Dorothy Barlow and Betty Hamerstadt
To Be Honored at Pre-Nuptial Parties

PARTIES FOR BRIDES of the early spring are adding color to the social scene. Miss Dorothy Dow Barlow and Miss Betty Hamerstadt, both April brides-to-be, will be honored today.

Miss Hamerstadt will be entertained at a tea in the Indianapolis Athletic Club given by Miss Harriet Jane Holmes, and Miss Barlow will be the honor guest at a spinster dinner given tonight by Miss Helen Wyatt at her home.

Approximately 60 guests will attend the tea for Miss Hamerstadt. Assisting the hostess will be her sister, Anne, and Miss Hamerstadt's sister, Mary Jane. Mary Jane is to be the only attendant at her sister's wedding to Paul Wertz Scheuring at 4:30 p. m. April 26 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hamerstadt. Mr. Scheuring is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Scheuring.

Guests at the spinster dinner for Miss Barlow will include her mother, Mrs. Cone Barlow, and her sister, Betsy, who is to be maid of honor at the wedding. Mrs. Edward W. Wohlgenuth, Mrs. Donald A. Morrison Jr., and Miss Emma Gene Tucker who will be bridesmaids with Miss Wyatt also will be guests, as will the hostess' mother, Mrs. Arthur Wyatt, and Mrs. Victor A. T. Albright, Bedford. Mrs. Albright is the mother of Victor Franklin Albright to whom Miss Barlow will be married in a ceremony at 8 o'clock Wednesday in the Episcopal Church of the Advent.

Barlows to Have Bridal Buffet Supper

MR. AND MRS. BARLOW will entertain tomorrow night with a buffet supper at their home, Brandywine Farm, near Fairland, for the betrothed couple. The supper will follow the wedding rehearsal. Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford, Port Neuf, Quebec, Canada; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Charlton, Detroit; Mrs. Nell Hinton, Madison; the bridegroom's parents and members of the wedding party.

The bridegroom's attendants who will be at the supper are his brother, Willard, of Bedford; Whitney Barlow, brother of the bride; Jay Overmeyer, Winchester, DeWitt Brown and Robert J. Axtell Jr. Others attending, in addition to Misses Betsy Barlow, Tucker and Wyatt, Mrs. Wohlgenuth and Mrs. Morrison will be Mrs. Brown and Messrs. Wohlgenuth and Morrison.

I. A. C. Ball to Have 'Wishing Well' Theme

THE TRADITIONAL Easter Eve dance at the Indianapolis Athletic Club will be a "Wishing Well" Tulip Time Ball, with a decorative scheme built around a wishing well. Each year the club's Tulip Time Ball is marked by a special theme, last year's being a "Plantation" motif carried out with southern colonial decorations. Louise Lowe's orchestra will play for dancing in the fourth floor ballroom beginning at 10 p. m. Reservations will close at 6 o'clock the evening of the 11th. The club has announced that an Easter breakfast will be served, beginning at 7 a. m., for persons attending the Eastern Sunrise Services on Monument Circle. The regular Easter Sunday dinner will be served from noon through the day.

Southern Club Elects Officers

J. FRANK CANTWELL was elected president of the Southern Club at the annual election meeting Saturday night in the Athenaeum. Serving with him during the coming year will be Mrs. Thomas F. Foley, vice president; Maxwell Deke, secretary, and Roland B. Burch, treasurer. Nominating committee for the occasion included Marshall G. Knox and Charles E. Stevens.

Columbia Club Dinner Dance Saturday

ANOTHER in the series of monthly buffet dinner dances which the Columbia Club has given this winter for members will be held Saturday night. Art Berry and his orchestra, featuring Mercedes Banks, soloist, will provide dance music and entertainment. The international motif in decorations and menu which has characterized previous events will be replaced by a Hooper fried chicken buffet Saturday. Dinner service will begin at 9 p. m. with dance music starting at 10 o'clock.

JANE JORDAN

DEAR JANE JORDAN—Perhaps you can give me some light on a problem I can't solve. I have been married for nine years to a lovely girl whom I do not love. It was a family affair and I realize now that I never have been in love with her. She is honest, ambitious, good-looking and the tops in about every respect. I want very much to have my freedom and on several occasions I have made an attempt to leave her but just can't do it. She loves me and thinks I love her. I have caused her a lot of unhappiness because of the situation.

She is a person to be admired and respected but I can't love her. I want my freedom so badly but haven't the heart to leave her. What would happen to her? She has no parents, relatives or friends to turn to now. She would be all alone. There are no children. PUZZLED.

Answer—Perhaps it isn't the girl whom you do not love so much as the family who picked her out for you. I realize how far fetched such a statement must seem to you, and as a matter of fact, it only is a shot in the dark for I know next to nothing of your affairs. Family relations are apt to be a pretty confused mixture of love and hate, loyalty and rebellion and it often happens that one person gets all the negative reactions while the others escape condemnation. I am sure that you do not appreciate your family's influence in making this match. Perhaps you try to excuse them by thinking they meant well and by admitting that the girl is a fine person. Nevertheless, your resentment against them is shown in the fact that you cannot love her, or think you can't. By inhibiting any tender emotion toward her you get even with them, so to speak. In other words, your lack of feeling for your wife may be an aggression against your family. "You picked my wife but you can't make me love her." Perhaps you would have loved her more if the family had been against her.

People do not do these things purposely. The reactions I have described go on beneath the level of consciousness. I often have pointed out that it may be a disadvantage to a woman to have her husband's mother side with her. If a man gets the idea that the two women most interested in him have combined to control him, he may turn against one or both. Sometimes he hates his wife in order to love his mother, but one of the women is pretty sure to incur his displeasure.

There are many other concealed factors which may account for your lack of emotion about your wife. I imagine she never has had a fair chance to win your affections because they are so entangled with your feelings toward your family. You may have identified her with your mother whom you admire and respect but who naturally has no physical appeal for you.

Since you dread to hurt your wife by leaving her to go on alone, it might pay you to look into some of these complicated emotions and see if you can't unravel something which explains your attitude. After nine years of believing that you are not in love, it is not likely that you ever will have a romantic urge for the woman, but you might come to think as much of her as any other man thinks of his wife after nine years of intimacy. JANE JORDAN.

Put your problems in a letter to Jane Jordan who will answer your questions in this column daily.

Homemaking—

Tips on Removing Bad Stains
From Your Best Tablecloths

Did Junior drop his toast and jam spang in the middle of the clean tablecloth? In your hurry to mop it up did you overturn your coffee cup? And did Daddy, trying to be helpful, too, let a piece of bacon slide off his plate onto the cloth?

Such mishaps will occur. And here's how to remove spots—directions sponsored by the very Irishmen who make the Irish linen damask tablecloths. Paste them in your scrapbook or frame them and hang them up in the kitchen where you can refer to them easily.

GREASE SPOTS, CANDLE WAX OR TAR—Use a grease solvent such as benzene, gasoline, kerosene, carbon tetrachloride or chloroform. Apply the cleaner to the wrong side of the fabric with the right side placed over a soft, absorbent cloth or clean blotter. Carbon tetrachloride and chloroform are non-flammable but the other mentioned solvents should not be used in a room where there is an open flame such as a gas stove pilot, a burning cigarette or cigar, a fireplace fire, etc.

FRUIT JUICES—Usually these can be removed by pouring boiling water through the cloth. It should be stretched and the water poured from some distance above so it strikes with force. If the stain is stubborn, cover with glycerine and pour the hot water through. If the stain still refuses to disappear, treat it alternately with ammonia and solvents, rinsing the fabric afterward in diluted acetic acid and then clear water.

COFFEE AND TEA STAINS—Treat in the same manner as fruit juices.

BLOOD STAINS—If treated while fresh, these may often be entirely removed by soaking in clear, cold water, changing the water as it becomes stained. If a blood stained cloth has inadvertently gotten into the laundry and the stain been set by hot water, soak in ammonia or apply alternately ammonia and peroxide.

IRON RUST—Try acetic acid or vinegar. If these fail, salt and lemon juice or salts of lemon may be rubbed on the wet fabric and then carefully rinsed. Oxalic acid which is found in most commercial ink removers, will usually dissolve rust. Best of all, though not always available, is hydrochloric acid. Sometimes rust stains are due to bluing containing iron, so be sure your bluing is made from aniline dyes.

GRASS STAINS—Alternate applications of hydrogen peroxide and ammonia should be used.

MILDEW—If fresh, wash in a strong soap solution and then expose to the sun. Sour milk is sometimes effective. Ammonia and acetic acid is good. Bleaches such as javelle water will remove stubborn mildew stains but cannot be used on colored linens.

INK—The composition of inks differs so no one method will remove all ink stains. Oxalic acid, neutralized by ammonia, or commercial ink eradicators are usually effective. Where these are not effective, bleaching powder or javelle water should be applied.

PAINT OR VARNISH—Usually turpentine is sufficient. If not, benzene or gasoline can be used. Lacquers require the use of a special lacquer remover or of amyl alcohol.

UNKNOWN STAINS—Bleaching powder or javelle water is usually best for removing unknown stains from white linen. Alternate applications of ammonia and hydrogen peroxide may also be tried.

Anna B. Irelan Shower Guest

Mrs. Ralph C. Gery has been chosen as matron of honor for the wedding of Miss Anna Belle Irelan to Melvin F. Cranfill at 3:30 p. m. April 26 in the Northwest Christian Church. Miss Ruth Hitzelberger will be bridesmaid.

Mr. Cranfill's father, William D. Cranfill, will be best man and ushers will be the bridegroom - to-be's brothers Chester A. and Virgil Cranfill.

Among parties planned for Miss Irelan is a linen shower which Mrs. Martha Louise Boyd, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Guy F. Boyd, will give this evening. Guests will be Mesdames Gery, Frank Baird, David Carter, William Cranfill, Robert Foust, Harold Irelan and Charles Richards.

Other guests will be Misses Hitzelberger, Louise Bicknell, Ann and Janet Chapman, Millaule Cranfill, Mary Elizabeth Hays, Ruth Hickman, Margaret Kayser, Evelyn Lloyd, Rosemary Newman, Marcella Reynolds and Grace Taylor.

Mesdames Gery, Fred Robert Crowe, Roy Johnson and E. G. Schlotz and Miss Hitzelberger also have planned showers for the bride-to-be.

Federation to Hear Nellie Young

Miss Nellie Young will talk on "Church and School United to Serve the Community" before the Women's Federation of the First Evangelical Church tomorrow. The meeting will open at 11 a. m. at the home of Mrs. George Miller, 3405 Madison Ave.

Mrs. Eva Hiltz and Mrs. Fred Weiss will be co-hostesses and Mrs. H. R. Rickenbrode will lead devotions. Mrs. Harry A. Krause will give current events. A group of matrimony numbers will be presented by DeLoos Donahm.

Plan Teas

Teas for rushees and for members' mothers will be planned at a meeting of the B. A. E. S. Sub-Div. Club tonight in the home of Miss Jane Obrist.
