

NAVY TO CHECK CITY FACILITIES FOR AIR STATION

Board to Give Advice on Reserve Base, After Visit Friday.

The Navy Department is considering establishment of a Naval Reserve Aviation Base at Indianapolis and will send a special board here Friday to investigate facilities. The Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics has informed Mayor Reginald Sullivan that Indianapolis "is considered an advantageous locality" in which to establish one of a group of additional reserve bases necessary under the present expanding Naval Aviation training program.

The board, whose membership was not disclosed, will fly here from Washington Friday to meet with Mayor Sullivan and I. J. (Nish) Dierhart, Municipal Airport superintendent.

No Estimate of Investment

No estimate was made of the investment involved should a base be located here. It is believed such a station would be placed at or near the Municipal Airport.

The base would make operating flight equipment available to Naval reserve fliers, permitting them to maintain proficiency through periodic flight practices. It also would serve as a preliminary training station for N. R. flight training.

City officials Mr. Dierhart and Myron Green, Chamber of Commerce industrial commissioner, are preparing a "prospectus" for the visiting board.

After its investigation, the board will return to Washington to make recommendations to the Navy Department.

In a letter to Mayor Sullivan, Capt. C. P. Mason, U. S. Navy, senior member of the Naval Reserve Aviation Board, said "your city, because of its geographical location, population and industrial opportunities for employment of N. R. personnel on inactive duty, is considered an advantageous locality in which to establish an additional base."

Lab Decision Due

The disclosure of Navy Department action came just as Mr. Green prepared to leave for Washington to present briefs to the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics on Indianapolis facilities to serve the $3,000,000 Federal aircraft engine research laboratory, which the city is seeking.

The decision on the lab location is expected to be made before Aug. 1, by a sub-committee of the N. A. C. A. Indianapolis is one of 50 cities that have made a bid for the engine project.

Shhh! Be Quiet or They'll Scurry Away

The Canadian Goose Family... Mama Turned Her Head in Alarm.

Only an accomplished wild goose chaser like Frank N. Wallace, State Entomologist, could have managed to get such a good picture of the only Canadian goose family at Lake Sullivan. Even so, the mama goose, heading the formation, turned her head in alarm. The six goslings are swimming the way they have been taught by their parents, single file, and the papa goose brings up the rear. The parents are extremely careful of their children and keep them as far as possible away from other birds and from humans.

KNOX APPROVAL IS HELD CERTAIN

Stimson Confirmed 2 to 1; Minton Votes in Favor, VanNuys Against.

WASHINGTON, July 10 (U. P.).—Senate confirmation of Col. Frank Knox as Secretary of the Navy was regarded as a foregone conclusion today following the 2 to 1 vote of approval yesterday for Henry L. Stimson, another Republican, as Secretary of War.

Democratic leaders believed Mr. Knox would receive a larger vote of confidence than the 56 to 28 one given Mr. Stimson.

Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana voted in favor of Mr. Stimson and Senator Frederick VanNuys voted against him. Acting Secretary of War Louis Johnson, in a nationally broadcast radio speech, reported "progress" in the preparation drive but warned that its completion would take time. Given that time, he said, "our splendid manpower and our unmatched industrial facilities can be converted into a military defense such as the world has never before."

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, called for prompt rearmament and warned that "to be second best is not only an invitation to war but to utter disaster."

GEORGE STOLTE, 74, DIES

FT. WAYNE, Ind., July 10 (U. P.).—George Stoltz, Vice President of the State Agriculture Board and former State legislator, died at St. Joseph Hospital here last night.

Bahamas Await More Tourists With Duke, Wally 'on Throne'

NASSAU, THE BAHAMAS, July 10 (U. P.).—The 62,000 inhabitants of the 29 islands, 661 islets and 2387 rocks forming the Bahama Islands, professed delight today that their former King, the Duke of Windsor, was going to be their Governor General.

Those "in trade" expected him and his American-born Duchess, the former Wally Simpson, to do marvels for the tourist trade.

The Duke will get $12,000 a year which he will have to supplement considerably from his private fortune if he is to travel in the wealthy Anglo-American set which, as Lady Jane Taylor, grand dame of the colony for 22 years, expressed it, "will receive the Duchess. She is the wife of the King's representative."

Lady Jane is the wife of the retired manager of the Bank of Montreal and the grandmother of Brenda Frazier, the glamour girl of New York society during last year's season. Miss Frazier spends part of her winters at the Taylor mansion here.

Howland Spencer, a boyhood friend of President Roosevelt who gave his estate adjacent to the Roosevelt estate to Father Divine, is another prominent American resident. There are several score here, many having come to escape high American taxes but who are now paying British war taxes, which are even higher.

Nassau, the capital of the Duke's new empire, is a small place on the principal island, but it has a Parliament House where both Edward and Wally will have thrones, as the representatives of the King and Queen of Britain, and the Florida playground of wealthy American society is but two hours away by plane.

The Governor's mansion is a large, rambling house of white stucco with a columned portico.

There are excellent beaches, a number of gambling casinos, a small race track, but no polo field. The climate is similar to that of the French Riviera.

EX-HOWARD OFFICIAL GETS THREE YEARS

HANLEY C. GOLDING, 45, Greentown, former treasurer of Howard County, and his brother, Cedric L. Golding, 35, Noblesville, today faced sentences of three and a half years in Federal prison for violation of the National Banking Act.

The Goldings were convicted in February and Judge Robert C. Baltzell at that time imposed sentences of a year each and suspended the judgment.

Last week, however, the State Board of Accounts reported finding a $24,693.65 shortage in the Howard County Treasurer's accounts and the Government charged that the shortage was connected with the operations which led to their original conviction.

Yesterday Judge Baltzell set aside the suspension of sentences and imposed the new penalties. Judge Baltzell also directed Paul Pfister, assistant U. S. District attorney, to investigate the case of Roy G. Hadley, Westfield, convicted with the Goldings in February.

HARPER RESIGNS AS M'NUTT AID

Leaves Security Administration Saturday to Resume I. U. Post.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Powell Harper resigned today as chief counsel for the Federal Security Administration and will return to his former post as professor at the Indiana University Law School at Bloomington.

Brought here on leave from the school as principal assistant to Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, Prof. Harper's resignation at this time was taken to mean that the McNutt regime will terminate shortly after the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

Prof. Harper's resignation is effective Saturday. He will be succeeded by Jack B. Tate, Bolivar, Tenn., who has been his assistant and an attorney with the Social Security Board since 1935.

Prof. Harper explained today that he will attend the Chicago convention and has high hopes for the nomination of Mr. McNutt as Vice President on a third term ticket.

He was on leave from I. U. and scheduled to return to teach a summer school class beginning July 24, he said. Both Prof. Harper and Mr. McNutt exchanged letters of courtesy regarding his service here.

Prof. Harper has been a crony of certain top-notch New Dealers and enjoyed his service here, he declared today.

Mr. and Mrs. McNutt and their daughter, Louise, left this morning for Chicago in the family car. They will spend Thursday night at Lake Wawasee with William Kunkel and be in Chicago for the week-end, according to Wayne Coy, Mr. McNutt's administrative assistant.

Mr. Coy is going to Indianapolis, where Mrs. Coy will enter a hospital for a minor operation. Later Mr. Coy may attend the convention.

SCHRICKER BACKS PARTY'S PLATFORM

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., July 10.—In his first political speech since his nomination for Governor, Lieut. Gov. Henry F. Schricker pledged here last night that if elected, he would support "every plank" of the Democratic State platform.

He spoke before a rally meeting of the Montgomery Women's Democratic Club.

He also assured party workers that there are "no sore" spots among Democratic leaders as a result of the factional contest for the Governor nomination. He asserted he had conferred with his convention opponents, David M. Lewis and R. Earl Peters, and was told that they would campaign actively for him this fall.

CYCLE PATROLMAN INJURED IN CHASE

Motorcycle Patrolman Leonard Shoemaker was injured last night when his cycle struck the rear bumper of a car he was attempting to halt on a speeding charge.

Harry Cohee, 30, of 1133 N. Drexel Ave., who was driving the car and who turned off the 4000 block E. 10th St. as the accident happened, was charged with speeding and failure to give a hand signal.

WILLKIE DARES FOES TO LOOK INTO CAMPAIGN

Angry at Talk of Inquiry; Week's Sleep First on Colorado Vacation.

By PAUL T. SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 10.—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, condemned today a purported move to investigate a "telegraphic campaign" on behalf of his candidacy at the Philadelphia convention.

His statement was in response to a promise of Senator Guy Gillette, (D. Iowa), head of the Senate Campaign Investigating Committee, to look into the "alleged high pressure telegraphic campaign on behalf of Wendell Willkie" after having received "written complaints." Mr. Gillette previously had said that the Philadelphia convention delegates were "deluged" with telegrams espousing the Willkie candidacy.

Mr. Willkie, in an obviously aroused mood, said that anyone "could investigate forever" the conduct of his campaign at Philadelphia without finding anything damaging.

Sleeps Late

"I do not propose to conduct a campaign on such trivialities," he spoke of his chartered airplane as it neared this vacation resort.

"A party which has to resort to such tactics as the New Deal is doing must indeed be nervous about the outcome of the November election."

The nominee slept late this morning. He said he hoped to spend three weeks in Colorado as the guest of Governor Ralph L. Carr. The first week was set aside for "making up for lost sleep." He added that he also wanted to do some reading. He has no political appointments today.

During the second week he plans to invite some prominent Republican leaders to Colorado. He named particularly Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, keynote speaker of the Philadelphia convention and the Willkie floor manager during the balloting; William Allen White, editor of the Emporia, Kas. Gazette and former Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania.

Plans Vigorous Campaign

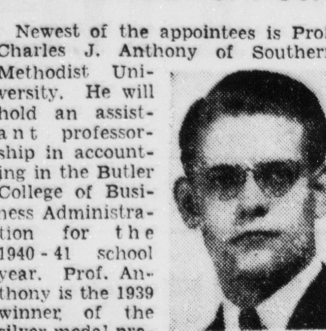

The third week, Mr. Willkie said, he would spend preparing the acceptance speech he will deliver at Elwood, Ind., his birthplace, sometime after Aug. 1.

He indicated that he would conduct a vigorous campaign, probably ranging the nation by special train. He said he would deliver several "set speeches," but also proposed to give many others from back platforms.

Mr. Willkie flew by chartered United Air Lines plane to Chicago from Washington yesterday accompanied by Mrs. Willkie and a crew of newspapermen and photographers. He stopped in Chicago, where he made a radio broadcast and met Dwight Green, Republican nominee for Governor of Illinois.

At Omaha, Neb., a large crowd of Republicans greeted him at the airport and Mr. Willkie made a brief, extemporaneous speech promising a Republican landslide in the November election.

HOLLYWOOD, July 10 (U. P.).—Actress Dian Manners asked $150,000 damages today from a Hollywood photographer who allegedly published two pictures of her in an undignified pose.

She sued Art Carter for invasion of her rights of privacy, charging that she had been "recognized as an actress of unusual ability and promise" when Mr. Carter published pictures of her in a "second rate" movie magazine.

420-BROADWAY LIBRARY PUSHED

Construction to Receive Consideration, School Board Indicates.

Construction of a new branch library at 42d St. and Broadway will be one of the first steps in any further building program of the School City.

This was assured last night when the School Board accepted a committee report which had been studying a petition of some 400 residents asking for a new branch library.

The committee report said it was sympathetic with the proposal but that financial conditions did not permit construction at this time. It added:

"However, the committee is so firmly convinced of the pressing need of this improvement that it is of the opinion that it should have every consideration in making up next year's expenditures as an improvement of the first importance." "Adequate library service is one of the prime needs of our various communities in extending information, promoting culture and preserving moral."

The committee included two School Board members—John F. White and Earl Buchanan—and L. L. Dickerson, City Librarian.
