

ABSENT VOTER BALLOTS VITAL IN CHECK HERE

Challenged by Democrats,
Could Decide at Least One Race.

The recount of votes cast for 22 offices in the Nov. 5 election was at a "critical" stage today as the checking of paper ballots neared its close.

Facing the board today was the matter of passing on 26 disputed ballots—questionable ballots laid aside during the recount—and a decision on several hundred absent voter ballots received by mail and not counted Election Day because of challenges by precinct workers.

The fate of several candidates involved in the recount may hinge on the board's acceptance or rejection of these absent voter ballots.

May Decide Treasurer Race
Republican workers say most of the absent ballots were cast by Republican voters and were challenged by Democratic workers "without any real reason."

Counting of these ballots might be the deciding factor in the Treasurer's race. The official election returns showed Walter C. Boetcher, Democratic incumbent, defeating Paul C. Tegarden, Republican, by 185 votes. Mr. Boetcher lost six votes in the voting machine recount, but has gained 20 votes in the paper ballot recount, it was reported.

Acceptance of the absent voter ballots might give Mr. Tegarden enough votes to win, his supporters believe.

Deny They'll Drop Suits
Reports that the Democratic candidates might drop their recount actions before the voting machines are checked were denied by several.

The voting machine results were rechecked in the Treasurer race contest but not in the other races. Among the Democratic contestants given the strongest hopes of reversing the official election results are Prosecutor David M. Lewis, who lost by 131 votes and Joseph F. Sexton, defeated for State Senator by 67 votes.

Contests Machine Total
Mr. Sexton is contesting the vote shown for him on a 40-year-old voting machine used in Precinct 13, Ward 12. The machine, which broke down several times Election Day, showed roughly 360 votes for all Democratic candidates except Mr. Sexton, who was shown as receiving 240.

He contends the machine failed to count his vote accurately. Mr. Sexton's supporters reported that he has obtained affidavits from more than 300 voters in the precinct that they voted for him.

AN OLD REFRAIN IS HEARD AGAIN— 'MAIL IT EARLY'

'All Parcels Must Be Securely
Wrapped, Etc.' Says
Mr. Seidensticker.

Mail volume increases 200 per cent during the Christmas season, according to the Postoffice, and so once again Postmaster Adolph Seidensticker today addressed the public to do its shopping and mailing early.

He added these hints:

1. All parcels must be securely packed and wrapped. Use strong paper and heavy twine.

2. Uninsured parcels eight ounces or less in weight may be mailed in street letter or package boxes, at all classified stations and branches, and at such numbered stations as are designated to receive parcels.

Mail at Main Office

Parcels weighing over eight ounces cannot be mailed in street boxes, but must be taken to the main postoffice or classified station or branch.

Parcels containing meat, food products, cut flowers or other perishable matter should be mailed only at the main postoffice or one of the large classified stations.

3. Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence cannot be included in parcels. A letter placed in an envelope addressed to correspond with the address on the parcel and fully prepaid at the first-class rate may be tied or otherwise securely attached to the outside of the parcel.

Bright Cards Blinding

4. Do not mail Christmas greeting cards in red, green or other dark-colored envelopes or in very small envelopes. (Postal clerks say that after a few hours' sorting colored envelopes, many of them addressed in aluminum ink, they "can hardly see.")

No parcel may be more than 100 inches in length and girth combined nor exceed 70 pounds in weight.

In the last war the Medical Corps trained 80 out of every 1000 men conscripted.

HE HAD THE RING BUT FORGOT THE LICENSE

FAIRFIELD, Conn., Dec. 4 (U. P.).—Many are the stories about the bridegroom who forgot to bring the ring.

In the case of William R. Saray, however—he forgot to get the license. When he remembered it, it was on a Sunday and the license bureau was closed. The next day, his wedding day, also was a holiday. It was nearly time for the ceremony when he finally reached the secretary of the Board of Health who helped him out of his dilemma. She arranged for him to procure the license at the home of one of the vital statistics workers.

"When they got Warmed up
I got the Cold Facts"

SAYS FRAZIER HUNT
World-Famous Reporter, War Correspondent and Radio Personality

CONTINUES MR. HUNT:

The flying record of these famous American Airline pilots totals 5,000,000 miles... many flown in sub-zero weather... And when these pilots warm up on the subject of winter gasoline they give you cold facts.

Here's the consensus of their expert opinion: In cold weather, a gasoline has an important job ahead of it the instant the motor starts. It must keep your motor going so that the cold metal parts quickly reach proper operating temperature. Otherwise, there is fuel-dilution, poor acceleration and loss of smooth performance because of incomplete combustion.

With Tydol Flying A, you get this all important winter service any time, any day. A touch of the starter and zip—you're off!... from a quick start to a warm, steady surge of power... with more complete combustion and less waste of fuel!

I could tell you much more... but a tankful of Tydol Flying A in your car tells its own story... best!
