Opening Fall Frolic of the Lambs Club To Be Staged at Columbia Club Tonight

MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM will hold the spotlight at the initial frolic of the Lambs club's 12th annual season tonight at the Columbia club. With streamlined programs scheduled for the duration, the group will present "Stage Door Canteen" as its opening floor show.

War has caused the club to cut the number of shows this year from five to three; war has necessitated simplicity in production, and war has cast many a member in a new role, but the show will go on.

Outside talent, in the form of the Alpert Aces from Ft. Benjamin Harrison, the navy quartet from the radio school here and the Stout field male chorus, has been recruited for the show. The Stout field commandos will open the program with two songs, "The Army Air Corps" and "Air Commandos," directed by Leo Kucinski. "Honky Tonk Train" and "Trigger's Fantasy" will be sung by the Alpert trio.
