Brilliant Cast Features
'Othello' at English's.

By MILDRED KOSCHMANN
Seldom does any theatrical production in Indianapolis receive the ovation given the Shakespearean classic, "Othello," at English's last night.

Many patrons stood for more than three hours in the packed theater to see and hear Mr. Robeson relive the character of Othello. Masterful in physique, mannerism and speech, he is the first Negro to act in the role since the days of Ira Aldridge 50 years ago.

Humorous Villain
As the sly and witty Iago, Mr. Ferrer is humorous in the part of the villain while his wife in real life, Uta Hagen, is very lovely and gracious as Desdemona, Othello's wife.

Margaret Webster excels in directing the Shakespearean production and Edith King adds greatly to the magnificent cast in her role as Emilia. She acts the part with true feeling and becomes an innocent party to her own death.

Cassio, enacted by Ralph Clanton, is the handsome good-natured victim of Iago's plots and Roderigo, played by Don Keefer, draws amusing response from the audience in his attempts to win Desdemona.

Scenes Full of Color
All of the other players, the senators, soldiers, servants and citizens, fit naturally into the general effect of the play, and the setting was a succession of handsome scenes full of rich color.

There's still time to see the brilliant production before it closes in Indianapolis. It's a real treat and the curtain will go up tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow evening for those not on the first night list.

BUT WHAT VICTORY, YES, ABOUT MY NAMELESS BABY?

What about our lost loved ones, our ravaged homes, our ruined lives? WHO IS GOING TO PAY... AND HOW?

WHAT ABOUT
those girls held captive "for German Officers only?"
WHAT ABOUT
those mothers left of sons and homes and hope?
WHAT ABOUT
those traitors who grew fat on patriots' blood?
WHAT ABOUT
those German hiphugs who, even in defeat, plan to do it all again?

What about the things our American fighting men are facing right now?
