

Bulldogs Set to Fire When They See the Whites of Their 'I's'

By J. E. O'BRIEN

Jordan (Jelly) Hall, sturdy seat of Butler learning, usually is a solemn, rockbound place where a student can go about his business of getting an education and weekend dates.

Only on rare occasions is the dignity broken—times when the Collegian staff loses a couple of bundles of fresh papers or when the steam shovel operator digs in on the new College of Religion building. Or when Butler's basketball team is playing Indiana.

This is the week of the Butler-Indiana game, and there's no need to tell you of the confusion resulting therefrom. Butler's coaches have imposed a voluntary ban on the display of Crimson finger-nail polish and will hurl a textbook much too weighty to be carried in dainty arms at one who would dare say the Hoosiers will win.

In dank corners where book is made—without official sanction, of course—it's 75 cents on the Bulldogs and you're welcome to Indiana and seven points. Guys with a budget to balance and Yule gifts to buy confine their pre-game activity to convincing other guys already convinced that Butler has the game on the new College of Religion building. Or when Butler's basketball team is playing Indiana.

You might call this overenthusiasm, considering that Indiana hasn't lost a non-conference game two years running—when we say running, brother, we mean running. Butler doesn't think so. President D. S. Robinson invited Indiana's District Herman B. Wells to be his guest at the game. "It's the best opportunity President Wells will have of seeing the Hoosiers lose this season," said President Robinson. How's that for prexy vexing?

Over at the Fieldhouse where basketball becomes a business, it's a question of slowing McCracken's Fireball Five at least to a speed where the referee can catch their numbers as they go by. Tony Hinkle got an awful lot of I. U. zip last Saturday night, and it's only his good sportsmanship that keeps him from installing tank traps and highway warning markers on the floor.

Obviously he has made the Bulldogs aware of Indiana's speed, but has anybody warned the officials? We're afraid some striped-shirt whistle-blower Thursday night will get caught between a couple of Hoosier forwards and wind up spinning like a barber pole.

Today Butler was to take its final heavy workout for the game. These are intrasquad affairs where the shirted players try to run the legs off the barebacks and where the barebacks try to prove to Hinkle that the first five should lose the shirts off their backs.

Last night's game, conducted on these lines, was won by what was the first five, 42-30. In this quintet were Captain Bob Dietz and Wilber Schumacher at forward, Bill Hamilton at center and Lyle Neat and James McCray at guards. A newcomer to the second five was sophomore Bob Fletcher, who is expected to carry some goals from New Castle. There's more than six feet of Mr. Fletcher, and his occupation is forward.

When today's scrimmage is completed, the only job remaining will be for Coach Hinkle to give his boys their final plans for battle. This will not be reported for obvious military reasons.

Butler would like to have it mentioned, too, that there's nothing private about this scrap with Indiana. It will be staged in full view of the public on that wooden rectangle smack in the middle of the Fairview Fieldhouse. The time is 8:15 Thursday evening, and guests will be permitted to bring friends and lunches with the understanding that none of the former are eaten during the excitement.

Butler's Bulldogs are ready to play now, but believe it advisable to hold their fire until they see the whites of their "I's."

Propaganda, merely propaganda, declare Butler's first-stringers as they read what an I. U. campus sportswriter has to say of the Fireball Five. The skeptics are (left to right) Bill Hamilton and Lyle Neat. Reading over their shoulders are James McCray (left) and Wilber Schumacher.

SPORTS... By Eddie Ash

INDIANAPOLIS' ice hockey team was in Springfield, Mass., today for a return engagement tonight with the Indians, American League leaders. . . . If Manager Herbie Lewis stuffed some boxing gloves in the Caps' luggage he did not let on.

The fistic art is a part of hockey and the Caps are pretty good at it even if they don't get their share of goals.

After playing in Springfield, the Hoosiers will rest tomorrow, play at Buffalo Thursday, at Cleveland Saturday and then scoot home to meet Hershey in the Coliseum Sunday.

Hockey is flourishing in Cleveland where the Barons have attracted a total of 69,737 fans for eight home games, a game average of 7967. . . . A crowd of 11,423 turned out there last Saturday night.

It's a big Saturday night town for sports. . . . The Indianapolis hockey officials prefer Sunday over Saturday for their "big" night. The "boys" around town who like to risk a few bob on future events are itching to play the Indianapolis ball club and Indianapolis hockey team to finish in the second division. . . . Now is that nice?

At any rate, both organizations are anxious to take on new talent if it can be found, and suggestions are solicited.

Butch McDonald continues high point man for the Caps with 12 to his credit, mainly on assists. . . . Keating is ahead in goals with five, and he has four assists. . . . But second high scorer is Fisher, four goals and six assists. . . . What the books show:

	G.	A.	Pts.		G.	A.	Pts.
McDonald	3	9	12	McAtee	4	3	7
Fisher	4	6	10	Kilrea	2	2	5
Keating	5	4	9	Jones	3	1	4
Jennings	4	5	9	Behling	1	3	4
Liscombe	4	4	8	Whitlaw	1	2	3
Brown	2	6	8	Bush	2	0	2
Dillon	1	7	8	Herschmattner	0	2	2
Thomson	2	5	7

Bowling Leaders on National Scale

LATEST LISTS of the season's leading bowling scores in the nation compiled by the American Bowling Congress:

Men's Competition

High Individual Three-Game Series—Burt Barkow, Milwaukee, 802; Herb Freitag, Chicago, 800; Ed Denk, Rochester, N. Y., 792; Ed Weber, St. Louis, 785.

High Team Three-Game Series—Fabs Blue Ribbon, Chicago, 3497; Silver Seal Soda, St. Louis, 3428; Rosenblums, Cleveland, 3350; Stoney Jones, McKees Rock, Pa., 3314; Joseph L. Gill, Chicago, 3314.

High Team Single Games—Fabs Blue Ribbon, Chicago, 1263; East Side Beer, Los Angeles, 1244; Wolverine Express, Muskegon, 1230.

Women's Competition

High Individual Single Games—Emma Peloth, Buffalo, 296; Laura Stellmacher, Chicago, 290; Anita Hahn, Delaford, Wis., 278; Lillian Wachter, Cleveland, 276; Anna Lee Daniels, Dallas, 276.

High Individual Three-Game Series—Ann Tonkovic, St. Louis, 685; Judy Hindel, Indianapolis, 683; Louise Connolly, Green Bay, 683; Wana Anderson, Milwaukee, 683.

High Team Single Games—Kornits Oils, Milwaukee, 1072; Morgan-Schultz, Chicago, 1041; Linsz Recreation, Cleveland, 1038.

High Team Three-Game Series—Logan Square Buicks, Chicago, 2958; Kornits Oils, Milwaukee, 2908; Rovick Shoes, Chicago, 2863; Schmidt's, St. Paul, 2861.

Who Watered the War Paint?

THE Washington Redskins professional footballers did the Vanishing Indian act better than any script in fiction. . . . Maybe they were framed during dress rehearsal and somebody watered their war paint. . . . Or were they caught in a downwind by the Bears and gassed?

In splitting up their payoff money, the Redskins voted half shares to Andy Farkas, injured halfback, and Don Irwin, backfield coach, a two-thirds share to Doc Mauro, trainer, and nothing to Jack Espey, business manager.

George Marshall, Redskins' owner, told the squad at a meeting yesterday that he would make up the difference between what the above four were voted and a full share which amounted to $606.25.

FARKAS, who led the professional grid league in scoring in 1939, was injured in September and played only a couple of minutes all season until the playoff game. . . . Many Washington fans were wrought up over the failure of the Redskins to give Farkas a full share and taunted them repeatedly during last Sunday's game.

"Give us Half-Share Farkas," one fan cried. "He's better than you bums who voted yourselves full shares."

Bockwinkle Gets the Panther's Spot on Tonight's Mat Card

An injured knee will keep the Black Panther from his scheduled appearance in the Armory mat ring tonight where he was booked to meet Ray Villmer, 222, young St. Louis grappler.

Villmer remains in the top attraction and will take on Warren Bockwinkle, 221, a well-known performer from New York, who had been carded for the semi-windup. Bockwinkle was a consistent winner here two seasons ago.

According to Promoter Lloyd Carter, there is a possibility that the Black Panther may be in shape to return here within two or three weeks.

In tonight's semi-windup, Irish Dan O'Connor, 228, Boston, engages Len Macaluso, 228, Rochester, N. Y., while the opener pits Rudy Strongberg, 230, Milwaukee, against Pat Fralay, 225, Lincoln, Neb.

Cage Scores

STATE COLLEGES

Northwestern, 53; Wabash, 32. Oakland City, 31; N.C.A.G.U., 28.

Indiana Central, 54; Millikin, 50 (triple overtime).

OTHER COLLEGES

Alderson-Broadbent, 47; Kent State, 44.

Morris-Harvey, 31; St. Vincent, 22.

Carleton, 34; Morrisville, 34.

Louis State, 37; Minnesota, 35.

Lawrence College, 33; Oshkosh State Teachers, 32.

Albion, 42; Hillsdale, 39.

Toledo, 58; Bluffton, 30 (second game).

Merced (Ky.), State Teachers, 34; Alfred Holbrook, 34.

South Dakota State, 47; Concordia (Nebraska), 42.

Long Island, 57; East Stroudsburg (Pa.), Teachers, 34.

Ohio Wesleyan, 44; Wilmington, 33.

Oregon, 62; Oklahoma, 29.

Simpson, 41; Drake, 30.

DePaul (Chicago), 40; Chicago Teachers, 31.

Kansas U., 35; Texas, 27.

Louis, 31; Arkansas State, 33.

Texas Tech, 48; Eastern New Mexico, 31.

Pittsburg Teachers, 40; Warrensburg Teachers, 31.

PROFESSIONAL

Detroit, 40; Shreveport, 34.

New York, 30; Canton, 70; Indianapolis Kautsky, 40 (overtime).

GIVEN 2 BEAUTIFUL ENLARGEMENTS

WITH EACH KODAK ROLL

PRINTED AND DEVELOPED

5 to 16 Reprints

Exposure 25c 3c Each

Mail with coin—1-Day Service.

ELMER DAVIS STUDIOS

242 MASS. AVE. (INDIANAPOLIS)

AUTO AND DIAMOND

LOANS

and Refinancing

20 MONTHS TO PAY

Wolf Sussman, Inc.

OUT-OF-PAWN

Men's SUITS, TOPCOATS

and OVERCOATS

—Unredeemed & Reconditioned

If you want real value, this suit is for you. It has been cleaned, pressed and reconditioned. Worth a much higher price.

$1 DEPOSIT HOLDS ANY GARMENT

Others at $2.00 and $3.00

Open Saturday Night Till 9 o'Clock

CHICAGO STORE

146 East WASHINGTON ST.

Six Straight for Greyhounds, But They Have a Close Call

TONIGHT

Anderson at Central Normal.
Earlham at Taylor.
Huntington at Valparaiso.
Olivet at Tri-State.

Coach Harry C. Good's Indiana Central team continues to pile up evidence that it's one of the toughest this year in the Indiana College Basketball Conference.

The Greyhounds have kept their slate clean in six games, defeating Anderson College twice, Ball State, Chicago Teachers, Eastern Illinois and last night Millikin. There was nothing easy, though, in last evening's affair at Decatur, Ill. It took two baskets in the third overtime period to pull the University Heights warriors through.

Also visiting in Illinois, Wabash College's Little Giants scared the wits out of Northwestern's Big Ten representatives before losing, 35-32. In the other state college game, Oakland City defeated the local N. C. A. G. U. five, 51-28.

Indiana Central fought back after being down, 27-24, at the half to even the count, 42-42, at the end of the regulation playing time. A free throw in the final four seconds actually knotted the score. At the end of the first extra work period, the score was 44-44 and each team added six points in the second five-minute session.

Don Clawson, handy-man on gridiron or hardwood, came to the Coach Harry C. Good . . . his Greyhounds also are good.

Wildcats' rescue in the second half and with a pair of sophomores, Art Seder and Russ Wendland, sunk Wabash. The Little Giants had led, 20-15, at the half and were on top by seven points midway in the second half.

Clawson scored 10 points for the Purple and Ray Greve did likewise for Wabash.

Roughest?

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 10 (U. P.)—Harold (Red) Zimmer, Indiana University's diminutive brawler, played in every game of the season without injury although he weighs but 150 pounds.

Yesterday he broke a bone in his foot playing intramural basketball.

Gene White Is I. U. Captain

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 10 (U. P.)—Gene White, junior guard from South Bend, last night was elected captain of the 1941 Indiana University football team at the annual football banquet.

The Hoosier too also booted the field goal in the last 15 seconds of play that gave Indiana a 3-to-0 victory over Purdue. He also paced the Crimson team in scoring during the season with 14 points on three field goals and five conversions.

White

Pros Tuning for Miami Open

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10 (U. P.)—The boys who win most of the money around the golf circuit were burning up the Miami Springs Course today in preparation for the $10,000 Miami Open Championship beginning Thursday.

Ben Hogan, top man in the race for 1940 money winning honors, posted a three under par 87 in a practice round yesterday and defending champion Sam Snead was what the golfing gentry call "hot" with a 68. Snead won last year's Miami Open with a 271 for the 72 holes.

Entries closed last night with 200 amateurs and professionals on the list. Pairings will be drawn today. The low 75 professionals and ties and the low 10 amateurs and ties for the first 36 holes will qualify for the final rounds on Saturday and Sunday.

Vote for Rose Bowl Salaries

DEL MONTE, Cal., Dec. 10 (U. P.)—Pacific Coast Conference officials admittedly awaited today a storm of protest but stood by their decision to recompense Rose Bowl football players who lose holiday employment by participating in the New Year's game.

The conference decided last night that players who already have jobs lined up for the Christmas holidays but who must drop them will be paid for their losses up to $50. The decision affects only the West Coast participant which, this year, is Stanford. Nebraska University is its opponent.

"We are hoping for the best and fearing for the worst," said Edwin N. Atherton, Pacific Coast athletic commissioner who suggested the plan. He said the plan undoubtedly would invite a charge of "professionalism."

"This new rule is a legal way of doing something which heretofore has been done in an underhanded manner," Atherton added. "As to professionalism, we will pass that bridge when we come to it," said Prof. William B. Owens, faculty representative of Stanford University.

Atherton emphasized that not every player on the Western team would be paid. He said athletes who could show that they already were working at jobs or had promises of jobs for the Christmas holidays, would be repaid for their lost time.

The financial condition of the athletes, too, will be taken into consideration.

Play for Pay, Harmon's Dad Urges Him

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (U. P.)—With the Heisman Trophy tucked under his arm, Tommy Harmon of Michigan, the year's outstanding college football player, went back today to his home state of Indiana, in good-natured disagreement with his father, Louis, about turning professional.

At the ceremonial presentation of the game's most coveted award last night, Tommy's dad told reporters he believed his son should play as a professional for at least two seasons.

Tommy does not share this belief, apparently. He still insists that he will not turn pro "regardless of the inducement." He says he's determined to go into radio, as sports announcer or commentator, that he already has "two very good offers" under consideration.

Most experts among the 1000 spectators at the presentation believe the Wolverines' great halfback is merely playing "hard to get," and that he will be galloping for gold with the Chicago Bears next season, following his purchase from Philadelphia or Pittsburgh.

This opinion was bolstered by the mammoth crowd—knows-best—referring to Tommy's trophy acceptance speech, in which the all-time campus touchdown king emphasized that his parents had been the major inspiration of his athletic career and would continue to inspire him as he strove to uphold the ideals of the Heisman trophy.

Tom Harmon was to arrive in Indianapolis today by plane and join his blocking mate, Forrest Evashevski, for addresses before the Michigan alumni at noon and at Park School's football banquet this evening. The 17 Park lettermen to be honored are Tom Blinford, Frank Biesler, John Mears, Al Huff, Tony Francescon, Jack Lilly, Jim Magennis, Larry Gerlach, Frank Rabb, Carleton Palmer, Vachel Anderson, Bill Higgins, Herman Kothe, Hank Tinney, John Gould, Mike Keene and Manager Bill Hanley.

At the conclusion of his speech, Tommy kicked a field goal in every heart by bending down from the platform and handing the trophy—a running, straight-arming figure in bronze—to his gray-haired mother, Rose. He said, "Here's a girl who will always keep the trophy and myself—right."

The Michigan coach, Fritz Crisler, lauded Tommy for his great all-around play and took the blame for the Wolverines' defeat by Minnesota. Crisler said he had permitted Harmon to use short cuts, instead of long ones, on a soggy field. This caused Tommy to slip in the mud on his touchdown attempts.

Harmon won the downtown A. C.'s sixth annual award for the year's outstanding player in a national poll of sports writers and broadcasters. Previously the Heisman trophy went to Nile Kinnick of Iowa, Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian, Clinton Frank of Yale, Larry Kelly of Yale and Jay Berwanger of Chicago.

No-Trade Ban Due to Stick

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (U. P.)—The American League's no-trade ban against its champion comes up for another vote today apparently endorsed by virtually every club, including the champion Detroit Tigers.

Although the Tigers are manacled by the year-old rule, which prohibits the American pennant winner from any intra-league trading, they still expect to go on record as favoring the ban "to be consistent," according to General Manager Jack Zeller.

The no-trade rule which originally was the New York Yankees is the chief item of business on the American League agenda in today's business meeting. Over in today's National League, President Ford Frick announced there's "hardly enough routine to keep club officials busy much more than an hour."

Most of the trades suggested in yesterday's pre-convention pow-wow were termed laughable by one party or another and the only deal completed was a swap of utility infielders by the Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers. Manager Connie Mack of Philadelphia optioned five players to Toronto and definitely said he expects either to trade or sell infielder Dario Lodigiani.

The Reds sent third baseman Lew Riggs to Brooklyn in exchange for Floyd (Pep) Young, who was sent to Atlanta by Pittsburgh and later drafted by the Dodgers.

Hottest rumor last night had Brooklyn's recently acquired catcher, Mickey Owen, going to the New York Giants for Harry Danning and something like $50,000. President Horace Stoneham of the Giants quelled that in a hurry with the word "ridiculous."

The Mike Kreevich for Roger Kramer deal that fizzled out last week in a feud between Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox and General Manager Eddie Collins of the Boston Red Sox may come off after all. The Red Sox were reported ready to throw in an infielder with Kramer to get Kreevich. Both Kreevich and Kramer are centerfielders.

The St. Louis Browns were prepared to battle for permission once more to play 14 night games at home, although a proposal to limit all clubs to seven night contests will be submitted by the National League at Wednesday's joint meeting with Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Looks Like Ohio State Is Ready To Fire Somebody—Schmidt?

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 10 (U. P.)—The Ohio State University athletic board gave official recognition today that all is not peace-and-quiet among matters pertaining to football on the Buckeye campus.

The board has named a three-man committee to investigate the gridiron "situation" and many sports observers were quick to conclude that Francis A. Schmidt, the sharp-tongued Texan, will not be head man of the Ohio State platoon faculty next fall.

The board is not in the habit of appointing special committees to probe into football activities so, whether Herr Schmidt returns or not, some changes in personnel or policies are regarded as certain.

Ever since the 40 to 0 debacle suffered by the Buckeyes in their final game against Michigan last month, all three Columbus newspapers have stuck flatly to a thesis that Schmidt is out along with as many of his assistants who would not be desired by the new coach whoever he might be.

Yesterday's committee formation was the first official action of any kind that might lend support to the thesis. Schmidt himself has said he doesn't intend to quit and won't.

The committee was proposed by athletic director L. W. St. John, the most potent voice in Ohio State sports affairs. It will consist of Prof. Robert E. Monroe, chairman and faculty representative; Hugh E. Nesbitt, alumni representative, and Edwin E. Dodd, student representative. Ex-officio members will be St. John and J. Lewis Morrill, university vice president and athletic board chairman.

It was reported the committee will be asked to submit its findings by the end of this month.

Al Greenberger and Cooler Cross Cues

Defending champion Harry Coolser and Al Greenberger meet in this evening's match in the state three-cushion billiard tourney, and the latter hopes to get the family back in the spotlight.

Last night his brother Phil Greenberger was the victim of a surprise defeat by Al Maloof, 50-48, in 85 innings at the Cooler parlor. Maloof jumped away to a 26-13 advantage, and Greenberger never was able to catch him. The winner had a high-run of five to the loser's six.

From Now On... it's

ALL-GRAIN BEER

FOR MY MONEY

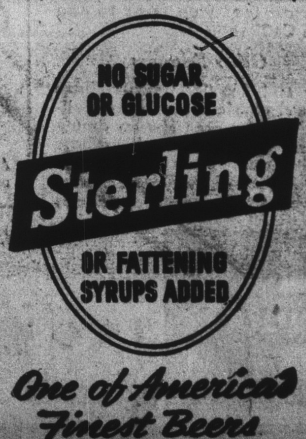

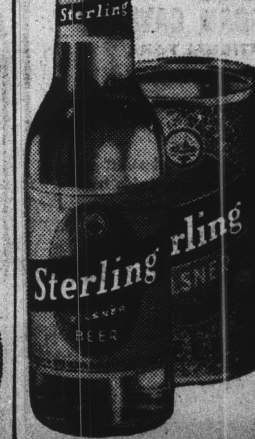

No Sugar—No Glucose
No Fattening Syrups Added

And to Think This Glassful Is Less Fattening Than a Good-Sized Orange

● Don't just ask for beer; ask for STERLING! Today, it's better than ever. Its flavor has a lift to it. There's a tang and sparkle nothing but natural ingredients can produce. An 8-ounce glass is no more fattening than a fair-sized orange. Even if you must be careful about your waistline, you can still enjoy Sterling : : : all-grain beer at its best.

STERLING BREWERS, INC. • Home Office: Evansville, Ind.

NO SUGAR OR GLUCOSE
STERLING
OR FATTENING SYRUPS ADDED
One of America's Finest Beers

Say —
"MERRY CHRISTMAS"
with
LA PALINA CIGARS

Among men who really know cigars... La Palina are the number one choice. Give La Palina Cigars for Christmas... for Character... for Christmas.

146 East WASHINGTON ST.