IT'S ALWAYS BEEN more or less puzzling to baseball fans in general when they read in the late fall that the Cincinnati baseball club is sold out of tickets for the following spring's opening day game.

The announcement is always brief and to the point, "no more reservations are being accepted, the demand exceeds the supply."

Since Indianapolis seldom comes close to winning any kind of attendance honors on opening day, despite the fact the home-town Indians are famous for winning their inaugural tilts, fans here doubtless will be interested in a story covering the Cincinnati situation.

Gabe Paul, the Reds' general road secretary and publicity chief, did some research work on the subject and came up with the following:

"In Cincinnati an opening day sellout before Christmas is not an unusual thing. It is the very usual procedure to allot the supply of inaugural tickets long before most major league teams begin to think about ticket printing, let alone a sellout.

"The Reds today are champions of the world. They have tremendous crowd appeal in and out of Cincinnati. But their championship appeal is not the reason for the sellout announcement. Reason is that opening day in Cincinnati has appeal in itself. It is a day that is different from other baseball days. It is opening day. That is enough.

"Back in the dark days, when the Reds were wallowing in the cellar, there was no letdown in opening day interest. There were Christmas sellouts then, just like today.

It's Traditional With Redleg Fans

"OPENING DAY interest existed in Cincinnati since the days of the first professional club in 1880. It has been traditional for Cincinnatians to attend the first game.

"Forefathers of the present day baseball fans attended the opening game just as their descendants are doing today. It is something that has grown of its own accord. It is something that could not have been stimulated.

"There is such a deep feeling for it that it necessarily must have been born into the children of the people who placed Cincinnati on the baseball map years ago.

"MOST PROLIFIC example of the Cincinnati opening day loyalty came in 1938, after the Reds finished a hopeless last in 1937, behind the pennant-winning Giants, and they closed the season by being so far off the pace in 1937 that they were 40 games behind the pennant-winning Giants, and they closed the season by dropping their last 14 games.

"Yet, in spite of all this, the largest opening day crowd in Cincinnati's history turned out the following spring when the Reds started their 1938 season.

"The unusual condition that exists in Redland has been the cause of attempts at duplication in other major cities. But Cincinnati's opening day cannot be duplicated."

Jewel Ens, World Series Unsung Hero

JEWEL ENS, the baseball pepperpot who recently tossed up the Indianapolis managerial reins to join the Cincy Reds as coach, continues to win acclaim for his part in the 1940 World Series. ... Writing in the Cincinnati Enquirer, Lou Smith says, in part:

"Quite a few of the Eastern writers, along with a few of the Detroit scribes, are still dashing off pieces that the unsung hero of the 1940 World Series is Jewel Ens.

"They claim that Ens won the championship for McKeechne by insisting that Paul Derringer, who had been knocked out in the second inning of the first game, be permitted to go back in the fourth inning.

"McKeechne had announced Thompson as his starter. But Ens kept working on the Deacon until he broke down his resistance. Derringer took Junior's place and won. Ens fought for Derringer in spite of the rather unclimatic action of the big right-hander. After he had been knocked out in the first game, Derringer complained that he had followed orders. This passed the buck vigorously to Ens, who had scouted the Tigers and drawn up the book on them. Jewel got pretty hot under the collar.

"Derringer had not followed the book and didn't have his usual amount of stuff that day. But Ens cooled down and kept badgering McKeechne until the Deacon gave in and postponed Thompson's debut in the series."

MILKMAN JIM TURNER, the Cincinnati hurler who used to toss 'em up for the Indianapolis Indians, has upped his age a couple of years over the figure carried in the baseball records.

For years Jim's "baseball age" has been carried as two years less than it actually is, he admitted in a note to the Cincinnati club when asked for his selective service registration number.

"Instead of being born Aug. 6, 1906, as the record books show, I was born on that date in 1904, so didn't have to register for conscription," the Milkman wrote.

In making Jim's "baseball age" "confession," Sporting News, the baseball weekly, carried a nifty headline, to wit: "Milkman Watered His Age."

Potsy Clark to Speak at Butler's Football Dinner

George (Potsy) Clark, one of the all-time great backfield men at the University of Illinois and more recently coach of the Detroit Lions professionals, will be the principal speaker at the Butler University Elite Key football banquet next Monday night at the Athenaeum.

Robert Nipper, Shortridge High School coach and a Butler luminary, will act as toastmaster.

Clark is an attached figure to Butler athletics, himself. He coached here in '27, '28 and '29, winning 14 games, losing nine and tying one.

He has been head coach at Kansas State and Michigan State and assistant at Illinois and Minnesota in addition to a whirl at the pro game. He has coached the Portsmouth team whose franchise later was changed to Detroit, and the Brooklyn Dodger pro outfit for two years.

Next year he will assume the athletic directorship of Grand Rapids College, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Honored guests at the banquet will include Butler's varsity and freshman football teams and the varsity cross-country team. Local high school coaches and Butler's opposing coaches this year also have been invited.

The 1941 Butler captain, elected by the entire team, will be announced, and the presentation of

Boston College Is Eastern Champion

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (U. P.).—Boston College has been awarded the Lambert Memorial Trophy, symbolic of the Eastern football championship, it was announced today.

A. L. "Pete" Phillips, Cardinal coach, will have three regulars from last year around which he hopes to build an unusually strong quintet. They are Dick Stealy and Bill Clason of Goshen, and Ray Ashley of Winchester. Several let-termen with considerable experience are on hand, however, including Ned Bussard of Peru, Bob Reid of Pennville, Ernie Sample of Goshen, and Howard Stout of Muncie.

The high flying Eagles, who will meet Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day, were named by every one of the 65 Eastern football writers and radio commentators who participated in the poll.

More Baseball Trading Awaited at Atlanta

Chisox-Red Sox Deal Collapses At Last Minute

Red-Dodger-Cub Swap Helps All, Is Belief

By GEORGE KIRKKEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 5.—More activity was expected on the major league trading marts today as the minor league convention moved into its second day.

Reactions to the Reds-Cubs and Dodgers-Cardinals deals of yesterday furnished many conflicting opinions among baseball's heavy thinkers but the majority inclined toward the belief that other trades were on the fire. The Giants, Pirates and Cardinals were the National League clubs most frequently mentioned in the trade rumors.

Red Sox in the Mood

Action also was expected in the American League with the Boston Red Sox apparently the most anxious to barter. Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox came close to putting over a deal with the Chicago White Sox last night but had his appeal upset at the last moment.

Cronin offered Outfielder Doc Cramer, a left-handed hitter, to the White Sox for Outfielder Mike Kreevich, a right-handed hitter, and a shock hands with Jimmy Dykes, White Sox manager, over the deal only to have the sixth best hitting whole thing called off later by Harry Grabner, White Sox vice president.

There is a slight chance that the deal may be revived at the major league meeting next week in Chicago.

Cramer, who is 34, hit .302 last season and tied with Rip Radcliff and Barney McKosky for the league lead in the most hits, each with 200. Kreevich, who is 30, hit .266 last season, an off year for him.

Most critics believe that the Reds, Dodgers and Cubs all helped themselves in yesterday's swapping.

Reds, in giving up shortstop Billy Myers, the Cubs, last night, Outfielder Jimmy Gleason, Shortstop Bobby Mattick and another player to be named by May 1. In giving up Myers, the Reds admitted that they are willing to go along with Eddie Joost at short next season. Joost had just about won the shortstop job from Myers last season, and actually outthrew Myers. Gleason, who was the National League's sixth best hitter last season with a mark of .313, is a good all-around ball player. And he helps the Reds where they need help most—in the outfield and the plate.

Although some factions contend that the Reds got all the better of the Cubs' deal, Jimmy Wilson, Cubs' pilot, and big Paul Derringer, who is circulating here, don't think so. Wilson, analyzing the Cubs' shortstop, says the deal is a weakness, thinks that he solved that problem without weakening his own club.

"I consider Myers a great shortstop and I'm certain of his cooperation with the Cubs and me," Wilson said.

He's Okeh by Big Paul Derringer, the Reds' World Series pitching hero, was emphatic in saying that he thinks the Cubs helped themselves.

"I wouldn't attempt to second guess Bill McKeechne on anything," Derringer said, "but I believe it's worth noting that no ball club could win 42 games by one run as the Reds did last season with a clown at shortstop."

Larry MacPhail is enthusiastic over getting Catcher Mickey Owen from the Cardinals in the deal in which the Dodgers gave up no vital men, making the deal with Gus Mancuso, veteran receiver, and John Pitaro, rookie pitcher from Dallas. The Dodgers had to put up $65,000 cash to swing the transaction. By tossing out $100,000 to the Phils in the Kirby Higbe deal and now $65,000 to the Cards, there is no doubt that the Dodgers are really serious about winning the 1941 pennant.

Purdue to Dine, Talk of Bucket

ALUMNI AND FRIENDS of Purdue University will gather at the Columbia Club this evening for the annual football banquet, not in honor of the Old Oaken Bucket but to hope for its return.

The dinner will start at 6:15 p. m. Tickets will be available at the door.

Roger Sneden, president of the Purdue Association of Indianapolis which is sponsoring the event, said that Mal Elward, his entire coaching staff and football seniors will be present. Also to be present are the 15 all-star high school football players from Indianapolis, chosen by coaches and sports writers. The players will be accompanied by their fathers or guardians.

Elward will be master of ceremonies and will introduce Elward, his staff and players. Main speaker of the evening will be Jack Ryan, sports editor of the Chicago Daily News.

Indians Buy Two Hen Hurlers From the St. Louis Browns

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 5.—The Indianapolis Indians laid cold cash on the line today for a pair of pitchers and continued to scout the minor league gathering for further baseball talent.

The two pitchers acquired were George Gill, a right-hander, and Jake Wade, southpaw flinger. Both were purchased from the St. Louis Browns for an undisclosed sum.

Both hurlers worked with the eighth-place Toledo Mud Hens in the Association last season, playing in 40 games, winning eight and losing 12.

Wade, a 27-year-old, formerly saw action with Raleigh, Evansville and some Coast teams before going to the Detroit Tigers in 1936. Later he was traded to the Red Sox, then to the Browns, whence he was sent to Toledo.

Gill has served with Shreveport, Beaumont, the Tigers and the Browns. He is 29 years old.

Reel Glory

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Dec. 5 (U. P.).—Tom Harmon, Michigan's all-America halfback, disclosed as he paused here briefly in the midst of personal appearance tours that he has received two movie offers.

Representatives of Warner Brothers and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have opened negotiations with him, Harmon said. Further conferences were scheduled for next week.

A crate of raspberries, sent Harmon by the Minneapolis City Council because he said Michigan should have beat Minnesota by four touchdowns, arrived—crushed. Harmon gave them to the coaching staff.

Crack 9 Pro Grid Records

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Nine individual records were broken and one tied during the 1940 National Football League season, according to final statistics released today.

Sammy Baugh of Washington and Davey O'Brien and Don Looney of Philadelphia accounted for three new standards each, the first two named in forward passing and the latter, a rookie, in pass receiving.

John Drake, Cleveland, Jimmy Johnston, Washington and Clarke Hinkle, Green Bay, all tied the previous record of three touchdowns in one game.

Not one of last year's individual champions retained their titles, although Whizzer White, Detroit, won back his 1938 ground-gaining crown and Sammy Baugh reclaimed forward passing honors which were his in 1937.

Undoubtedly the greatest individual feat of the year was the 33 passes completed for 316 yards by O'Brien against Washington. This accounted for new records of completions and yardage for one game, and increased his season's completions to 124, also a new mark.

Baugh, though finishing second to O'Brien in completions, had a season total of 111 out of 177 tosses for 1367 yards, an efficiency mark of 62.7 per cent. The efficiency bettered the old figure of 61.7 by teammate Frank Filchook last year.

White shaded Johnny Drake, Cleveland fullback, 514 yards to 460. Tufty Lemons, New York's league leader in 1936, finished third with 474. Banks McFadden, Brooklyn's rookie all-America from Clemson, was fourth with 411 yards and Dick Todd, Washington, fifth with 408. McFadden's average of 6.3 yards per try in 65 attempts was the highest in the circuit.

The scoring race was closer than the one in ground gaining. Hutson had seven touchdowns, 15 extra points for 57 points. Drake had nine touchdowns, the same number as Dick Todd, Washington, but also added two extra points, for a total of 66 points to 54 for Todd.

One College Game Carded Tonight

Only one college basketball game is scheduled this evening in Indiana—Tri-State College opening its season against Adrian at Angola.

In last night's single contest Defiance College of Defiance, O., slapped Indiana Tech of Ft. Wayne, 53-38. Defiance coasted to victory after leading, 20-6, at the half.

Creighton Has Nation's No. 1 Ground Gainer

Detroit Back Listed as Best Rusher

SEATTLE, Dec. 5 (U. P.).—The American Football Statistical Bureau confirmed today that Johnny Knolia of Creighton University was the nation's No. 1 ground gainer for the 1940 collegiate season.

With two more games than Michigan's Tom Harmon, Knolia gained 1420 yards. Harmon, according to revised official figures from the Michigan-Ohio State contest, finished with 1346 yards.

The bureau, winding up its season records, also revealed that Knolia carried or passed the ball in 298 plays, more than any other back this year. Close behind was Bill Sewell, Washington State College's ace passer, with 297.

Paul's Tosses Gained Yards

Only newcomer to the first ten in total offense was Johnny Supulski of Manhattan. With one game not reported, Supulski was in ninth place.

The tag-end of the season's schedule failed to affect the rankings of Detroit's Al Ghesquiere as the best rusher and Sewell as the top passer. Ghesquiere set a new record of 957 yards from ground plays this season while Sewell completed 86 out of 174 passes. Yardage honors in passing went to Paul Christian of Missouri, with 1131 yards.

Best punter for 1940 was Owen Price of Texas Mines, who established the high mark of 48 yards per kick. Bryant of Virginia University led in pass receiving with 30 completions.

76 Allerdice Passes Good

Total Offense—Sewell, Washington State, 1333 yards; Christian, Missouri, 1312; Jimmy Richardson, Marquette, 1263; Jimmy Reynolds, Oklahoma, 1237; Ghesquiere, Detroit, 1242; Bill Dudley, Virginia, 1191; Supulski, 1127; Dave Allerdice, Princeton, 1025.

Rushing—Harmon, 844. Knolia, 813; Bob Westfall, Michigan, 807; Tony Gallovinci, Wake Forest, 708.

Passing—Allerdice, 76 completions; Christian, 69; Dudley, 67; Supulski, 64.

Pass Receiving—Lach, Duke, 26; Krouse, Penn State, 25; Humbert, Richmond, 25; Jennings, Oklahoma, 25.

Punting—Jack Jacobs, Oklahoma, 44.94; Dick McGowan, Auburn, 43.59; Don Scott, Ohio State, 42.34; McClung, Colorado, 42 (averages listed only for those who have punted 30 or more times).

Sees Death of College Football

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 5 (U. P.).—Dr. Forrest C. Allen, successful basketball coach and former director of athletics at the university of Kansas, expressed the opinion today that college football would not last another 10 years.

"Somebody has done something to football, and as a result football is on the way out," he said. "In some schools under present conditions football is more professional than it is on the straight out and out professional teams of the National League. Certainly there is less hypocrisy among the professionals."

Allen reminded interviewers that he formerly coached football and that he had no prejudice against it.

Umps to Meet

The Indianapolis Baseball and Softball Umpires' Association will meet at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the headquarters. All members are requested to attend.

Ben Davis Wins

The Ben Davis High School freshmen won their fourth straight basketball victory yesterday when they trounced Manual's riding, 28 to 15, at the Manual gym. McKinley Sears was high point man.

Irish Will Hear Plenty of Talk

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Dec. 5.—Coaches from Army, Navy, Iowa, Northwestern, Wisconsin and Notre Dame will collaborate with Gene Tunney, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, outstanding baseball managers and Pat O'Malley of radio renown, on the speaking program of the 50th annual testimonial dinner to be sponsored by the Notre Dame club of the St. Joseph Valley, honoring the Irish squad. The affair will be held in the East Notre Dame dining hall Monday evening, Dec. 16. Tunney will be the principal speaker.

O'Malley, NBC artist, who appears with Alec Templeton, famous blind pianist, and Ray Noble's orchestra, is one of radio's foremost comedians. He will be toastmaster.

Capt. Bill Wood of Army, Major E. E. (Sveve) Larson of Navy, Lynn Walden of Northwestern, Dr. Eddie Anderson of Iowa, and Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin will join Notre Dame's Coach Elmer Layden at the speakers' table. Baseball will be represented by Jimmy Wilson, newly-appointed manager of the Chicago Cubs; Bill McKeechne, manager of the world champion Cincinnati Reds, and Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Representing Notre Dame on the program in addition to Coach Layden will be the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the University; Capt. Milton J. (Moose) Piepul, 1940 football leader, and the 1941 captain-elect. The announcement of the 1941 captain will be made at the banquet following an election by monogram winners earlier in the day.

Caps Far Back In the Pack At the Quarter

New Haven Hands 'Em First Shutout

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 5.—A quarter of the way through their schedule, the Indianapolis hockey Capitals today found themselves far behind the American League's western division leaders and only three points away from the division cellar.

Tonight they meet the Providence Reds here—a team they defeated in Indianapolis a week ago. After that, they will move to Hershey Saturday night and return home to their own Coliseum Sunday to face Springfield's Eastern division leaders.

Last night the Caps' scoring punch fell to a new low as they failed to score a goal on New Haven's goalie, Phil Stein. The 3-0 affair marked the first time this season the Hoosiers had been blanked. Both Connie Brown and Butch McDonald were back on the ice, but this failed to help Indianapolis a whole lot.

An unassisted goal by George Manasco after five minutes of the first period put the Eagles to the front, and they banged home two more in the third period after a scoreless second stanza. Marcel Tremblay and Gus Mancuso fired the second and third tallies.
