

'HOME GUARD' PLAN ADVANCES

State Militia and 5th Corps Area Officers Discuss Proposed Setup.

Plans for creation of a "home guard" to replace the National Guard when the latter is called into Federal service were discussed today by Indiana National Guard and Fifth Corps Area officials at Columbus, O.

The proposed civilian guard would be used as a state militia to replace the National Guard's 5550 men and officers as troops to preserve law and order.

Chief problems under discussion at the Ft. Hayes conference were equipment, type of guard, its numerical strength and pay.

The "home guard" troops will be enlisted, according to the plans, from men not eligible to be drafted under the proposed Selective Service Bill.

It is believed that the War Department will furnish uniforms for the replacement troops, but that the State may have to pay them.

The State has no money earmarked for the purpose, but it was pointed out that Governor M. Clifford Townsend controls a military emergency fund which could be used for that purpose.

At the conference were Lieut. Col. Robinson Hitchcock, Indiana advisor on selective service plans, and Lieut. Col. Norman L. Thompson, assistant Indiana Adjutant General.

From the conference at Ft. Hayes, the Guard officers will go to Washington to discuss plans further with the War Department.

Hoosier Families Offer Homes to London Child Refugees Until War Peril Has Passed

70 in Marion County Register With Local Committee Aiding British.

By LEO DAUGHERTY

Hoosier hospitality has been extended across the sea to the children of bomb-rained London.

Hoosiers have offered to transfer children from the ruins of war, with its suffering and want, into all the comforts and plenty of their Indiana homes.

Twenty-seven families in Marion County and 70 in surrounding counties, have offered to take a refugee child.

They have registered with the local information committee of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children, Inc. Affidavits of their intentions have been forwarded to the committee headquarters in New York.

Families Not Named

The identity of those volunteering to care for children under 16 from bomb-torn England was not revealed by Mrs. Virginia S. Campbell, of the Council of Social Agencies and secretary of the local committee.

The families are of average means, from young to middle-aged, some with children of their own, others with none.

If they are accepted to care for a child, Miss Maxine Elliott, child welfare worker, will visit their homes and question them to determine if they are suited and able to care for a child.

Miss Elliott is a member of the local committee composed of representatives of welfare agencies and one of 172 such bureaus in the country.

Choice Is Available

A sponsor may ask for a "specified" child, one known by name, or an "unspecified" child, one to be selected by the committee's representative in London.

The "unspecified" child is a youngster with no relatives or known friends in the United States, one whose parents are willing to suffer the heartbreak of separation to insure his safety.

If the sponsor desires a "specified" child he must have the consent of the parents, give assurance of ability to support it and signify whether he intends to care for the child in his own home, that of a relative or friend or one designated by the committee.

Trust Fund Required

If the sponsor desires an "unspecified" child, he must make affidavit that:

The child will not become a public charge; will be cared for in accordance with the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor; will be subject to the supervision of the local committee.

Mrs. Virginia S. Campbell... finding havens for British refugee children.

vision of the U. S. Committee or the local bureau.

The affidavit must be accompanied by payment of $63 to cover the head tax visa charge and other incidentals and another $50 which is placed in a trust fund for every child admitted under the committee's plan.

The trust fund is in the nature of an insurance fund and will be used only if all underlying private assurances fail.

The U. S. Committee is responsible for medical examination of the children when they arrive in this country, the food and shelter given them until they are routed to their destination and transportation from the port of entry to their new home.

Sponsors are expected to be responsible for the child's full support, health and education.

Only children sound in body and mind are being registered in London for evacuation abroad.

In the event of long illness of the child, the sponsor must beforehand understand that he is expected to meet all emergencies which may arise just as if it were his own child.

The child a sponsor receives will be of his own religious faith and he will be expected to continue the religious pattern set by the child's parents and himself.

The child must be sent to school and any education problems which may arise are being worked out by the committee.

The sponsor does not report to the child's parents. The reports are made by the committee.

Adoption is not permitted and care must extend through the duration of the war. If it appears that the war is going to drag on for years adjustments will be made all along the line. Problems will be solved as they arise.

As to transportation of the children back to England after the war, the British Government has given assurance that they will be repatriated and the Committee understands this means payment of transportation.

Every sponsor will be given advance information on the child's abilities, temperament, his parents, home conditions and environment.

The local committee's office is 508 Majestic Building, Mrs. Campbell is on duty Thursday and Friday from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., and on Saturday from 8:30 a. m. until noon.

MICHAEL'S PALACE OPENED TO PUBLIC

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 10 (U. P.).—King Michael, in a democratic gesture, has opened the gates of the Royal Palace to the general public daily from 10 a. m. until noon.

Yesterday, the first day of the new order, he peeped through a window at the awed crowd that trickled out a back gate so rusty it had to be pried open. On future occasions, it was said, the young monarch probably will greet visitors personally. The opening of the palace is intended to inspire national confidence in him.

RADIO STRIKE THIS WEEK IS POSSIBLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (U. P.).—The 10,500 radio performers, singers and announcers belonging to the American Federation of Radio Artists vote this week on whether to strike against the three network broadcasting companies.

A strike, the result of dispute over salary schedules which broke down negotiations over a new contract, would affect only sustaining programs of the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia and Mutual Broadcasting Systems. Commercial programs are handled under a contract between the union and advertising agencies, which does not expire until Feb. 12, 1941. The contract between the AFRA and the companies expires Thursday.

OBEY TRAFFIC LAWS, YOUNG DRIVERS TOLD

The Indianapolis police today gave high school student drivers a stern assignment. . . . Be Careful! Obey Traffic Laws!

Particularly, the police said, don't overload your cars; avoid fast get-aways and speedy driving and use proper hand signals; don't make tires scream on corners.

Police grimly pointed out that these lessons must be learned right the first time.

As a final warning, the Division said that traffic arrests of youths with conditional driver's licenses will have a bearing on their being granted a regular license when they are old enough.
