

Capitals Lose, 4 to 2, In First Appearance On Home Ice

SPORTS... By Eddie Ash

INDIANA and Butler are at home next Saturday, Notre Dame and Purdue play on the road. . . . Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman's Iowa Seahawks are to meet Bo McMillin's Hoosiers at Bloomington and the DePauw Tigers invade Pop Hedden's Bulldog gridiron.

It will be Butler's first home appearance since Sept. 19, the opener, when the Bulldogs looked good while losing to Xavier, 21-14. . . . Butler has played five consecutive tilts on the road. . . . It will be home-coming at Fairview and an interesting match is promised when the Tigers move in from Greencastle.

Notre Dame is to tackle Navy at Cleveland and Purdue's Boiler-makers travel to Iowa City to battle the Iowa Hawkeyes. . . . It will be another strenuous test for old Purdue.

Indiana will have to do some real plugging next week to get set for the Iowa Cadets. . . . The Seahawks were idle today and are expected to be in tip top condition when they invade Bloomington. . . . Indiana could use a rest but it so happens the Hoosiers' schedule provides for no open Saturday.

In games involving other Hoosier college elevens next week Earlham plays at Wabash, Ball State is at Manchester, Rose Poly at Franklin, Centre of Kentucky at Hanover, St. Joseph's at Indiana State, Valparaiso at Augustana in Illinois. . . . Evansville and Central Normal have open dates on Oct. 31.

After today, at Western Michigan, Kalamazoo, Butler's remaining games are at home in the bowl, playing DePauw, Toledo and St. Joseph's at that order. . . . The St. Joe game, on Nov. 14, closes the Bulldogs' season.

There Is Always a 'First Time'

WHEN Mississippi State bowled over Vanderbilt last week-end, 33-0, it was the first time the Commodores had been whitewashed in two years. . . . There's always a "first time" in football.

In the first quarter at Notre Dame the Iowa Cadets rolled up five first downs to none for the green shirts, and gained 71 yards to seven for the home team. . . . And you know how that grid show ended.

BRUCE SMITH, star left halfback of the Great Lakes naval training station football team, who last year led Minnesota to the Western conference championship, is developing a reputation as the biggest eater on the Bluejacket squad.

The eyes of big, husky linemen popped recently when the former Gopher easily ate two large steaks. . . . Smith weighs 195 pounds.

Smith's appetite is said to be larger than his teammate for the last four years—Urban Olson—also a former Gopher, who is 6 feet, 3 inches tall and weighs 250 pounds.

Coast Guard Takes Over Cubs' Camp

CATALINA ISLAND, the Chicago Cubs' spring training base, now is in the hands of the coast guard and the Bruins probably will do their 1943 training in Los Angeles and use the Angels' Pacific Coast league ball park.

With bus transportation curtailed, numerous small cities, all with suitable ball parks, have ceased to be attractive to baseball clubs in looking ahead to 1943 spring training.

The roller derby rolls on. . . . It's now in Chicago for a long stand at the first regiment armory.

BROWN UNIVERSITY did not get going in football practice this year until Sept. 28. . . . The late start inspired the players to hurry 'em up and as a result Brown has won three in a row, from Rhode Island State, Columbia and Lafayette.

Brown has come up with a flashy freshman halfback in Howie Extrack. . . . Yeah, he's nicknamed Vanilla.

Clip 'Em Clancy, the Scalper, Won't Get Well at Annapolis

By JOE WILLIAMS
Times Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—This year's Army-Navy game, very likely the last for the duration, is to be played, as you may have read, at Annapolis, Md., home of the incubating admirals. It's to be semi-private. Only the townies, among the national public, will be eligible for admission.

The presidential directive moving the game from Philadelphia's sprawling stadium, to the middie-western town of Annapolis, was

Gary Boys Lead Illini Rhinies

LAFAYETTE, Oct. 24 (U. P.)—Two Gary, Ind., lads, who last year led West Valley high school to the state football title, combined a lateral pass and a 50-yard sprint to hand the Illinois freshman eleven a 7-0 victory over the Purdue frosh yesterday.

Bill Krall snared a Purdue punt in the third period and passed to Julius Rykovich, who twisted his path 50 yards through broken field to payoff, leaving 11 Purdue would-be tacklers in his wake. Charles Barnes of Aurora, Ill., kicked the extra point.

The Gary gridgers figured prominently in running up the undefeated victory string of the Wallace Hornets last year and downed South Bend Washington in a playoff for the state championship.

Giants Lose 27th Player to Services

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (U. P.)—John Chickerno, former University of Pittsburgh football star and current quarterback of the New York Giants National league professional team, has left the club for active service in the army air corps.

Chickerno, who was the first choice of the Giants in the draft of the 1939 season, was the 27th Giants' player to go into service.

Detroit Scores In Each Period Of Exhibition

Indianapolis hockey fans are ready for the season's league opener here Nov. 1 against Washington. Last night 3300 of them saw the Caps lose, 4 to 2, to the Detroit Red Wings in an exhibition game at the fairgrounds coliseum and all realized that neither club really took its wraps off although the Red Wings showed some fancy skating on offense and guarded their own bailiwick very well.

Manager Herbie Lewis of the Caps switched his front lines from time to time giving rookies a chance to work with veterans.

Score in Each Period

Detroit scored in each period after "Mud" Brunetta opened the scoring at 7:49 on assists from Carl Liscombe and Sid Howe.

Bill Jennings of the Caps evened the score at 16:43. Les Douglas fired the puck from a side rail melee to Dick Behling who flipped it in toward Goale Mowers. Jennings was in the way and added a little momentum.

Detroit scored twice in the second 20-minute period. The Red Wings were in a mad scramble with defensemen in front of the caps' cage. Somebody slipped the puck. Goale Ferras and Referee Mike Goodman gave credit to Don Grosso. The time was 8:41. Detroit increased the lead to 3 to 1 at 10:32 on Eddie Wares' goal on an assist from Sid Abel. Ferras stopped one Detroit thrust but the puck was peppered too fast to stop another.

Score From Face-Off

The Caps countered with their final score at 15:45. Connie Brown took the puck on a face-off in Red Wings territory passed to Adam Brown who scored.

Detroit added its final score at 17:30 in the final period. Liscombe got credit for the goal. Howe and Brunetta were given assists. Summary:

Score by Periods

Indianapolis. . . . 1 1 1 4
Detroit. . . . 2 2 2 6
First Period Scoring—Brunetta (Liscombe and Howe), 7:49; Jennings (Douglas, Behling), 16:43. Penalties—None.
Second Period Scoring—Grosso (Wares, Abel), 8:41. Penalties—None.
Third Period Scoring—Liscombe (Howe, Brunetta), 17:30. Penalties—None.

Butler Awarded Track Meet

The big and little state cross-country races will be run over a four-mile course at Butler university Nov. 7 with Ray Sears, Butler coach, in charge.

The two races will be run concurrently and the first 10 finishers will receive individual medals. First five men on the winning team in each division also will receive medals.

Indiana university originally was scheduled to host the meet but it was awarded Butler because of its central location. Entries are expected from Indiana, Purdue, Notre Dame, Indiana State, DePauw, Wabash, Ball State, Manchester, Earlham, Taylor, Valparaiso and Butler.

Indiana with Earl Mitchell of Anderson pecting the squad, is expected to dethrone Purdue as Big State champions. Butler's "Fairview Flyers," undefeated this season, are favorites in the Little State won last year by Earlham.

Upset Dope Bucket

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 24 (U. P.)—The Auburn Plainsmen last night won a spectacular intersection victory from Villanova, 14 to 6, outplaying the Pennsylvanians all the way before 11,000.

The Outside Zone

The White House announcement was specific in stating that tickets will be issued "only to residents of Annapolis, not to outsiders." It was additionally noted that even nearby Washington and Baltimore were to be considered in the outside zone.

If the policy is enforced to the letter this will be the first Army-Navy game that wasn't a sellout in generations. The Annapolis stands seat 23,000 and the town population is 16,000.

This was the one game in the East the scalpers looked forward to with optimism. "If it had been a bad season we always got well on that game," Clip 'Em Clancy revealed. "You never had to worry about unloading. Your only concern was did you weigh the thumb heavy enough." But how can Mr. Clancy and his distinguished brothers operate in a situation where the stands hold 23,000 and the indicated clientele is limited only to 16,000? To quote Mr. Clancy: "It shouldn't happen to a dog."

Political Secrets

Army and navy officials don't talk for publication so nobody ever knew even approximately how many tickets the politicians demanded and, of course, got. You can be sure the number was something slightly more than microscopic. Anyway, you saw fewer soldiers and sailors at an Army-Navy game than you'd ordinarily see at a pro game on Sunday. To be truthful the game seemed to be for everybody except the men who fire the guns.

In connection with the president's policy that tickets are to be issued only to the townies of Annapolis, how much would you like to bet that a large percentage of the crowd won't be made up of politicians and vote getters, at that?

They'll Be Tough in the Clinches

Panthers Near Grid Crown

By UNITED PRESS

The raging Panthers of South Bend Washington tightened their grip on the mythical state title last night by sinking their seventh victim of an undefeated season, downing La Porte, 27-7.

Washington poured on impressive power to make the triumph decisive, as it has done in all of the preceding victories which included Reitz and Boose of Evansville as well as four other conference elevens.

The Panthers lost the crown last year in a final playoff to Lew Wallace of Gary after going all year with a perfect state. Their latest victory widened the gap between Washington and other perfect-record bidders.

The list of outstanding undefeated teams dropped to a scant four last night when East Chicago Washington, one of the state's unbeaten powers, sunk Whiting 13-7. West Lafayette and Indianapolis Shortridge are the only other Hoosier teams with unblemished records.

The triumph was the sixth straight for East Chicago over good competition and established the Calumet school as the hottest competition to South Bend Washington.

What Will Happen to Bears When Halas Joins the Navy?

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—When the Chicago Bears entertain the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday, it may be the last game for the duration which the mighty Bruins will be performing under guidance of Owner-Captain George S. Halas, who expects to enter the navy soon.

Already the professional experts are asking, "what will happen to the Bears without Halas?" It is no secret that go-getter George has been largely responsible for their success—for the most brilliant record of any club in National league history.

The Bears, now shooting for their third straight league championship, and their fourth since the play-offs started in 1933, occupy the lofty berth in pro football that the New York Yankees held for years in baseball.

Pioneer in Pro Game

One of the principal reasons for the success of Halas and his Bears was his unrelenting insistence upon "team spirit."

The chunky grid magnate realized that lack of team spirit was the prime factor in the professional game's lack of public appeal in its earlier and less successful days. In the pioneer era of the commercial sport, top-flight college players had a tendency to lose "the old college try" even in their senior year on the campus and to regard "spirit" as a matter of just when they started playing for dollars and doughnuts.

Halas was one of the pioneers in pro football. He moved in on the game shortly after failing to land a job with the New York Yankees baseball team. From the start, he was credited with one of the gridiron's keener minds. But it was his insistence that the public demanded a club that really wanted to win every game that ultimately won him greatest acclaim and developed his Bear franchise into an asset now worth something like a quarter-million dollars.

Holsted T-Formation

He works at football early and late. He has long daily sessions with his assistants, Hunk Anderson, line coach; Faddy Driscoll, backfield mentor; and Luke Johnson, end pilot. Halas and his players have regular classroom drills or "skull sessions" in which fundamentals of strategy often are stressed just as much as if the squad comprised the rawest rookies instead of the game's most effective performers.

Halas respected the T-formation to its present hoisted niche in the gridiron picture, and his keen judgement as a player and coach brought him such brilliant performers as Sid Luckman, Hugh Gallarneau, Norm Standlee, Charlie O'Rourke and George McAfee to power the "model T."

Football men long ago quit crying, "break up the Bears!" Because they knew that they would remain a menacing unit as long as they had the inspiring guidance of Halas. But when Halas joins the navy, it will be interesting to see what happens to the Bears.

Tax Lien Filed Against Conn

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24 (U. P.)—The federal government has filed a tax lien of $25,707.48 against Billy Conn, Pittsburgh heavyweight title contender, now an army corporal stationed at Ft. Wadsworth, N. Y. The lien was against income received by Conn in 1941.

The action came several weeks after Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson called off a proposed heavyweight title bout between Conn and Sgt. Joe Louis, the titleholder, because of an agreement under which both men would have received a share of the purse.

Tulsa Wins Fifth Straight Game

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 24 (U. P.)—The Tulsa university football team, its goal line still uncrossed, remained unbeaten, untied and undefeated in five straight games today after another easy 41-to-0 victory over St. Louis university last night.

Truskowski Gets Beahawk Post

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 24 (U. P.)—Lieut. Joe Truskowski, former end at Michigan, today took over as head coach of the naval cadets junior varsity football team today.

He was appointed to succeed Lieut. John E. Blickle, who was killed late Thursday night in an automobile accident south of Cedar Rapids.

Truskowski has been helping coach the Beahawks this season. He was an assistant coach at Iowa State college and Wayne university before he joined the navy.

Funeral services for Blickle were held this morning at Cedar Rapids.

Pitt Steelers Bid for Eastern Division's 1st Place Against Washington Redskins Sunday

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Those happy spoilers, the Pittsburgh Steelers, with a handful of 60 minute men, no pass attack and a soothsaying guard, reach the pinnacle of their 10-year career in the National Football league tomorrow with their first bid for the Eastern division lead.

Bringing home a three game winning streak, the second place Steelers pit their rookie running sensations, Billy Dudley and Curt Sandig, against Sammy Baugh, Dick Todd and associated Washington Redskins in the day's major engagement.

Crippled Dodgers

While the Redskins undergo the unique experience of having to battle the Steelers for first place, Brooklyn's crippled Dodgers and the New York Giants will get together in Ebbets field to lend their moral support to the Steelers and attempt to keep their respective championship chances alive at each other's expense. The two interborough rivals are tied for third place with two victories apiece.

Philadelphia, the fifth member of the division, will journey out to the loop to try its luck at stopping the Chicago Bears. Green Bay, having considerable trouble with its defense and corresponding good fortune with its offense, invades Detroit, where the Lions are still looking for a passer and their first league victory.

Cardinals Against Rams

Jimmy Conzelmann's Chicago Cardinals move into Cleveland to close out their season series with the Rams, whom they defeated 7 to 0 earlier. Conzelmann would be a big buyer about the whole thing if he had not just added Chet Bulger, star tackle, to a growing list of cripples lost for the season. Considerable attention "is being paid to guard Milton Simington while the Steelers await the kick-off. Simington forecast the result of the Steelers' last three games. He even predicted the manner in which they would be achieved.

Grid-Irony

By GUS DORAIS
Detroit's Head Coach

BEFORE ATTEMPTING to kick the extra point against Villanova in Philadelphia last fall, the Detroit quarterback was to shout: "Hike! Hike! The first 'Hike' was to draw Villanova offside.

For some reason, however, the quarterback arranged things with teammates so that he would shout "Hike!" four times before the kick was made.

The first "Hike!" drew Villanova offside, but by the time the quarterback got out the fourth "Hike!" the Wildcats were onside, and the kick was missed.

Had the plan gone through as originally mapped out, Detroit would have had a second chance to convert.

As it was, Detroit lost, 7-6.
