FAVOR BUYING OFFICE BUILDING

County Commissioners Skip Possibility of Using NYA Location.

Despite the possibility that the county-owned buildings at Keystone ave. and 25th st. may be available soon, county commissioners have announced they will recommend that the council consider purchase of a downtown office building as a court house annex.

Only a week ago, commissioners were discussing the availability of the Keystone ave. property, now under a five-year lease to the national youth administration.

Repossession of the property became a possibility July 3, when congress denied NYA its usual operating funds, indicating that the youth projects here may have to be closed in 90 days, thus making the Keystone ave. buildings available to the commissioners.

Council to Decide

Commissioners said they would recommend that the council consider purchase of either the eight-story building at 148 E. Market st. or the Union Title building at 155 E. Market st.

Commissioners said plans for the purchase of a building should be continued in the event the Keystone property should not be available or that it may not suit the council needs.

In the final analysis, commissioners are passing on to the county council the full responsibility for solving the county's building shortage problems.

New quarters are needed for Juvenile court, the juvenile detention home and the county welfare department.

$5 AUTO USE TAX STAMP SALES DROP

Levine Quits In Race for Legion Post

Isadore E. Levine, LaPorte, national executive committeeman of the Indiana American Legion for the past eight years, formally notified state headquarters here today that he would not be a candidate for re-election at the legion election here Aug. 15.

Two candidates for Mr. Levine's post already are in the field: V. M. (Army) Armstrong, Indianapolis lawyer, and Clifford Payne, New Castle businessman.

Mr. Armstrong has received the endorsement of his home district, the 11th, and the ninth district.

Defeated Lyons

In his letter to state headquarters Mr. Levine said that press of business made it imperative that he not take on the duties of the legion office for another two years.

Mr. Levine was re-elected two years ago after a heated battle with Robert Lyons, Indianapolis.

Legion officers here said it was probable more candidates would enter the contest for the national committeeman's post which often is a stepping stone to the office of national commander of the legion.

Mr. Armstrong has been mentioned frequently as a candidate for national commander and in 1942 he served as national vice commander. He has held a great number of legion positions, including that of state commander.

COMB OUTSIDE AREAS FOR HELP

Committee Seeking Available Markers to Fill Needs Of Industry Here.

Unemployed persons in other counties in the Indianapolis manpower area are being contacted for jobs here by the Citizens manpower committee.

John A. Reis, chairman of the committee, said today the Chamber of Commerce, public officials and newspapers in cities and towns in these counties are assisting in the campaign to recruit needed workers.

Reports indicate that when canning plants enter their seasonal operations this fall, several thousand workers will be ready for war jobs here.

Effort Not a Raid

Mr. Reis stated the committee does not intend to raid business for necessary labor, but hopes that those not now employed will contribute to the war effort by accepting employment now.

The other counties in the area are Boone, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Johnson, Morgan and Shelby.

The fourth week of the campaign ended Saturday, with approximately 3000 men and women registered for employment.

Mr. Reis asserted that while the committee is not disappointed with results achieved so far in the campaign, the rate of registration must be materially increased if the goal is to be reached.

Persons will to take jobs may enroll at the recruiting office at 20 N. Pennsylvania st. The office is open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. every day.

C. F. MILLCAN DIES IN CRASH

War Plant Official Loses Life in Plane Mishap At Freeman Lake.

A military funeral will be accorded Carl F. Millican, civilian air patrol flight leader and a war plant president, who was killed yesterday when his plane crashed near his summer cottage along Freeman lake.

The services for the 58-year-old aviation enthusiast will be held at the Conklin Funeral home at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday with burial in Crown Hill.

Mr. Millican, president of the Challenge Gauge & Tool Co. here, had just swung around to return to Hoosier airport here when his plane crashed from an altitude of 500 feet in a White county pasture.

Rescue Falls

Mrs. Mary Gosle, a cottage neighbor, was first at the scene and attempted to pull Mr. Millican from the plane, but his hand was tightened to the stick and a gasoline tank explosion which set the craft afire forced her to flee.

Shortly before leaving alone on the circling trip over his cottage and his nearby farm in the vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Millican had visited a new home in Speedway City into which they had intended to move from the present home at 1617 Winton ave.

Mrs. Millican said he had complained recently of the heat and that she believes he became ill in midair.

Owned Three Planes

Mr. Millican, a native of Jefferson county, Ind., had lived here more than 30 years and in 1916 founded the gauge and tool firm.

He was taught to fly in 1929 by Robert F. Shank, Hoosier airport manager, and had owned three planes. The one in which he crashed was a Luscombe Silver.

He had the rank of lieutenant in the CAP and was scheduled for promotion to executive commander. Personally aiding in defense work, he frequently flew as a courier to obtain needed parts for other war industries here.

Mr. Millican formerly participated in the annual state air tours conducted by the Indiana Aircraft Trades association. He was a member of the Masons at Marion.

He is survived by his wife, Irene F., and his mother, Mrs. Emma S. Millican, Indianapolis.
