

VOTERS SPLIT ON REPEAL OF JOHNSON LAW

Gallup Poll Shows More
Backing for Increased
Loans to Britain.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 21—A few weeks before the Nov. 5 election Senator King (D. Utah) made front-page headlines with a proposal to repeal the Johnson Act and clear the way for U. S. Government loans to Britain. Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans would touch the issue during the campaign, however.

Some indication of the close division of American sentiment on this issue is revealed today in a nationwide survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion. The results make it appear to have been good political strategy—at least—for the major parties to avoid this particular issue in the Presidential campaign.

The survey shows that a small majority favor making it possible for Britain to borrow here—even to the point of repealing the Johnson Act. Some indication of the public's attitude can be found in the answers of a cross-section of American voters to the following question:

"The Johnson Act prevents any country which has stopped paying interest on its debt of the last World War from borrowing money in the United States. Would you approve of changing this law so that England could borrow money from our Government?"

Majority Back Repeal

Those with definite opinions on the question answered:

Favor Changing Act . . . 54%
Opposed to Changing Act . . . 46%

An average of one voter in eight said he was undecided or without an opinion.

Democrats interviewed were more in favor of Johnson Act repeal (60% in favor) than were Republicans (47% in favor).

That there has been some shift of opinion on the whole question of loans to Britain since last spring is indicated, however.

When the same question was put to voters at the end of May 65 per cent said "no" to any change in the Johnson Act. Only 35 per cent were in favor of clearing the way for British loans.

It is safe to say that more Americans look with sympathy toward such loans today than six months ago.

Recall Unpaid Loans

Time and again voters recalled the United States' experience with unpaid World War loans.

On the other side, however, voters favoring loans to Britain stood on the grounds that "England's our first line of defense; we can give them dollars if we don't give them men."

Economists themselves are in disagreement on this latter point. In the last war the Allies borrowed large sums here, but did not liquidate vast capital reserves held by British citizens in other parts of the world. Some financial experts, including Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, have in the past held that British capital reserves are great enough.

ROOF OVER HOUSE HELD DANGEROUS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (U. P.)—Rep. Louis Rabaut (D. Mich.), today warned members that the House chamber "is actually dangerous" because the 80-year-old roof needs repairs.

Rep. George Bender (R. O.) said that if this were correct the House should meet in some other place until repairs were made. Speaker Sam Rayburn said temporary repairs would take five weeks.

The caucus room in the old House Office Building has been suggested as an interim meeting place.

The vast project affiliated with the construction of Boulder Dam consumed more than 30,000,000 pounds of copper.

STYLIST NEXT ON TOWN HALL

Refugee From France Will Discuss Fashions of Current Era.

Madame Elsa Schiaparelli, who fled France following the Nazi occupation, will speak in the Town Hall series at English's Theater at 11 a. m. Saturday.

A world famous couturiere, Madame Schiaparelli will discuss the fashions of today. She believes in simple lines and stark neatness. In a recent interview she said:

"In the building of a basic wardrobe we cannot go wrong if we strive for simplicity and perfect fitting. It is much wiser to insist on good materials, straight lines, neatness, and, if you effect a saving, to spend the difference on accessories."

Mrs. Elizabeth Patrick will introduce the speaker and will be hostess for the luncheon to follow the talk at the Columbia Club. Guests at the luncheon will include Miss Margery Henry from Marshall Field's, Chicago, and Mrs. Henry Burnham of Altman's, New York.

Just Stop, Let Life Catch Up

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21 (U. P.)—Don't blame that tired feeling on your job because, about nine times out of ten, it isn't responsible.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, nerve specialist at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., said today that usually the man who blamed his fatigue on his boss had nothing wrong except that he was traveling at too fast a gait for his own good. Such men, Dr. Alvarez said, would find life much more pleasant if they'd stop long enough to let life catch up with them.

A lot of nerve patients, he said, can be cured if they are given an allowance of $150 a month.

SO RICH IT WHIPS! COSTS LESS THAN A CANNED MILK

TAPIoca CREAM PUDDING

1 cup Milnut 1 cup water
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 egg separated 1/3 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup Milnut (to whip)

Heat Milnut and water in top of double boiler, add tapioca, and cook until clear (about 5 minutes). Beat egg yolk and slowly stir into tapioca. Add sugar and salt, and continue to cook not more than 3 minutes. Beat egg white until stiff and fold into cooked tapioca. Chill and serve with whipped Milnut, sweetened and flavored to taste.
