

NEW TRIAL DUE FOR ROBINSON

Abductor of Mrs. Stoll Now In Jeopardy of Lindbergh Law.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 7 (U. P.).—Thomas H. Robinson Jr., 36, who has served six years at Alcatraz prison for abducting Mrs. Berry V. Stoll in 1934, must face a new trial on the kidnapping charge which carries a possible death sentence.

Federal Judge Shackelford Miller denied Robinson's plea yesterday that the indictment be quashed, but advised a review of the action of the grand jury which indicted him in 1934 for kidnapping the Louisville socialite.

Robinson, who studied law while serving a life sentence, recently won a new trial on the ground that he was coerced into confessing the crime. In a plea of abatement, he claimed there was insufficient evidence to indict him.

The judge set Robinson's arraignment for next Wednesday, and approved a defense motion that the defendant be allowed to proceed as a pauper. Robert Hogan was the court-appointed defense attorney.

Under the Lindbergh kidnapping law, the jury could recommend the death penalty upon conviction, if the government established that Mrs. Stoll was injured during the abduction. She signed an affidavit Tuesday, saying Robinson had struck her with an iron pipe and permanently injured her hearing.

Speaking at New York university, the former OPA administrator also predicted the war with Germany would be over by January, 1945, but that beating Japan would require an additional year.

In a broadcast recorded by the United Press in San Francisco, the Tokyo radio said the independence date was announced in Manila by Dr. Jose P. Car-Stealing Thrill Ends In Crash, Jail for Youths

The thrill they experienced in stealing cars ended at the county jail today for two 16-year-old youths after a 90-mile-an-hour chase and a crash.

And the craving for an early morning ride resulted in injury to their two unidentified companions who escaped.

The arrest of the two youths brought embarrassment to the police. One of the youths said the best place to park a stolen car was near the police station. He boasted he had done so, even gotten a parking sticker which he removed and drove off.

When Deputy Sheriff Harry Foxworth and Robert Imhauser were driving on 26th st. near Sherman drive early today, they saw a car speeding north on the drive at a high rate of speed. They gave chase, but could not overtake the car ahead, traveling at 90 or more miles an hour.

OPPOSE DIVISION OF U. S. FLEET

Concentration in Atlantic Will Whip Hitler Quick, Senators Believe.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (U. P.).—The allies can deliver the decisive blow against Germany this year if they concentrate shipping in the Atlantic and otherwise make the best military use of the 3,000,000 tons of ships they acquired unexpectedly in 1943, a senate military affairs subcommittee reported today.

It vigorously opposed dividing shipping strength equally between the Atlantic and Pacific, and challenged congressional critics who demand more attention for the Pacific area.

"To divert ships from the European area now," it said, "would choke off our greatest offensive in midstream. It would prolong the war and cost innumerable lives."

U-Boat Sinkings Decrease

The United States has 16,000,000 tons and her allies 50,000,000 tons, it added, but there are not enough ships to support simultaneous supreme offensives in all theaters. Proper military use of shipping, however, could place the 5,000,000 troops overseas six months ahead of the end of 1944 schedule, the committee said.

Sharply reduced submarine sinkings and record new production gave the allies this year a "windfall" of 3,000,000 more tons of shipping than entered into our military planning for 1943," the committee said. In military terms, it explained, that means 9,000,000 extra tons of cargo in one year—enough to equip 1,500,000 more troops in the European theater.

PROBE PUSHED IN WAC DEATH

Dakota Police Are Tracing Salad Victim Ate Prior To Bludgeon Death.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 7 (U. P.).—The army threw a shroud of military secrecy today over its inquiry into the mystery slaying of WAC Lt. Naomi Kathleen Cheney, 25, Jasper, Ala.

Capt. E. E. Soller, public relations officer at the army air force technical training post where the bludgeoned WAC was stationed, disclosed only that several persons have been detained at the post for questioning.

But he indicated that they are being held as witnesses rather than suspects in the murder of Lt. Cheney, whose brutally beaten body was found by a 10-year-old child late Tuesday after it had lain for 18 hours in a clearing close to a busy thoroughfare.

Investigation revealed, meanwhile, that Lt. Cheney left the post Monday night about 9 o'clock after visiting a friend at the post hospital. At the gate she is reported to have asked a military policeman if he thought it safe for her to walk the mile to her apartment in town.

The military policeman, inquiry disclosed, told her to use her own judgment. Authorities said Lt. Cheney was slain shortly before midnight. They said a medical report that she ate a salad of peas shortly before her death offers the only clue to her movements during the intervening three hours.

PROTESTS SLASH IN MINING OF BAUXITE

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Oct. 7 (U. P.).—Nick Zonarch, president of the C. I. O. Aluminum Workers of America, today denounced an order of the war production board reducing bauxite production in Arkansas, and said he would tell his union members to continue to "get out the bauxite" from which aluminum is made.

Zonarch's protest was contained in a letter to Arthur H. Bunker, of the WPB aluminum and magnesium division, who wrote Zonarch, explaining the reduction order, that "not only have we accumulated our stockpile objective of 2,000,000 tons but fortunately the shipping situation appears to have substantially improved."

Zonarch reviewed the achievement of the Arkansas miners in increasing, at the government's request, production of bauxite from 100,000 tons in August, 1941, to 700,000 tons in August, 1943. Regarding the WPB order to the Republic Mining and Manufacturing Co. to reduce production, Zonarch asked if Bunker's explanation meant that "we have such an abundance of shipping that we can afford to import bauxite instead of mining it here."

PROBES PUSHED IN WAC DEATH

Police Chief Fred Searls said officers were "turning the town upside down" in an effort to ascertain what restaurants may have served the salad.

Both police and the army were at a loss for a motive. An autopsy showed that Lt. Cheney had not been raped. Seven dollars found in her purse indicated that robbery was not the motive.

War Neglects Geologists, Harvard Professor Reports

By Release Service
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 7.—The army and navy need geologists—but few geologists now in the armed services are given opportunity to use their technical skills, Dr. Kirk Bryan, professor of geology at Harvard university reports to the Journal, Science. Creator of a geologic staff in the armed services to advise on problems of construction, tactics and strategy was suggested by Dr. Bryan to remedy this paradox.

Based on his own survey of what 318 Harvard trained geologists now are doing for the war effort, Dr. Bryan states the proportion in the army and navy is fairly high: 10 with Ph. D. degrees; 11 with master's degrees; 17 men who have done graduate work, and five graduates who are recognized geologists—13.5 per cent of the total. Many other geologically trained men, who intend to be geologists and have adequate training, might be used as valuable field assistants. Few geologists are satisfied that the full value of the profession or of its personnel is appreciated," asserts Dr. Bryan.

"Of the group in uniform, 17 are mature men in specialized positions of research and administration which appear to be suitable to their talents. Men under 40, however, are mostly performing ordinary military or naval duties, for which they are presumably qualified, but which seem below their capacities.

"Every geologist believes that the army and navy need geologists as advisers on construction, on tactics and on strategy. If these men were used as geologists, the situation would be more satisfactory.
