SOCIETY—

G. Barrett Moxley Home Scene Of Danner-Tarkington Wedding

Miss Jeanette Lambeth Tarkington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvan Y. Tarkington, will become the bride of Burford Danner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Danner, in a ceremony at 4 p. m. today in the home of G. Barrett Moxley, a cousin of the Tarkingtons.

Preceding the ceremony, Dale Young, organist, will play the Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana," the "Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger," Rubenstein's "Kammermusik-Ostrow," "To an Evening Star," "The Venetian Love Song" and "Liebestraum." The Mendelssohn and Lohengrin wedding marches will be played for the ceremony.

Dr. Jean S. Milner will perform the ceremony before a large gold-framed mirror in the drawing room. At the base of the mirror will be a low pedestal of pink and blue hydrangeas, pale pink rambler roses, tulips and maidenhair fern, flanked by tubs of blue hydrangeas. Pink tapers will be used in the wall candelabra and a canopy of smilax strands will cover the ceiling of the room. Garlands of the smilax draped over the windows will be caught with sprays of pale pink roses.

Stairway Will Be Decorated

The stairway down which the bride and her attendants will come will be decorated with greenery and a pedestal of pink and blue hydrangeas, tulips and roses. As the party approaches the drawing room, seven ribbon bearers, Misses Ruth Fishback, Margaret Jameson, Fayette Ann Miller, Jane Axtell, Harriet Patterson, Anne Fox and Patricia Eaglesfield, will form an aisleway with ribbons caught with nosegays.

Gowns of the attendants will be of marquisette in shades of blue. Designed with V necklines and short puffed sleeves, they will have bouffant skirts inset with panels of matching chantilly lace and ruffles at the hemlines. Mrs. Cornell Wooley Acheson, Wilmington, Del., the bride's cousin, will be in deep blue and Miss Irving Moxley, another cousin, will wear lighter blue. Mrs. William A. Garrigue Jr., New York, sister of the bridegroom and matron of honor, will wear pale blue. They will carry bouquets of light and dark blue delphinium and cornflowers and will wear pink lilies in their hair.

The flower girl, Marjorie Tarkington, sister of the bride, will wear a long mist blue frock fashioned like those of the other attendants and will carry a basket made of blue maline petals filled with pink hydrangea blossoms.

Henry R. Danner to Be Best Man

The bride's gown will be of white marquisette the chantilly lace bodice designed with a square neckline and short puffed sleeves. A full-length train falling from the waistline will be bordered with a ruffle of chantilly lace. Her long illusion veil will fall from a wreath of orange blossoms. Her cascade bouquet will be of white orchids, lilies of the valley and farfareuse fern.

Henry R. Danner will be his son's best man and ushers will be William A. Garrigue Jr., New York, Dr. Sidney Blandford, Cleveland; Charles DuPuy, Greensburg, Pa.; Thomas Ruckelshaus, Samuel R. Sutphin and Russell Fortune Jr.

The bride's mother will wear dahlia pink jersey with orchids; Mrs. Danner will be in powder blue marquisette and lace, worn with orchids and lilies of the valley, and Mrs. E. A. Lambeth, grandmother of the bride, will wear mist blue crepe.

A reception for members of the families and intimate friends will follow at the Moxley home. Bowls of summer flowers will be used throughout the house. The wedding cake will rest upon a low pedestal of lilies of the valley and silver fern, flanked by tubs of lilies of the valley and swainsonia will be used on the table. Silver wire coolers filled with summer flowers will be used in the library.

Out-of-Town Guests Will Attend

Out-of-town guests will include William Brown and Mrs. Samuel D. Jones, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Goff and Miss Jeanette Goff, Urbana, O.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Lewis and Mrs. Joseph W. Lewis Jr., all of St. Louis, and Miss Alice Goff, Nebraska City, Neb. Miss Margaret Jameson came from Bryn Mawr College for her cousin's wedding.

The bride-attended Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., and is a member of the Dramatic Club. Her father is a first cousin of Booth Tarkington. Mr. Danner was graduated from Deerfield Academy and Williams College. He is a member of the Dramatic, Woodstock and Columbia Clubs and the Traders' Point Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Danner will leave on a wedding trip, the bride traveling in a gray suit accented with white and worn with black accessories and a corsage of white orchids. The at home address is 1 E. 36th St.

May Edith Luten Becomes Bride of John Bassel Watson

The Rt. Rev. Richard A. Kirchhoffer, bishop of the Diocese of Indianapolis, performed the ceremony at noon today in the Propylaeum uniting Miss Mary Edith Luten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Luten, and John Bassel Watson, son of Mr. Philomen Watson.

Smilax garlands were draped over the three windows forming the bay in which the ceremony was read and boxes of tulips, lilacs and delphinium were placed at the base of each window. The bench upon which the couple knelt was flanked by pedestals of lilacs, yellow roses, tulips and summer flowers. The kneeling bench cushion belonging to the bridegroom's mother was used for the weddings of Mrs. Elias C. Atkins and Mrs. Alfred Stokely.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white organza gown with a full skirt, which swept into a train. The tight bodice was made with a square neck and puffed sleeves. She wore a finger-clip veil and carried white lilacs.

Sister of Bride Only Attendant

Miss Wilhelmina Luten, sister of the bride, and her only attendant, wore powder blue net in bouffant style, with a tucked bodice, short sleeves and a romance neckline. Her flowers were lilacs in orchid shades. Elias C. Atkins, brother-in-law of Mr. Watson, was best man.

A trio, composed of Mrs. Frank T. Eidenharter, Mrs. Leland Fishback and Mrs. Robert Shultz, played bridal airs during the ceremony. Preceding the ceremony they played Debussy's "Romance" and "Clair de Lune," "Ave Maria," "To an Evening Star" and "Liebestraum."

A reception at the Propylaeum followed the ceremony. Japanese apple blossoms and summer flowers were used in decorations. In the dining room white lilacs were used on the table and the cake rested on a pedestal of lilacs and smilax. Bowls of white tulips, lilacs and snapdragons were placed before the mirrors.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mrs. Daniel Royse, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Gallagher, Charleston, W. Va. Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Watson will be at home temporarily after June 1 with the bride's parents. Mrs. Watson traveled in a green print frock and beige coat worn with a brown hat and accessories and a corsage of tuberous begonias.
