Lutheran Church, here, will be decked with autumn flowers, fruits and vegetables on Oct. 15. "This is to remind church members that the time is ripe for the ingathering of souls," the Rev. J. Luther Seng, pastor, explained today.

Accordingly, the Rev. Mr. Seng and laymen of his congregation will make calls on non-church members in the community, on church school children's parents who do not attend worship and on others whom they have reason to believe they can influence religiously. Procedure is typical of that to be followed in all the denominational churches.

There is to be consecration of officers and teachers at a Christian Service Day observance in the Bethany Church tomorrow at 10:40 a.m. in preparation for the evangelistic program.

"Community Fund Sunday" will be observed in Indianapolis churches tomorrow. In many instances the church will have an 20th annual fund drive opening Monday.

Rev. Mr. Bierbaum Leads First Forum

The first of a monthly series of Youth Forums sponsored by the young people of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Indianapolis will be held in the Wallace Street Presbyterian Church tomorrow at 7 p.m.

The opening discussion, on "Life Problems of Young People," will be led by the Rev. H. J. Bierbaum. The second forum will be held Nov. 12.

1000 to Be Trained For Baptist Drive

A radio address by Dr. Walter E. Woodbury of New York, evangelist director of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, will be broadcast from the First Baptist Church Sunday morning, Nov. 5.

Dr. Woodbury will be in Indianapolis to train a committee of 1000 Baptist leaders for a Loyalty Crusade and evangelistic campaign.

His radio address will include final instructions to the 1000 and be heard by an estimated 12,000 persons in city churches.

Previous to the final instructions Dr. Woodbury will meet at sessions in the First Church Oct. 30; at the Memorial Church Oct. 31 and Nov. 2 and at the Tuxedo Park Church Nov. 3.

South Side Nazarene Holds Dedication

An addition to the South Side Church of the Nazarene at La Grande Ave. and Olive St. will be dedicated tomorrow at 2:30 p.m.

The church is under the leadership of superintendent, and the Rev. H. J. Rahbar, pastor, will be in charge. The Rev. Harry Hagaman will be guest speaker both morning and evening.

A Church's Personality— 'Youth Year' May Make History at First U. B.

Youth Year will open in the First United Brethren Church with the anniversary celebration of the U. B. Builders Class of 200 boys Oct. 22.

In addition to Youth Year events, the church will be the scene of public meetings of Evangelical and United Brethren joint commissions Nov. 9 to 12 looking toward the merging of the two denominations.

"Our church is in a location where it is greatly needed," Arthur Williams, First U. B. Church layman and Y. M. C. A. program secretary, said today.

The gray Gothic building, with a seating capacity of 1500 and a 70-foot tower, stands on the corner of Walnut St. and Park Ave. It is easily seen from Massachusetts Ave. and yet is removed from the immediate noise and confusion of traffic. Nearby factories attract a coming-and-going stream of workers. Many of these with their children join First Church activities.

Arrange Youth Room

Mr. Williams described the congregation as "democratic with every body on a level in spite of worldly goods or position." He declared, "We all pull together for the best interest of the community."

The Rev. George E. Snyder of the church pastor and leader of the Indianapolis District, which embraces 26 parishes and his own. His wife is First Church office secretary and active in various departments.

Church young people, with Mrs. Snyder's help, are planning a social and assembly room in honor of Youth Year. A freshly decorated balcony overlooking the Sunday school auditorium is being hung with wine-colored plush curtains as partitions. A p. n. o. -davenport, chairs and literature table will be installed.

Quarterly during Youth Year the younger contingent will take charge of a Sunday evening service. They are planning to hold panel discussions on timely subjects indicating the relation of
