

Called to the Colors

Six Indianapolis men, who have qualified before the aviation cadet examining board, are on their way to Santa Ana, Cal., to begin training. They are:

William T. Averitt, 2005 Ruckle st.; Warren E. Brown, R. R. 16, Box 662; Noble F. Gearries, 3306 E. 36th st.; Joseph L. McKinstry, R. R. 13, Box 180; Harry E. Scott, 6135 N. Pennsylvania st.; and Ralph W. Sutor, 2410 Carrollton ave.

Returns to Air Base

Pvt. Edwin V. Krause, former teacher in the New Palestine high school, has returned to Savannah air base in Georgia, following a 10-day furlough spent at home.

Pvt. Krause is the son of Mrs. Nellie Krause, New Palestine, and is attached to the supply office of the 194th quartermaster platoon.

Train for Sea Duty

Receiving instructions in seamanship and naval procedure at the Great Lakes training station are eight Indianapolis men who have been given petty officer ratings.

Following completion of this training they will be ordered to active duty with the fleet at sea, at a naval station on foreign soil or at a shore station in this country. The men are:

William R. Halcomb, 110 N. Bradley ave.; Miley D. McLaughlin, R. R. 2; Willard W. Nowling, 2918 Ruckle st.; Oscar W. Johnson, R. R. 3; Robert C. Ziegler, 215 Wisconsin st.; Lowell E. Blunk, 924 Campbell ave.; Harvey D. Trimble, 21 W. 28th st.; and Elmer Lee, 1317 E. Market st.

Sergt. Harry W. Price, 602 E. Morris st., and Corp. Louis E. Amundson of Clermont, recently graduated from the officer candidate course at Camp Lee, Va., and received commissions as second lieutenants.

Walter A. Vonnegut, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Glosbrenner, R. R. 12, has begun his cadet training at the air corps base, Santa Ana, Cal.

Patrick F. Quigley Jr. of Richmond enlisted recently in the naval reserve as a storekeeper, third class, and has entered training at Great Lakes.

PROTECT Your Vision AMERICA

Before you owed it only to yourself to protect your vision but now you owe it to your country for you cannot do your best with faulty vision. Today — everyone must do their best. Have your eyes examined today.

Edward F. New Jr.

Leroy Kenneth New

TWO INDIANAPOLIS brothers enrolled in the college of law at Stetson university, Deland, Fla., have decided to enlist in the navy and postpone their legal training until after the war.

Edward and Leroy New, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. New, will enter training as apprentice seamen this summer. For work already done at the university they will receive A. B. degrees at commencement exercises June 1.

The brothers are graduates of Shortridge high school. They are majoring in history and political science in a three-year pre-legal course at the Florida school. After the war they will have two more years of law study.

Starts New Course

Russell E. Lorentz Jr. will begin a course in aviation metalcraft at the Chicago navy pier Friday. He has been in the service since March.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lorentz, 2727 Wintthrop ave., and attended Technical high school. He has been at home for the last 30 days on furlough before entering the new course of study.

R.O.T.C. Inspector Named

Lieut. Col. Ernest E. Tabcock, who was to inspect the R. O. T. C. of Indianapolis high schools this week, has received orders from the war department which makes it impossible for him to be present. Lieut. Col. Herbert G. Esden of Ft. Hayes, Columbus, O., will make the inspection.

Frederick S. Mitchell, 36-year-old Canadian-born Evansville machinist, obtained his citizenship recently and has enlisted in the navy as a machinist's mate, second class.

NAVY SENDING 200 TO PURDUE CLASS

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 27.—The navy will send 200 men here tomorrow for a course in electricity at Purdue university, with classes opening Monday.

Officially commissioned as a naval training station following the arrival here of Lieut. Comm. K. H. Nonweiler, the school will offer instruction 28 hours Monday through Thursday, with examinations on Friday.
