

Raymond Scott's Band to Play First Engagement Here

Raymond Scott (left) the young man who writes the suave music with the screwy titles, will bring his band to the Lyric tomorrow for his first Indianapolis engagement. With him will be Gloria Hart, his featured singer. At the right is Marjorie Weaver, wife of the I. U. campus, giving a little first aid to Lloyd Nolan in the course of the Lyric's accompanying picture, "Michael Shane, Private Detective."

"THE BANK DICK"—With W. C. Fields, Cora Witherspoon, Una Merkel. Directed by Edward G. Robinson. A detective, wins a bank-night prize, becomes a movie director, persuades a young bank clerk to invest some of the bank's money in a fake mine, but winds up a hero when he captures a bandit.

"GO WEST"—With the Marx Brothers, John Carroll, Diana Lewis. Directed by Edward Buzzell.

The time is 1870, and the Marxes are found obeying the Greeleyan injunction of the title. That's all there is to it. "LAND OF LIBERTY"—Edited by Cecil B. deMille, sponsored by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., released by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

This is the film which the motion picture industry assembled for the New York and San Francisco World's Fairs. It tells the story of the United States in cuttings from various Hollywood historical films, and advertises a galaxy of 139 stars in its cast.
