

SCHEDULE TALK BY ARTHUR NUTT

Hoosier Engineers to Hear
Aircraft Expert at Meeting Feb. 9.

Arthur Nutt, president of the National Society of Automotive Engineers, and vice president for engineering of the Wright Aeronautical Corp., will speak before the Indiana section of the Society of Automotive Engineers on Friday evening, Feb. 9, at the Hotel Antlers.

Arthur Nutt

Mr. Nutt is head of the Curtiss-Wright Corp., America's largest manufacturer of airplane motors. His address will cover a world review of aircraft engine progress up to the present and trends both in air-cooled and liquid-cooled engines.

He is regarded as an authority on aircraft motors. In the early days of the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Co. he was chief motor engineer. When the company was merged with the Wright Corp. he became the head of the engine development section of the organization.

His early work with the Curtiss organization began soon after he left college. Under his direction some of the most famous water-cooled plane motors were developed. He also developed the first double-row air-cooled radial engine for aircraft.

Because of the fame of his engines and his American and world travels, Mr. Nutt knows not only American airplane facts, but the world aspect of airplane production and operation.

Mr. Nutt has been prominent for years in affairs of the automotive society. He is a member of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences and of two sub-committees of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, and the National Aeronautic Association.
