CHICAGO, Nov. 4 (U. P.).—Mrs. Stefania Sadowski, 50, grief-stricken by notification from the State Department that her husband, George J. Sadowski, 35, an American citizen, was executed by Nazis three weeks ago at Warsaw, said today she would make formal protest to the U. S. Government.

"It was the deliberate murder of an American citizen," she charged. George J. Sadowski, an American consular attaché at Warsaw, notified the State Department at Washington yesterday that Mr. Sadowski was executed Oct. 20 after he had been found guilty of concealing a quantity of arms and ammunition in defiance of regular laws established by German military authorities.

In Washington the State Department officials doubted that there would be any grounds for protest by this country over the Sadowski execution.

They pointed out that Mr. Sadowski had volunteered to join a foreign army, thereby forfeiting his rights as an American citizen.

Pocket Full of Loot; But This Time 12 and 20 Has Double Meaning.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 4 (U. P.).—A 24-year-old suspect who reportedly escaped two weeks ago from Oklahoma State Penitentiary, was in jail here today because he tried to tell a city detective that a "graduating class" ring.

The suspect, who gave his name as Richard Shelton of Petersburg, Va., was trying to pawn the ring when he ran into Detective John Phillips, a Mason.

"That's my school ring," explained Shelton, pointing to the number "32" on the ring.

"Then we must have graduated the same year," replied Phillips, showing his own Scottish Rite ring with "32" on it designating a 32d Degree Mason.

Shelton was taken into custody. He said he and two other convicts had committed several robberies after their escape two weeks ago from prison at McAlester, Okla.

While acting as a "lookout" during a burglary in Indianapolis, Shelton decided to slip away from his companions and take the robbery loot with him.

He arrived in Columbus and attempted to pawn several articles when detectives apprehended him. Detectives said he would be turned over to Indianapolis police.

"If I hadn't run out on my buddies, I'd probably still be free."

Hoosiers in Washington—

McHale Finds No Signs Of Checkmate by Farley

Disagrees With Writer Who Thinks McNutt Can't Must-er Over 200 Delegates.

By DANIEL M. KIDNEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Mark Sullivan, writing a political story regarding the Roosevelt domination of the 1940 Democratic convention, said:

"Probably even the energetic Paul V. McNutt would not have over 200 delegates out of the 1100 that make up the convention."

Frank McHale, on his trip East to confer with Mr. McNutt last week, contended, however, that the Sullivan figure was far too low "judging from present prospects."

Mr. McHale, who is Mr. McNutt's campaign manager, also denied the substance of a New York Times story which stated that Postmaster James A. Farley actively is making counter-moves against the McNutt campaign.

"I have traveled around a good deal and have not crossed any trail to show that Jim Farley actively is trying to checkmate us," Mr. McHale declared.

The Big Chief from Indianapolis put his imprimatur on the Washington column by Harlan Miller which stated:

"Some of the top men in the McNutt-for-President drive are saying confidently that if Roosevelt isn't a candidate, McNutt will be nominated by a wide margin on the third ballot."

"True eloquence consists in saying all that is necessary, and nothing but what is necessary," said La Rochefoucauld in his famous Maxims.

Using this particular maxim as a yardstick, Indiana Congressmen didn't develop any demosthenes during the neutrality debates in the House this week. The majority of them talked and then extended their remarks in the Congressional Record.

Rep. Noble J. Johnson... only Hoosier Republican who didn't make neutrality speech.

Record. The result looked like they were working on space-rafts.

The only Hoosier Republican who didn't make a speech was Rep. Noble J. Johnson. He summed up his attitude in the matter by saying:

"A speech of mine wouldn't change a single vote in the House and I see no reason to bore my colleagues with a lot of home-consumption stuff."

Those not making speeches included Reps. William H. Larabee, John W. Boehne Jr., and William T. Schulte on the Democratic side.

The latter was absent from most of the sessions, until the House got down to business this week. Asked if he had been in town, Rep. Schulte said:

"Certainly, have been studying agriculture out at Laurel."

STUDENTS WORK EXTRA HOURS TO MASTER FLYING

Would-be Pilots at Butler Study Overtime in CAA Project.

By SAM TYNDALL

The 40 Butler University students, including a junior coed, who are taking the civilian pilot training course, are putting in extra time to complete the ground course quickly, according to Dr. Seth E. Elliott, instructor.

"It's phenomenal in a college course," he said, "but there isn't a poor student among the 40 in this Civil Aeronautics Authority-sponsored course."

The trainees have covered two sub-courses, one in the history of aviation and the other in meteorology. In examinations in both subjects, Miss Madge Rutherford, the only female class member, stands second highest.

Robert H. Davis, Terre Haute, has been the leader since the course began.

Monday the students will begin studying motors. Dr. Elliott admitted that the keen attention he has received from his students, in some cases at least, may spring directly from the promise of early flight training which under the course program, will begin within the next 30 days.

The university will select a private instructor to be approved by a CAA inspector. Instruction in all probability will be held at Municipal Airport.

Tentative field training plans for the 38th Division National Guard air squadron, between now and the end of the year call for establishment of a temporary base at Schoen Field, Ft. Harrison.

Maj. Oliver Stout, commander of the observation unit, said the plan has not yet been approved at the 5th Corps headquarters. If approved, Maj. Stout said he will order the planes to Schoen Field from their home base at Stout Field only a few miles away. The same training in feeding and housing the personnel can be gained with a short maneuver of this kind as could be gained in a practice flight to establish a new base a 1000 miles away, he said.

The hearing will be on Stephenson's writ of habeas corpus, which is based upon the defense contention that the 14-year-old life sentence jury verdict was illegal because it was for second degree murder when the indictment charged first degree murder.
