Counter Intelligence Corps Hunts Disloyalty in Army

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (U. P.).

A recently organized counter intelligence corps of the Army has dealt effectively with a subversive organization that may have existed in the Army's own ranks, it was revealed today.

An official War Department release revealed for the first time creation of the counter intelligence corps and said its members would "function as special agents in the detection and investigation of espionage, sabotage, disloyalty and general subversive activity wherever found in the Army."

The War Department's release cited this example of "many cases recently solved" by agents of the corps:

"It involved the comparative analysis of the handwriting of unidentified persons who had addressed communications of a highly inflammatory and insulting nature to persons in authority.

"In investigating the cases the agents uncovered an organization of subversive individuals whose connection with enemy activities was not previously known."

Existence of the counter intelligence corps, which the Army described as the G-Men of the military forces, was revealed so that the public will know "that enemy agents and other subversive persons will meet with effective treatment wherever encountered," it was said.

Asked whether the War Department's release meant that the subversive organization cited was within the Army's ranks, a public relations officer said:

"The handout means what it says."

It was considered possible that the "unidentified persons" might have been outsiders who wrote letters to Army officials, and thus came within the scope of the counter intelligence corps.

The War Department gave no details as to the extent of the plot or whether it had been successful in whole or in part. If action has been taken against the plotters it was not disclosed.

The counter intelligence corps apparently is the newest army of the Army's regular intelligence corps, known as G-2. When the United States entered the war in 1917 the corps of intelligence police was established, and its agents met with success both at home and abroad.

BROKEN GAS MAIN BLAMED IN TRAGEDY

Fumes which killed two men and overcame a mother and her 11-month-old baby Saturday in a filling station-home, originated in a gas main broken by the sub-zero weather. Deputy Coroner Wesley C. Ward announced today.

Dr. Ward and Dr. R. N. Harger, Indiana University toxicologist, completed tests today which determined that a hot water heater in the building at Madison and Troy Aves. could not have caused the tragedy.

A gas main leak was discovered about 60 feet from the building which authorities believe was responsible.

The victims were Robert Gray, 21, operator of the filling station and resident of the apartment on the second floor, and William Stevens, 32, who lived in the basement. Mrs. Gray and her daughter, Nancy Ann, are recovering in City Hospital.

DRUGLESS PHYSICIAN SUES FOR $100,000

Dr. Alma E. Cox of Crown Point, Ind., has filed suit in Circuit Court here, demanding $100,000 from the Better Business Bureau, its manager, Toner M. Overly and the Indiana State Medical Association.

Dr. Cox, who is a licensed drugless physician, charged that investigations conducted by the defendants have injured her "professional standing and property interests."

Mr. Overly said a petition now is pending before the State Medical Board to revoke Dr. Cox's license because of her use of an electrical device in diagnosing and treating disease.

TOKYO CLAIMS STEADY GAINS

Air Victories Reported; Luzon 'Mop-Up' Goes On, Japs Say.

TOKYO, Jan. 13 (Official broadcasts recorded by the United Press in San Francisco and New York).—Japanese imperial headquarters said today that its troops had captured Kakas airdrome near Menado on Celebes Island in an advance from Menado and that 16 British planes were shot down over Singapore and Johore during Japanese raids Monday.

Seven heavy bombers, at least four of them American-built, were reported destroyed at the Kakas field and two bombers were said to have been destroyed in the Japanese capture of Tarakan off the east coast of Borneo.

Imperial headquarters said the navy had sunk the Dutch minelayer Prince Van Orange, 1291 tons, while it was attempting to escape from Tarakan and a communique said three enemy merchant ships were damaged by Japanese raiders attacking a convoy in the Strait of Malacca.

Say U. S. Forces Flee

A dispatch from the Philippines war front said that with the fall of Olangapo, the remaining American forces retreating on the Bataan peninsula are on the verge of wholesale collapse.

"These troops now are forced to the choice of continuing their resistance in the mountainous areas of Maravalles, or fleeing to Corregidor," the dispatch said. "However, reconnaissance over Corregidor by Japanese planes reveals the remaining troops appear to be trying to flee in transport vessels gathered along the coast."

After mopping up the remnants of the American base at Olangapo, Japanese forces rescued interned Japanese, and now are cleaning up the remaining American forces in the swamp district, the dispatch said.

Say Burmese Angered

Nine American fighters and five British pursuit planes engaging Japanese aircraft over the Thailand-Burma border were driven off after dogfights, a dispatch from Saigon said. Several enemy planes were shot down when Anglo-American bombers attempted to raid Japanese military establishments in Thailand, it said.

(Radio Rome, quoting a Bangkok dispatch, said the situation in Burma was becoming "steadily worse" under unremitting Japanese bombardments. It said the civil population, angered by repressive British measures against Burmese nationalism, hoped for a Japanese victory.) Japanese sources said important naval establishments were destroyed in a surprise attack on Tutuila, American Samoa, by Japanese naval forces.

COUNTY SET TO AID IN POLIO CAMPAIGN

Machinery has been set up for the opening Thursday of Marion County's part in the national drive for funds to combat infantile paralysis.

The distribution of tickets for 10 separate balls here in honor of President Roosevelt's birthday Jan. 30 was started yesterday at the office of Governor Henry F. Schriener, who issued a proclamation for the campaign.

The campaign will close with an elaborate program and dance at Butler Field House Jan. 30 with Sgt. Alvin York, Tennessee's famous hero of World War 1, heading the entertainment. Nine other balls will be held in the city the same night.

Proceeds will go to the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, sponsored personally by President Roosevelt.

BURNS CITY PLANT GETS REMC GRANT

BLOOMFIELD, Ind., Jan. 13 (U. P.).—William Shertzer, manager of the local REMC, reported today that a $370,000 grant had been made by the Rural Electrification Administration for construction of a generating plant at Burns City to serve the East Coast Naval Ammunition Depot.

The Bloomfield REMC, which serves Burns City and 1800 rural farms, purchases power from the Public Service of Indiana.

Power from the new generator will not supply rural subscribers. Mr. Shertzer said construction would begin immediately and he anticipated the first power would be generated in about four months.
