Takes Post In Oregon Boom City

Miss Katherine Shearer To Direct Methodist Church Work.

By EMMA RIVERS MILNEE

Miss Katherine Shearer of Indianapolis will represent the Methodist church in social service and religious work in the boom community, Van Port City, Ore., a Henry Kaiser shipbuilding center.

Before leaving for Oregon Sunday night, Miss Shearer talked with great thrill and expectation of her new war work. Her motive is patriotic as well as religious and she will receive only subsistence.

When Katherine Shearer was growing up on Forest View farm at 7500 E. 21st st., the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Shearer, she did not realize she was gaining an experience which would be invaluable later. Now she says what she learned on the farm, her 4-H club work, her three years as a student at Purdue and her period of employment at the gas company all contributed to her equipment for her present situation.

Trained for Work

She has been a member of the Methodist district youth council and resigned the presidency of the Indianapolis district youth fellowship to go to Scarritt college, Nashville, Tenn., to be trained for war work.

She will be the Methodist member among eight other Protestant denominations on the United Church ministry board at Van Port City.

In the short period of 18 months, Van Port City has sprung into being, spreading itself out over 647 acres and attracting a population of 45,000 people. These men, women and children have left their homes, churches and schools behind them and need to become oriented and made to feel at ease in the new place.

The church will go "all out" to meet the situation, Miss Shearer promises. If it is necessary to hold a communion service at midnight because certain employees of the plant cannot come at any other hour, the service will be held then.

Meet All Needs

Youth coming off the night shift at 4 a. m. tired and in need of diversion will find the church ready with entertainment.

It is the purpose of Miss Shearer and other workers to promote Sunday school attendance, week day schools of religion, Christian family life education, regular worship and preaching services. The need is great she said, in this hustling center, the largest single federal housing project in the nation where a ship a day is turned out.

Miss Shearer hopes to inaugurate a little newspaper which will aid the people to find the nearest school, church and store and carry other valuable information. She will be available at all times, also, for counseling, to give any needed advice or human sympathy.

'Man' Chosen as Lesson Subject

"Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for tomorrow.

The Golden Text is: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace." Psalm 37:37.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God." Page 258.

MAKE PROGRESS IN BABY CASE

Five - Month - Old William

bottle, but did not remember what it was.

A Union Station red cap told Mrs. Gann that he saw another porter carry three pieces of baggage and the basket with the baby to the officer the night of Aug. 24.

So far, police have been unable to locate the taxicab driver who might have taken the young man and baby away from the station.

Meanwhile, police are sending a recent photograph of young Billy and photostatic copies of his footprints, hospital diet sheet and card of instructions to hospitals and newspapers all over the country.

The diet sheet may prove to be one of the most important clues in locating Billy's parents. At the top of the sheet the hospital's name has been rubbed out, but the timetable for the baby's feeding period is in handwriting, probably that of a nurse at a hospital. The nurse will undoubtedly recognize her handwriting upon seeing the photograph.

The formula and general instruction card bears at the top the type-written message: "Please give Billy a home. He is a good baby and you will never be sorry. Please do not give him up. Please."

Born March 29

Other data on the hospital card shows that the baby was born on March 29. However, the diet sheet is dated "8-20-43," indicating that the baby had been returned to the hospital for care. The instruction card is dated "8-23-43" which probably means that the child was released from the hospital three days after his admission, brought to Indianapolis the following day and abandoned the next.

Police have checked Indianapolis hotels, apartments and rooming houses in an effort to find out where the naval officer and Billy may have stayed before he was left to the mercy of total strangers, but have picked up no trace of him.

The woman will entail about three trips East during the year to meet with his four associates. Their names and occupations indicate from what wide business areas they come and what experience they will apply to the pensions' problems.

The other members are:

William Speers, president of the

James McCutcheon Co. of New York; Frederick Russell, Binghamton, N. Y., president of the Security

Mutual Life Insurance Co.; Louis

C. Weiss, Cleveland, resident parner of Ernst & Ernst, certified ac-

vice president of the Bankers Trust

Co., New York.
