A Weekly Sizing by the Washington Staff of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers that the bulk of it has withdrawn to Nip home waters, with a portion still based at Singapore. If this is so, then the Japs won't match their fleet against ours until we get much closer to Tokyo than we are now.

CHALK UP another government agency fading into limbo from inaction; war mobilization committee.

It was created nearly a year ago as half-answer to demands for a real war cabinet. Chairman: OWM Director Byrnes. Members: Stimson, Knox, Nelson, Hopkins, Vinson.

Committee started out meeting about once a week, soon fell into habit of meeting only when some big problem had to be solved. Last meeting was about a month ago. None scheduled for future.

Committee was supposed to resolve conflicts among government agencies, determine uniform policies. Its failure to function largely accounts for failure of administration to develop coherent manpower program. Lacking administration policy line, McNutt, Hershey, Patterson, et al., go their separate ways.

Dewey Two-to-One Favorite

SEASON FOR political handpicking has opened, with the following among wagers reported this week:

Two to one that Dewey will be G. O. P. nominee.

Even money that G. O. P. nominee (whoever he may be) will be chosen on first ballot.

Even money that Willie vote won't exceed 200 on any ballot (convention will have 1000-odd delegates).

Hundred to one MacArthur won't be nominated.

G. O. P. committee on convention arrangements is figuring on sessions not to exceed five days, indicating expectation on early nomination, no deadlock.

Some committeemen still want young war hero for convention keynote, but haven't been able to locate right man.

RAILROAD LOBBYISTS are credited with knocking $65,000,000 Tennessee-Tombigbee inland waterway from rivers-and-harbors bill in house. It was to have been a post-war project.

Reason railroads don't want it: It would open large new areas of cheap water transportation to the South. Efforts will be made to restore it in senate.

HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS committee indicates it will try to get the navy to use existing facilities, or extend those already constructed, instead of spending money on new shore bases at home.

Committee would like to see army and navy work out a co-operative plan for using each other's bases when practicable. No luck so far, but it hasn't given up hope.

Farm Leaders Get G. O. P. Invitation

FARM PLANK committee appointed by G. O. P. National Chairman Spangler has invited leaders of various farm organizations to appear at its preliminary sessions in Chicago Monday and Tuesday.

But there'll be no anti-subsidy pronouncement in the final platform draft. Convention managers have decided not to take a chance on alienating urban voters.

CONGRESS FARM bloc is organizing to get a bigger slice of proposed billion-dollar-a-year highway appropriation for secondary and feeder roads. Familiar cry "get the farmers out of the mud" will ring again, pending plan proposes 29 per cent of appropriation for secondary roads.

COLLEGES ARE ABOUT to lose the 40,000 soldier students they've been training for army air corps ground crews, as well as the army student training program.

Entire ground-crew college program is to end by June 30; students will join overseas units.

TEXANS IN CONGRESS haven't forgotten that the Republican candidate wasn't the only loser in Tuesday's election in the second congressional district of Oklahoma. Other loser was Senator W. L. (Pass-the-Biscuits, Pappy) O'Daniel, who campaigned against the Democratic candidate. It was O'Daniel's first defeat since he quit the flour-selling business to become governor of Texas. Reason Texas congressmen note the event is that O'Daniel has been traipsing around the state demanding a thorough "housecleaning" in Washington—or, at least, retirement of all who have served more than six years.

Price Control Seeks Cities' Support

MAYORS OF numerous large cities may join the fight for extension of price-control legislation. OPA Administrator Bowles is urging them to testify before congress.

NAVY HAS HIT on ingenious plan to get its new fighting vessels into operation faster. It has built replicas of the new ships on shore. While a vessel is still under construction, officers and crew who are to be assigned to it train on the replica, which is fully equipped. It saves several months, formerly spent in familiarizing men with their vessel before taking it into action. Shore training's being done mostly on Pacific coast.

MISSISSIPPIANS who felt certain Senator Bilbo would be defeated in 1944 are not so sure now. They say publicity he received in Washington newspapers for his anti-Negro utterances will be capitalized, may be just what's needed to help him regain strength he had lost in home state.

Marine Press Chief Says

His Job Is to Provide News

QUANTICO Va., April 1 (U. P.)—Brig. Gen. Robert L. Denig, director of the marine corps' division of public relations, said today that the function of his office is to provide news, not to withhold it from newspapers and radio.

Speaking before the marines' staff and command school here, Denig said:

"This war we are fighting is far more than a war between armies. It is a war between nations of people.

"The American people feel they have a right to know what the armed forces are doing in this war, inasmuch as their money and their sons are fighting it, and their labor is producing the mass of the necessary armament."

Denig said that the marine corps combat correspondents were not only keeping the public informed about marine activities, but were helping to build morale in the field. He emphasized that the combat correspondent program was designed to supplement, and in no way to supplant, the work of civilian correspondents.

"To go further," he said, "let me say—and I tell you this not as a boast, but as a matter of record—we have never yet had a single protest, or complaint, voiced against our men by any newsmen, either editorially or verbally."

He said that the navy's public relations policy in the Pacific "has opened up." He pointed out that Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, since moving into the Gilbert Islands, "has directed everyone in his command to co-operate with civilian and naval news correspondents to the fullest practicable extent."

COLUMNIST WINS

IN LIBEL ACTION

WASHINGTON, April 1 (U. P.)—A federal court jury yesterday found for the defendants in a $1,350,000 libel action brought by John Monroe against Drew Pearson, newspaper columnist and radio commentator, and Agnes and Eugene Meyer, publishers of the Washington Post.

Monroe figured in a house military affairs committee investigation of war contracts last year. He charged that Pearson libeled him in matter published by the Post.

The jury deliberated only 35 minutes after hearing testimony for two weeks.

HOOSIER BECOMES JUDGE

WASHINGTON, April 1 (U. P.)—The senate today unanimously confirmed the nomination of Senator Homer T. Bone (D. Wash.) a native Hoosier, to be judge of the ninth U. S. circuit court without referring President Roosevelt's nomination to its judiciary committee.

Called "Best Qualified"

Mr. Ransburg said the board went out of Marion county for a director because the board "did not feel that any of the available eligibles from this county has in all respects the qualifications which the board deems necessary for this important office."

"Mr. Wooden was selected because in the board opinion he is the best qualified of those on the list," he said.

Other members of the board besides Mr. Gilliom are Mrs. Addison J. Parry, Mrs. F. B. Ransom and Roy Salm.

The list of eligibles for the appointment in order of their merit examination grades follows:

Joseph E. Baldwin, Lake county; Russell C. Bowers, Indianapolis; Arthur Potts, of the state welfare department; Robert L. Kelsier, Indianapolis; Walter Wolpert, of New Castle; Evan L. Parker, of the state welfare department; Carl F. King, Boone county; Edward P. Brennan, of the state board of accounts; Miss Guyann, Ross Teckemeyer, deputy state auditor; James E. Gilley, Mr. Wooden and Tom C. Polk, Indianapolis.

"ITALIAN CROPS TO HELP

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1 (U. P.)—American shipments of food to Italian civilians should be reduced eighty per cent when Italian food crops are harvested this summer, Dr. Henry F. Grady, ranking American official of the allied control commission, predicted today.

ORDERS ON DRAFT

Instructions are expected to be received by the Indiana war manpower commission within the next few days to review draft registrants in 4-F classifications for their possible entry into war work, John K. Jennings, state manpower director, said today.

Letters already are mailed to 4-Fs in some eastern states, summoning them in nonessential work for interviews to explain why they are not in war production.

The procedure was described by eastern manpower commissions as "routine" operations to fill war plant jobs left vacant by selective service drafts on essential industries.
