Peplum and Dirndl Styles in 'Date Bait' Frocks

Two pert "date bait" fashions for junior girls are shown here. At the left is one suitable for a dean's tea, for dates and dinners. It's a waist-whittling peplum frock in black or fuchsia keds crepe. Sequined flowers catch the light and call attention to a softly draped neckline. The diminutive peplum juts out perkily, adds the ends in back. The sleeves are the right length for the new longer gloves. Creamy white teca blend flannel makes the dress-up dirndl at right, blossoming with head-centered flowers of bright-colored felt. Prized by juniors are the scooped-out neckline, the brief, wide sleeves and the skirt's fullness in front contrasting with a smooth, slim back. (Both frocks at Ayres')

Woman's Viewpoint—

Peace Requires 'Understanding, Love, Forgiving'

By MRS. WALTER FERGUSON
Scripture-Howard Staff Writer

THESE ARE days when one is both ashamed and proud to belong to the human race. The supreme paradox of war has always been man's capacity to do evil in the mass, and to act with nobility as an individual. Men, women, children in every country on earth, are now keyed to great self sacrifices.

Thousands are giving their lives without question to the cause in which they believe. Their personal behavior is more than noble at times. Yet, together, what are we doing—destroying, slaughtering, bombing and hating. The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse ride again. They are always the inevitable aftermath of war—and we shall be stupid indeed if we do not realize that this greatest of all wars, will result too in famine, death and hell.

PART OF THE hell we shall have to endure is our own hate. The widespread growth of the vengeful attitude is to me the saddest thing that has happened in our country. Soft-spoken, gentle women, speak sometimes with the very tongue of Hitler.

Men who are considered fair-minded and clear-headed, can't discuss the problems of world peace without rancor. Some of our most brilliant intellectual leaders have become hate propagandists. The question remains—if, in fighting Hitler, we become like him, where is our victory? This is a moment of greatest danger to our nation. We are under a divine compulsion to behave like civilized and Christian people. One thing is certain. World peace cannot be built upon the foundations of hate. It will be realized only if enough of us know how to understand, to love, and to forgive.

Beauties' Hints— Good Posture Trims Figure

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

BEST EXERCISE with the showiest results and one that doesn't depend upon the whims of a partner or favorable weather—is the practice of good posture.

I cite a woman who, although she eats what she pleases and abhors exercise, hasn't gained an extra ounce in 10 years. Asked to tell her secret, she said, "I pull a good carriage."

She's right. Pulling up ribs, chin and abdomen and pulling down buttocks is exercise.

FURTHER muscular workouts come from swinging arms and legs from sockets and carrying the load of your own weight.

Sum up the stunts good posture imposes upon muscles during one day, and by comparison brisk interludes of bending and kicking will seem like no exercise at all for burning up fat.

I THINK NO SINGLE FOOD is as badly abused as cabbage, either cooked or served raw in a slaw. The poor limp tasteless lump that apologetically offers itself for approval is a pathetic sight. Cabbage slaw should be crisp and fresh, should stand perk and green and be a beautiful picture as well as a tasteful treat.

It takes tender, fresh, sweet cabbage for the basis of cole slaw and it needs to be shredded just before using.
