Attendance at Civic Play Indicates
All the Family Likes Mysteries

MURDER MYSTERIES APPARENTLY are subjects of interest to the whole family, from mother and father to the young "fry." At least, that would be indicated by a number of the parties planned to attend the first performance of "Mr. and Mrs. North," opening tonight at the Civic Theater.

Tomorrow night Mr. and Mrs. G. Vance Smith and their children, Harriet and Vance Jr., will be at the Playhouse with Mrs. Harry V. Wade and her children, Elizabeth and Harry Jr. Mr. Wade is a member of the mystery-comedy cast.

Another group attending tomorrow night will include Dr. and Mrs. John W. Graves, their daughters, Katherine and Georgia Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Walton L. Cloud and their daughters, Shirley and Patty.

L. V. Hamiltons to Entertain

TONIGHT Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Neal will attend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hahn and Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Dunn. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luker's party will include Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeWitt and their daughter, Sally, Miss Eleanor Rodgers and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gilman of Brownsburg.

After a cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Jock, the Jocks and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rimp will attend the opening performance. Theater guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon Kingham will be Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Hartridge Jr. and Mrs. Hartridge Sr. of New York.

A supper party following tomorrow night's performance will be given by Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Hamilton for the guests attending the theater with them—Messrs. and Mesdames Wendell Barrett, Gilbert L. Small and Charles F. Arensman and Dr. and Mrs. Lyman R. Pearson.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Holman have planned a dinner tomorrow night after which their guests will attend the Civic. In the party will be Dr. and Mrs. Allan K. Harcourt, Messrs. and Mesdames Carleton E. Edwards, John J. Harany and Jerome E. Holman II, Miss Rosalie Holman and William Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Clark will entertain with a buffet supper tomorrow night after the show for their guests, Messrs. and Mesdames G. T. Osborne, John Heidenreich, Lyle Hyland and Albert Dupies. Miss Julia Dwyer will entertain a party of six at tomorrow's performance.

S. W. Cochran to Give Party

Bingham, Mrs. Josephine Vetter, Miss Agnes Tynan and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bingham Jr. A group attending tomorrow night will include Mrs. Robert Bowes and her son, Robert M. Bowes II, Mrs. Ethel V. Morrison, Mrs. Blanche Harrington, Miss Hazel Johnson and Louis P. Fisher.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ford Monroe of Glendale, O., house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dillon R. Huder, will be at the theater tomorrow with the Huders, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Wolfe and Dewey Sisk. With the Walter Sormans will be Mr. and Mrs. George Buskirk and Mrs. Paul S. McNamara, whose husband appears in the play.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Powers will give a buffet supper tomorrow night at their home for their theater guests, Mr. and Mrs. Don Zimmerman and Mr. and Mrs. Jean R. Nelson. Others holding reservations for parties tomorrow night are E. J. McDowell, Dale R. Rickert, Gerald Wilson and Mrs. Preston Woolf.

Isabel Morris and Fiance Honored

MRS. J. EDWARD MORRIS will entertain tonight at the Marott Hotel with a bridal dinner for her daughter, Isabel, and Parker Pengilly of Chattanooga, Tenn. Their wedding will be at 4:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Broadway Methodist Church.

At the dinner will be the bridegroom's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Pengilly of Medaryville, and his sisters, Miss Ellen Pengilly, also of Medaryville, and Miss Elizabeth Pengilly, Nocona, Tex.

Others will be Mr. and Mrs. Judson J. McKim, Cincinnati; Mrs. Arthur Moor, Riverside, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Keller, Corning, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Straith-Miller, South Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Saxon E. Humphreys, Dr. and Mrs. John F. Edwards and Mrs. Loren M. Edwards, Denver, Colo.

When the choir of Western College, Oxford, O., sings Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock (Indianapolis Time) over radio station WLW in Cincinnati, four Indianapolis girls will be with the group.

They are Miss Elizabeth Ann Baumgartel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Baumgartel; Miss Phoebe Carman, the C. Ford Carman's daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Ray T. Fatout's daughter, Miss Miriam E. Fatout, and Miss Jean Mutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mutz.

Their program will include sacred and secular songs. The choir also will sing at vespers in the Christ Church at Cincinnati Sunday afternoon and will make two appearances in Cincinnati schools Monday.
