

6 STATE CITIES CHOSEN FOR FBI CRIME COURSE

Northern Indiana Classes to Open Jan. 15; Others Are Planned.

The first six Indiana cities whose police officers will be trained in a two-weeks' course in Federal Bureau of Investigation methods were named today by B. Edwin Sackett, FBI agent-in-charge here.

Those chosen are Hammond, La Porte, Whiting, Valparaiso, Elkhart and Logansport. Additional cities will be announced within two weeks, Mr. Sackett said. A dozen cities applied for the course.

5 Men on Staff

The instruction, by four members of the FBI National Police Academy staff and Mr. Sackett, will begin Jan. 15 and continue until Jan. 26, excepting Saturday and Sunday. Classes will not be held those days since week-ends usually are the busiest for police officers.

Courses are being planned to meet the needs of each police department. In most cases lectures, demonstrations and practice sessions will include instructions in relations with the public, interviews and confessions, scientific crime detection, technique and mechanics of arrest, report writing, fingerprinting, firearms and defense methods and State, local and Federal laws.

They'll Teach Others

The purpose of the Academy is not only to teach the officers, but also to make them teachers so they may instruct members of their local departments. Many police departments now are holding schools of their own with Academy graduates as instructors.

Since Indianapolis has three Academy graduates, no schools will be held here. Local graduates are Capt. Walter Eckert of the State Police, and Sgt. Carl E. Ashley and Lieut. Edwin H. Kruse of the Indianapolis Police Department.

2 KILLED, 3D HURT CRITICALLY IN CRASH

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Jan. 9 (U. P.).—Two Ft. Wayne men were killed and a third was injured critically when their car crashed into a standing transport truck on U. S. Highway 24 at the outskirts of Huntington last night.

E. E. Granlund, 36, and William F. Miller, about 45, were killed, John Schrock, 36, is in the Huntington hospital with internal injuries, compound fracture of the arms and legs and a brain concussion.

Driven by Granlund, the car crashed into the rear of a truck driven by Clair Ruth, Angola, Ruth had stopped to assist Dewey Foreman, Ft. Wayne, another truck driver, who was helping Albert Egley of Indianapolis, stalled in a ditch.

Both drivers said flares were put on the highway and that they tried to flag Granlund with flashlights when they saw his car approaching. The Granlund machine moved the truck, fully laden and with brakes set, approximately 40 feet, witnesses said.

Schrock, who was riding in the back seat, was removed from the car immediately and was taken to the hospital, but Granlund and Miller were trapped in the front seat. Rescuers were forced to tow the car to Huntington and cut it open with an acetylene torch to remove the men.

The Bruce F. Robinson Post of the American Legion last night presented awards to Indianapolis firemen and police. Left to right, as the awards were given, were Capt. John F. Fehrbach, who accepted one for Engine House 14; State Policeman Walter LaHayne, Deputy Inspector Robert L. Batts, Sgt. Charles Weddle and Post Commander Ed L. Bush.

G. O. P.—Crackers and $75; Democrats—Steak, $26,000

O'Connor Says McNutt Is Strong in East and McHale 'Agrees.'

(Photos, Page Nine)

By NOBLE REED

Indiana Democrats today halted their party as something more than mere political philosophy—they found they could turn it into cold cash at the rate of $26,000 per meal.

That was the gross "take" at the first annual Jackson Day banquet at the Claypool Hotel last night when 1050 Democrats laid $25 each on the line for a chunk of steak and the usual trimmings.

It was the first campaign fund raising stunt of its kind staged in Indiana, and the crowd cheered when E. Kirk McKinley, banquet manager, announced that Indiana's quota of $23,000 net proceeds, ordered by the National Democratic Committee, had gone over the top with plenty to spare.

It's Free to O'Connor

All the party bigwigs were there—from Governor M. Clifford Townsend on down—and the only one who escaped paying the $25 was Governor Herbert R. O'Connor of Maryland, the principal speaker.

Governor O'Connor prophesied that President Roosevelt's New Deal will go down in history as a masterpiece of humanitarianism like the one founded by Andrew Jackson more than 100 years ago and by Thomas Jefferson before him.

"Jefferson's doctrine that 'the freedom and happiness of man are the sole objects of all government' was echoed by Jackson and has been followed in action, as well as by word, by President Roosevelt," he said.

Commends Pump-Priming

Describing New Deal accomplishments he said:

"The gambling with other people's money by unscrupulous bankers and stockbrokers was effectively stopped. The pump-priming activities of government undoubtedly have started the wheels of industry moving forward and the Federal projects have tied over much-needed activities in various sections of the country."

"The Democratic party was built upon the never-shifting principle that government belongs to the people and it has continued to exist because of its response to progressive and liberal ideas."

"Let us re-dedicate ourselves to the ideals of democracy as symbolized by Jackson, by Jefferson and by President Roosevelt."

McNutt Wires

Governor O'Connor told the group that Social Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt frequently is in Maryland, and added that "we look upon your favorite son as one of the outstanding leaders of democracy in the country."

Frank M. McHale, national committee man and McNutt-for-President campaign manager, read a telegram from Mr. McNutt in which the administrations of Governors O'Connor and Townsend, and the national administration, were praised.

After predicting that Mr. McNutt would be the next President, Mr. McHale said more than "60,000 Democrats, and Republicans, in Indiana have contributed to the Paul V. McNutt campaign fund."

"The people of Indiana want the nation to know that we have a leader to carry on the great humanitarian program of President Franklin D. Roosevelt," Mr. McHale said. Governor Townsend and State Chairman Fred F. Bays spoke briefly, preceding a vaudeville program.

WOMEN TESTIFY STOCKS PROFIT DREAM FADED

profits the statement showed were due her, she testified.

Mrs. Clara P. Buxton of 4350 Park Ave., testified she turned over to Mr. Shideler some brewery stock, which she said was of no value. He assured her, however, that he would make her "a lot of money on it," she testified.

When Mrs. Buxton failed to identify some papers which the Government contended supported Count 11 of the indictment, U. S. District Attorney Val Nolan dismissed that count against Mr. Shideler. Mrs. Buxton could not positively say that the papers were received through the United States mails as the indictment charged.

Eleven counts of mail fraud, four charging violation of the Securities Act and a single count charging conspiracy to defraud remain.

Mrs. Phoebe Carr, 264 Laverock Road, said she asked Mr. Shideler to sell 50 shares of S. Rubber Co. stock for her because she was frightened by threats of war in Europe. Mr. Shideler would not sell the stock, she said, telling her that she would make more money by waiting until later. She testified Mr. Shideler kept the 50 shares and paid her nothing for them. U. S. Rubber common stock was quoted today at about $38 a share.

Frederick W. Shideler, William A. Shideler's father, pleaded guilty to the same charges his son is being tried on, and was sentenced to seven years in prison and was fined $5,000. He now is at Leavenworth Penitentiary.

Yesterday eight Government witnesses told the jury of their losses through investments in Shideler & Co.

Miss Jesse Wormser, 2450 N. New Jersey St., said she had turned over more than $3000 worth of stocks and bonds to Mr. Shideler. All she ever received, she said, was $34 cash.

Earlier Walter Breyer of 821 N. Ritter Ave., a 53-year-old former railroad conductor who lost his legs in a railway accident, said he had threatened Mr. Shideler with death unless his money was returned to him. Mr. Breyer said he had lost $4500 in cash turned over to the Shideler firm.

Mrs. Sarah C. Woodson, of 239 N. Illinois St., Apt. 107, said she had turned over $10,434 worth of stocks to the Shideler firm and had received in return only $580.

Curtis G. Butler, 626 E. 46th St., said he gave them two checks totalling $750 and received nothing but receipts in return.

Peter J. Fortune, 1716 N. Meridian St., testified he gave young Shideler a check for $500 with which to purchase stock. He identified letters which purportedly described stock transactions resulting in profits to him but he never received the money, he said.

Death Kneel—By Tucker

Declared Russell I. Richardson, portraying Abraham Lincoln:

"The chief magistrate derives all his authority from the people. . . . His duty is to administer the present government, as it came to his hands, and transmit it, unimpaired by him, to his successor."

Said Secretary of State James Tucker:

"In 1940, the Republicans and some Democrats will get together to give the New Deal fascism and communism the works, and we'll never hear from them again."

They got a great kick out of it.

Who Sent Peanuts?

But toward the end of the performance some of the Republicans at the back end of the room forgot their present distaste for the more beautiful life and "backslid."

A boy with a basket of peanuts showed up, and was promptly swamped. He sold out in two minutes, selling 17 bags of peanuts at 10 cents apiece.

He refused to give his name, leading a suspicious Republican to deduce that some "vulture" must have sent him.
